TRUMAN ASKS LABOR ACT REPEAL

CIO's Political Committee Will Back President

N. Y. Liberals Will Hook Their Wagon To Truman's Star

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — President Truman won the endorsement for election of his fourth labor-liberal group today—the CIO Political Action Committee.

A fifth—the Liberal Party of New York—arranged to hook its wagon to the Truman star at a night meeting in New York City.

Except for the American Labor Party in New York, which is supporting Henry A. Wallace's Progressive Party candidacy, and some other former New Deal elements backing the former Vice President, the Truman-Barkley ticket now has won the official support of majority strength in liberal groups which used to rally to the Roosevelt banner.

They include the CIO-PAC, whose unanimous support was pledged Mr. Truman during a White House call today; the CIO Executive Board by a vote of 35 to 12, and a private committee of most AFL union heads, as well as the Americans for Democratic Action, organized in 1947.

AFL Leaders Want Truman

George Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks and organizing chairman of the new AFL Pro-Truman Committee, told White House reporters he informed Mr. Truman that leaders of AFL unions having a membership of 7,000,000 are now supporting him.

The anticipated backing by New York's Liberal Party was regarded by Democratic Party leaders as a probable big offset of ALP defections to the Wallace column. The late President Roosevelt carried New York State by only 316,591 in 1944. The ALP and Liberal Party each more than made up his margin. The former cast 496,405 votes and the latter 329,235 for Roosevelt.

On the Republican side, Harold E. Stassen went to Albany to confer with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, regarding Stassen's speech in Detroit next Tuesday. It is intended as a reply to the President's Labor Day address.

The price situation also was due for discussion at Albany. Rep. Hugh D. Scott, Jr., Republican National Committee chairman, in a speech at Philadelphia today, blamed "excessive" food costs on "bad management by the bureaucrats."

Scott told the city Rotary Club that "many of us feel that the American people can do better for themselves than the government planners can do for them."

Warren Plans Tour

The first campaign swing for Gov. Earl Warren, of California, Dewey's running mate, was announced here. Warren will leave September 15 on a 10-day trip through 12 western and "border" states. He will make major speeches at Salt Lake City, Utah; Pueblo, Colo.; Albuquerque, N. M.; Tulsa, Okla.; St. Louis; Louisville; Columbus, Ohio, and Detroit.

The CIO-PAC pledge was carried to the White House by Philip Murray, CIO president; Jack Kroll, CIO-PAC director, and others. They gave Mr. Truman a copy of the CIO resolution adopted yesterday.

Two Senators Will Take Peek Behind Iron Curtain

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Two Democratic senators got clearance today for a look behind the Soviet iron curtain on an inspection trip through Europe.

The two, Sens. Lucas, of Illinois, and Fulbright, of Arkansas, will take off with a group of lawmakers in President Truman's plane at noon (EST) tomorrow for Rome. There they will attend sessions of the Interparliamentary Union, an international organization of lawmakers.

Lucas said he and Fulbright plan an inspection tour following the meeting which will include visits to Poland and Yugoslavia, both in the Russian sphere of influence.

Wife Of Maryland Communist Leader Loses School Job

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1.—The wife of the head of the Communist Party of Maryland and the District of Columbia has lost her job as teacher in the Baltimore public school system.

Dr. W. H. Lemmel, superintendent of schools, disclosed today he had sent a letter to Mrs. Philip Frankfeld informing her that "I am not reassigning you as a special substitute teacher for the next school term because you are a member of the Communist Party."

The school board ruled several months ago that Communists or persons with "subversive beliefs" would not be allowed to teach.

Mrs. Frankfeld said she had written a letter to Dr. Lemmel stating that:

"The American Communist Party is a legal political party in the United States. As an American I have a right to adhere to the Principles of socialism. And as an American Communist who has proven her skill as a teacher I have the right to teach."

The letter indicated she would fight the school board ruling.

Harness Advises FCC To Wipe Out Atheist Ruling

Decision Draws Both Praise And Censure

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The head of a House committee advised the Federal Communications Commission today to cancel its controversial ruling that has broadcasters wondering where to draw the line at airing atheism.

Rep. Harness (R-Ind), chairman of a special group investigating the FCC, said the 1946 opinion is "most unfortunate" and he believes the FCC exceeded its authority.

While FCC officials came to defense of the ruling, Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice president of Georgetown University, assailed the decision's basic principles.

If these were followed, he said, the inscription "In God we trust" on our coins should be deleted or balanced on the reverse side "by the Marxian device, 'Religion is opium to the people.'"

Atheists came forward to assert they have the same rights as a bishop.

The ruling, subject of a two-day committee hearing, was made when the FCC refused a request of Robert Harold Scott to revoke licenses of three California radio stations because they would not grant radio time to argue against existence of God.

A large segment of the broadcasting industry interpreted the FCC opinion to imply that stations should afford time for atheists to answer religious broadcasts. The FCC has denied it meant this.

In dismissing Scott's petition, the FCC said it did so because the problem presented "is far broader in scope than the complaint against the particular stations here involved."

U. N. To Meet At Critical Crossroad, Pope Says

CASTEL GONDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 1. (AP)—Pope Pius XII declared today the United Nations will meet in Paris at a critical crossroad in history and that if ever an assembly of men needed the help of prayer this was it.

The Pope expressed hope to more than 500 American Catholic pilgrims at his summer residence here that the United Nations might prevent the "unimaginable cataclysm" of another war.

He called attention to the United Nations Assembly which will open in Paris September 21 after delivering a grave summation of the world situation.

Wallace Cancels Two Speeches In Alabama

Egg Shower Greets Campaign Chairman At Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 1 (AP)—A shower of eggs greeted J. P. Mooney, Progessive Party campaign chairman of Alabama, today after he announced that Henry Wallace had cancelled his Birmingham speech because of segregation.

Police had stretched a rope on the west side of the Jefferson County courthouse to separate whites and negroes.

Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor estimated that 3,000 persons had gathered to hear the Progressive Party's candidate for President. Approximately 250 were negroes, who stood on the north side of the rope.

Commissioner Connor addressed the crowd before Mooney's appearance.

He asked the crowd to "help me see that he (Wallace) has a respectful and full hearing of whatever he has to say. Birmingham must not injure her good name by being unkind to any visitor within her gates."

He urged the audience to make it "a peaceful, lawful and orderly meeting."

Reception Is Peaceful

Earlier, Wallace cancelled a speech at Gadsden, Ala., because police stretched ropes on the court house lawn to enforce segregation.

He had spoken in three other Alabama towns today and in each case a few negroes stood shoulder to shoulder with white listeners. Everywhere his reception was peaceful.

His remarks on racial relations even drew a few scattered cheers at Decatur and only at Guntersville, where the crowd sang "Dixie," was he loudly booed.

Wallace had insisted on non-segregated audiences as a condition for his appearance. City officials in Gadsden and Birmingham both cited local ordinances requiring segregation at public gatherings.

Wallace's trip through the state was in marked contrast to his North Carolina visit, where crowds heckled almost continuously and showered him with eggs and tomatoes.

Advocates Unity

His first stop was at Decatur, Ala., where the famous Scottsboro rape trials were conducted between 1931 and 1936. An estimated 600 persons gathered on the court house lawn.

"I did not come south to preach disunity," Wallace told them, "but to advocate that we all pull together. There is too much hatred in the world and I say it is possible to develop Christian co-operation."

He outlined his views on international relations, concluding, "the

New Sulfa Drug Cures One Kind Of Polio In Mice

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—A new sulfa-type drug, darvisul, that cures one kind of infantile paralysis in mice, and also prevents it in mice, was announced today by Columbia University.

There never has been before any drug that either cured or even affected infantile paralysis of any kind, human or animal.

Whether the new drug is good for human infantile paralysis, the announcement said, is still unknown despite wide tests this summer.

How nearly the Columbia mouse infantile paralysis is like the human kind is a subject of medical debate. Originally the virus that causes this mouse paralysis came from human beings. Whether it has changed greatly in mice is the debated question.

N. Y. Truck Tieup Brings Rail Ban

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—About 9,500 AFL union truckers quit work today in a potentially critical walkout which quickly led railroads to order halting of most rail freight shipments to the metropolitan area.

Mayor William O'Dwyer conferred with union and employer representatives, then announced he did not expect an immediate settlement of the pay hike dispute.

The city will decide on measures to try to end the stoppage after a meeting of union delegates set for 12 noon (EST) tomorrow, O'Dwyer said.

The Mayor declared emergency supplies would be kept rolling.

The Association of American Railroads, which announced the embargo on rail freight, said it would apply to all carload or less-than-carload shipments destined for New York City or New Jersey points from which it would be carried by boat to the metropolis.

Nearly all freight coming into New York is moved on trucks either from piers or rail terminals.

The embargo will be effective tomorrow unless the strike is settled.

City officials feared the stoppage might grow to the proportions of the 1946 trucking strike which seriously curtailed movement of food into the city and caused severe loss to many businesses.

Acting Police Commissioner Thomas F. Mulligan said he had suspended all days off for most members of the department for the duration of the work stoppage.

The New York Commerce and Industry Association wired President Truman asking his intervention.

The men who walked out were members of Local 807, the largest unit of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in the city. The local has about 13,000 members but many of them are at work under contracts not involved in the dispute.

In balloting, Local 807 rejected by more than two-to-one an agreement reached by its officers with the truck operators last week.

Speaks At Charleston

Zhdanov's Death Opens Way To End Communist Rift

Policy Toward Tito Displeased Stalin

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The death of Andrei A. Zhadanov, dapper member of the Soviet Union's inner brain trust, appeared today to have opened a way to end the row between the Soviet-dominated Cominform and Yugoslavia.

Simultaneously, it removed a major obstacle in the path to power of V. M. Molotov, the brush-mustached Foreign Minister whose name has rivaled that of Zhadanov in speculation over a successor to Joseph Stalin.

As Secretary of the Communist Party's Central Committee, a post once held by Stalin himself, Zhadanov was the founding father of the Cominform, the multi-nation propaganda agency for guiding and promoting Communist policy outside the Soviet Union.

It was Zhadanov who was credited generally with promoting the get-tough policy toward Marshal Tito and his Yugoslav lieutenants—a policy which led to the gravest rupture in Eastern Europe's Communist solidarity since the war.

Perhaps significantly, intimates of Ana Pauker, Romanian Foreign Minister and a high-ranking member of the Communist Party's inner council, quoted her as saying Zhadanov incurred Stalin's displeasure as a result of the Yugoslav affair.

She was quoted as saying Stalin told her things would have been handled differently had Russia known the extent of Tito's support among his own people.

Death To Interrupt Talks

MOSCOW, Sept. 1 (AP)—The death of Andrei A. Zhadanov is almost certain to interrupt at least for a few days the four-power Moscow talks on Berlin and Germany.

Both Prime Minister Stalin and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov will be extremely busy during the next few days taking a personal part in the funeral for the deceased member of the 14-man Politburo.

Stalin himself probably will be one of the pallbearers when the casket is carried to Red Square for the funeral services Thursday evening.

It is improbable, therefore, that either of these leaders will have time for any Kremlin conferences for at least the next two days and possibly not until next week.

Two Speed Records Set At Cleveland Air Races

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1 (AP)—Two new Thompson Trophy records were set today as speed flyers ripped courses apart to write sensational high marks in qualifying trials for the 1948 National Air Races.

Charles E. Brown, 25-year-old Indianapolis test pilot, was the latest qualifier to set a new mark in the Thompson event with a blazing 418.3 miles per hour speed for two laps around a 15-mile course.

Brown shattered the five-hour-old qualifying record of 417.4 miles an hour notched earlier today by Cook Cleland, holder of the 1947 Thompson Trophy.

Brown's speed was the fastest average ever made on a race course with a propeller plane, and his first-lap rate of 420 miles per hour was the greatest one-lap speed ever attained in that class.

A tester for the Allison division of General Motors Corporation at Indianapolis, Brown flew 61 missions for the Royal Air Force during the war before transferring to the United States Air Force for 90 missions. The one-time test pilot for the Wright-Patterson Air Base at Dayton, O., is a "newcomer" to National Air Race competition.

He flew a "souped up" P39Q Cobra II, the same plane which carried Tex Johnston, Buffalo, N. Y., to victory in the 1946 Thompson event. The craft has been equipped with a new, super-charged Allison engine.

Art Chester, Los Angeles, took his new midget plane around the two-mile Goodyear Trophy course at 180 miles an hour to step out in front of entrants in the "flea" class. It was the fastest time ever reported for the 65 horsepower midgets.

Chester entered a plane, but did not fly last year. He is flying his own plane this year, using an improved model.

Marshall Committee Says United Nations Not Harboring Reds

Accusations Lack "Factual Support," Probers Declare

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — A three-man committee named by Secretary of State Marshall threw cold water today on charges that Soviet-bloc aliens are using the United Nations to cloak subversive activities in this country.

The committee said the accusations were "irresponsible" and lacked "factual support."

The charges were aired last July by three minor State Department officials in testimony before staff members of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee headed by Sen. Revercomb (R-W.Va.).

Commenting on the Marshall committee's findings, Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the full Senate Judiciary Committee, told newsmen at Chippewa Falls, Wis.:

"Sen Revercomb's subcommittee was seeking to get at the truth of whether or not subversive aliens were permitted to enter this country by any means. That is the issue.

"If any government official, high or low, knows that foreign termites are entering this country, it is his duty to report that fact to the appropriate officials."

Probe Will Be Pressed

Later, Revercomb told a reporter at Charleston, W. Va., that his subcommittee will press the investigation to the limit.

Revercomb said the Senate group asked Marshall "some time ago" to give the subcommittee access to the files of aliens attached to the United Nations "so we can make our own investigation."

"That request was refused," he said, "and yet the Secretary of State permits a privately-selected committee to study those records and to make a report.

"Certainly if a privately-appointed committee can go into this question, a committee of the Congress of the United States should not be interfered with in making its own investigation."

Marshall's committee acknowledged some "potential danger" from subversive aliens using United Nations credentials in the United States, but their report said the presence of these "relatively few" individuals is "vital to the work of the United Nations and other international organizations."

The committee suggested, however, that the co-ordination of existing safeguards might be tightened. It said recommendations along that line will be made in a separate report.

Month-Long Investigation

Climaxing a month-long investigation, the committee told Marshall:

1. "There is a recognized degree of potential danger to our national security in the admission of aliens to this country who are antagonistic

German Military Governors Confer

BERLIN, Sept. 1 (AP) — The four military governors of Germany held their second top secret conference today aimed at settling the crisis over Soviet-blockaded Berlin.

Restoration of rail traffic between Berlin and Western Germany appeared to be under consideration. In this connection the French-licensed newspaper Der Kurier reported that the "technical difficulties," cited by the Russians as their initial reason for blocking the only rail line from Western Germany to Berlin 70 days ago, had been overcome.

Today's meeting of the four military governors lasted three hours. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the American military governor, said they will meet again tomorrow. Asked if any progress had been made, he replied "it is too early to tell."

Meanwhile, he said, working committees will continue their discussions on transport, finance and trade. Their findings were relayed to the military governors.

The transport committee would deal with technicalities accompanying lifting of the ground blockade that made the Western Powers resort to the gigantic air lift operations to supply their sectors of Berlin.

The importance of that meeting was emphasized by the presence of generals from all four powers. The working committees followed the pattern of secrecy set by their chieftains. Officials said they were "unauthorized to comment."

Communist Chiefs Denied Permission To Tour U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—A federal judge today denied permission to three indicted Communist Party leaders to travel throughout the country.

The three men—among the 12 Communist leaders recently indicted by the government—had asked permission to travel pending trial "to carry on the normal legitimate activities of the Communist Party."

A petition on behalf of the men, William Z. Foster, Communist national chairman; Eugene Dennis, national secretary, and Henry Winston, national organizational secretary, was turned down by Federal Judge John J. Clancy.

MITCH LEAVES JAIL—Actor Robert Mitchum, of the movies, arrested with three others early yesterday in a narcotic raid at Hollywood, leaves the county jail after he was freed on a writ of habeas corpus. He posted $1,000 bail.

Mitchum, Seized In Narcotics Raid, Free Under Bond

Officers Break In On Marijuana Party

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1 (AP) — Handsome Robert Mitchum, screen player, and two attractive actresses, left jail under $1,000 bond each today after their arrest earlier in a narcotics raid on a Laurel Canyon home.

Mitchum, along with Actress Lila Leeds, 20, Dancer Vickie Evans, 25, and Robin Ford, a real estate man, were booked on suspicion of violating state and federal narcotics laws after police said they broke in on a marijuana smoking party in the girls' home. Ford, 31, remained in jail temporarily.

The 31-year-old actor and the two girls were freed after they had posted bond on their petitions for writs of habeas corpus. The writs will be heard in Superior Court September 8.

Giesler To Represent Actor

Two movie studios with a backlog of two of the three unreleased Mitchum pictures, announced tonight they had engaged Jerry Giesler to represent the screen star.

Giesler, one of the West's outstanding criminal lawyers, also has figured in several cases involving movie stars, Charlie Chaplin and Errol Flynn among others.

Det. Sgt. A. M. Barr, of the Los Angeles Narcotics Detail, said that both men were smoking marijuana cigarets when the officers broke into the home after a long vigil during which they made friends with Miss Leed's three boxer dogs.

They said they took from Mitchum a package with 13 of the "reefers" and that the blonde Miss Leeds gave up several more.

Dogs "Bribed" With Food

The officers said Miss Evans was not observed smoking, but was arrested on suspicion of visiting a place where narcotics were used.

Barr said the raiding party viewed proceedings for two and a half hours through a rear bedroom window after "bribing" the dogs with food.

Inflation Curbs Urged In Labor Day Message

President Speaks Out For Higher Minimum Pay, Lauds Workers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — President Truman called for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act in a Labor Day mesage tonight.

He said inflation must be curbed "before it leads us to economic disaster."

He spoke out for higher minimum wages, adequate Social Security for more workers, national health insurance and a strengthened Labor Department.

Lauding workers for a major part "in today's all-time high records in employment, production, income and profits," the President declared that inflation is cutting actual earnings of some despite pay hikes.

"We must act to end this economic dislocation," he said.

Mr. Truman, scheduled to make a major labor political speech in Detroit on Labor Day next Monday, no doubt will touch there on some of the points he mentioned in today's statement as economic needs for the working man.

Doesn't Mention Congress

He did not mention his old target, Congress, whose job it would be to provide the measures he spoke up for today.

He said a heavy vote in November would mean that the outcome "will be the decision of all America" and urged that every eligible voter turn out.

Mr. Truman did not mention the Taft-Hartley law by name. He said:

"There is at present on the statute books a law which unfairly restricts labor unions and their members. It should be repealed.

"Better legislation on labor-management relations is an absolute necesity in the program to increase our economic strength and to improve our national standard of living."

Turning to the Labor Department, he said that all workers lack the services which could be provided "by an integrated Department of Labor provided with adequate staff and adequate funds." It has been the contention of Mr. Truman and labor groups that the Republicans have weakened the department by carving away various functions.

Mr. Truman praised labor for working as a team with agriculture and business, and for its increasing interest in government.

He said our goal now is to continue to increase our production and our standard of living.

Can Improve Way Of Life

"Our American way of life is the best way of life in the world," he said, "but we can and must improve it.

"Some workers lack the protection of a decent minimum wage. We must relieve such injustice and increase the minimum wage level from 40 cents an hour to at least 75 cents an hour," he said.

"Too many workers lack the protection of adequate Social Security and a national health insurance program. We must provide this security for them. x x x

He praised American labor for never wavering in "its support of our bi-partisan effort to win peace by aiding other nations in their effort toward industrial recovery" and added:

Selective Service Sends Out Call For 10,000 Men

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — Selective Service headquarters sent out its first official draft call today for 10,000 men to serve in the Army.

The quotas for states and territories were not reported.

The first draftees are expected to be in uniform in November.

Registration of men 18 through 25 began Monday with the oldest group, the 25 year olds, signing up first. It will be completed September 18 when the 18-year-olds winds up the registration. Men in the 18-year-old group are not subject to service until their next birthday, but must register.

Tomorrow and Friday, all men born in 1924 must register.

Long Increases His Lead Over Kennon In La. Race

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1 (AP) — Russell Long, son of the late Huey P. Long, was increasing his lead tonight over Robert Kennon for the United States Senate as returns neared completion.

Long had a lead of 8,202 votes with all but 57 of the state's 1,883 precincts reported. The unofficial count of yesterday's Democratic primary election showed Long 257,637; Kennon 249,435.

Country votes, tabulated late, pushed Long ahead today. Most of the precincts still to be reported were rural.

The race was for the unexpired term of the late Sen. John Overton.

Long said today he hoped to achieve a majority of 9,000.

"I want to thank all my friends and supporters," he said, "especially those good old boys who laid down their cotton sacks, plows and hoes and went to the polls to elect Russell Long United States Senator. I never would have made it without a heavy country vote. But I am most thankful also for my faithful city workers who kept me from being so badly snowed under in the cities that the country vote wouldn't have elected me."

Kennon said he was watching the returns closely and would make no comment on the race until they were all in.

The lead switched four times during a night and day of tabulating returns.

In the other senatorial race, Sen. Allen J. Ellender was conceded victory by his closest opponent. Rep. James Domengeaux extended "congratulations over your re-election." Returns from 1,639 precincts gave Ellender 243,155, Domengeaux 105,570, Charles Gerth 52,001.

Democratic nomination is equivalent to election in Louisiana.

Wife Of Maryland Communist Leader Loses School Job

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1.—The wife of the head of the Communist Party of Maryland and the District of Columbia has lost her job as teacher in the Baltimore public school system.

Rep. Harness (R-Ind), chairman of a special group investigating the FCC, said the 1946 opinion is "most unfortunate" and he believes the FCC exceeded its authority.

While FCC officials came to defense of the ruling, Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice president of Georgetown University, assailed the decision's basic principles.

If these were followed, he said, the inscription "In God we trust" on our coins should be deleted or balanced on the reverse side "by the Marxian device, 'Religion is opium to the people.'"

Atheists came forward to assert they have the same rights as a bishop.

The ruling, subject of a two-day committee hearing, was made when the FCC refused a request of Robert Harold Scott to revoke licenses of three California radio stations because they would not grant radio time to argue against existence of God.

A large segment of the broadcasting industry interpreted the FCC opinion to imply that stations should afford time for atheists to answer religious broadcasts. The FCC has denied it meant this.

In dismissing Scott's petition, the FCC said it did so because the problem presented "is far broader in scope than the complaint against the particular stations here involved."

U. N. To Meet At Critical Crossroad, Pope Says

CASTEL GONDOLFO, Italy, Sept. 1. (AP)—Pope Pius XII declared today the United Nations will meet in Paris at a critical crossroad in history and that if ever an assembly of men needed the help of prayer this was it.

The Pope expressed hope to more than 500 American Catholic pilgrims at his summer residence here that the United Nations might prevent the "unimaginable cataclysm" of another war.

He called attention to the United Nations Assembly which will open in Paris September 21 after delivering a grave summation of the world situation.

Wallace Cancels Two Speeches In Alabama

Egg Shower Greets Campaign Chairman At Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 1 (AP)—A shower of eggs greeted J. P. Mooney, Progessive Party campaign chairman of Alabama, today after he announced that Henry Wallace had cancelled his Birmingham speech because of segregation.

Police had stretched a rope on the west side of the Jefferson County courthouse to separate whites and negroes.

Police Commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor estimated that 3,000 persons had gathered to hear the Progressive Party's candidate for President. Approximately 250 were negroes, who stood on the north side of the rope.

Commissioner Connor addressed the crowd before Mooney's appearance.

He asked the crowd to "help me see that he (Wallace) has a respectful and full hearing of whatever he has to say. Birmingham must not injure her good name by being unkind to any visitor within her gates."

He urged the audience to make it "a peaceful, lawful and orderly meeting."

Reception Is Peaceful

Earlier, Wallace cancelled a speech at Gadsden, Ala., because police stretched ropes on the court house lawn to enforce segregation.

He had spoken in three other Alabama towns today and in each case a few negroes stood shoulder to shoulder with white listeners. Everywhere his reception was peaceful.

His remarks on racial relations even drew a few scattered cheers at Decatur and only at Guntersville, where the crowd sang "Dixie," was he loudly booed.

Wallace had insisted on non-segregated audiences as a condition for his appearance. City officials in Gadsden and Birmingham both cited local ordinances requiring segregation at public gatherings.

Wallace's trip through the state was in marked contrast to his North Carolina visit, where crowds heckled almost continuously and showered him with eggs and tomatoes.

Advocates Unity

His first stop was at Decatur, Ala., where the famous Scottsboro rape trials were conducted between 1931 and 1936. An estimated 600 persons gathered on the court house lawn.

"I did not come south to preach disunity," Wallace told them, "but to advocate that we all pull together. There is too much hatred in the world and I say it is possible to develop Christian co-operation."

He outlined his views on international relations, concluding, "the

New Sulfa Drug Cures One Kind Of Polio In Mice

NEW YORK, Sept. 1. (AP)—A new sulfa-type drug, darvisul, that cures one kind of infantile paralysis in mice, and also prevents it in mice, was announced today by Columbia University.

There never has been before any drug that either cured or even affected infantile paralysis of any kind, human or animal.

Whether the new drug is good for human infantile paralysis, the announcement said, is still unknown despite wide tests this summer.

How nearly the Columbia mouse infantile paralysis is like the human kind is a subject of medical debate. Originally the virus that causes this mouse paralysis came from human beings. Whether it has changed greatly in mice is the debated question.

N. Y. Truck Tieup Brings Rail Ban

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—About 9,500 AFL union truckers quit work today in a potentially critical walkout which quickly led railroads to order halting of most rail freight shipments to the metropolitan area.

Mayor William O'Dwyer conferred with union and employer representatives, then announced he did not expect an immediate settlement of the pay hike dispute.

The city will decide on measures to try to end the stoppage after a meeting of union delegates set for 12 noon (EST) tomorrow, O'Dwyer said.

The Mayor declared emergency supplies would be kept rolling.

The Association of American Railroads, which announced the embargo on rail freight, said it would apply to all carload or less-than-carload shipments destined for New York City or New Jersey points from which it would be carried by boat to the metropolis.

Nearly all freight coming into New York is moved on trucks either from piers or rail terminals.

The embargo will be effective tomorrow unless the strike is settled.

City officials feared the stoppage might grow to the proportions of the 1946 trucking strike which seriously curtailed movement of food into the city and caused severe loss to many businesses.

Acting Police Commissioner Thomas F. Mulligan said he had suspended all days off for most members of the department for the duration of the work stoppage.

The New York Commerce and Industry Association wired President Truman asking his intervention.

The men who walked out were members of Local 807, the largest unit of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters in the city. The local has about 13,000 members but many of them are at work under contracts not involved in the dispute.

In balloting, Local 807 rejected by more than two-to-one an agreement reached by its officers with the truck operators last week.

Zhdanov's Death Opens Way To End Communist Rift

Policy Toward Tito Displeased Stalin

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The death of Andrei A. Zhadanov, dapper member of the Soviet Union's inner brain trust, appeared today to have opened a way to end the row between the Soviet-dominated Cominform and Yugoslavia.

Simultaneously, it removed a major obstacle in the path to power of V. M. Molotov, the brush-mustached Foreign Minister whose name has rivaled that of Zhadanov in speculation over a successor to Joseph Stalin.

As Secretary of the Communist Party's Central Committee, a post once held by Stalin himself, Zhadanov was the founding father of the Cominform, the multi-nation propaganda agency for guiding and promoting Communist policy outside the Soviet Union.

It was Zhadanov who was credited generally with promoting the get-tough policy toward Marshal Tito and his Yugoslav lieutenants—a policy which led to the gravest rupture in Eastern Europe's Communist solidarity since the war.

Perhaps significantly, intimates of Ana Pauker, Romanian Foreign Minister and a high-ranking member of the Communist Party's inner council, quoted her as saying Zhadanov incurred Stalin's displeasure as a result of the Yugoslav affair.

She was quoted as saying Stalin told her things would have been handled differently had Russia known the extent of Tito's support among his own people.

Death To Interrupt Talks

MOSCOW, Sept. 1 (AP)—The death of Andrei A. Zhadanov is almost certain to interrupt at least for a few days the four-power Moscow talks on Berlin and Germany.

Both Prime Minister Stalin and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov will be extremely busy during the next few days taking a personal part in the funeral for the deceased member of the 14-man Politburo.

Stalin himself probably will be one of the pallbearers when the casket is carried to Red Square for the funeral services Thursday evening.

It is improbable, therefore, that either of these leaders will have time for any Kremlin conferences for at least the next two days and possibly not until next week.

Marshall Committee Says United Nations Not Harboring Reds

Accusations Lack "Factual Support," Probers Declare

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — A three-man committee named by Secretary of State Marshall threw cold water today on charges that Soviet-bloc aliens are using the United Nations to cloak subversive activities in this country.

The committee said the accusations were "irresponsible" and lacked "factual support."

The charges were aired last July by three minor State Department officials in testimony before staff members of a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee headed by Sen. Revercomb (R-W.Va.).

Commenting on the Marshall committee's findings, Chairman Wiley (R-Wis.) of the full Senate Judiciary Committee, told newsmen at Chippewa Falls, Wis.:

"Sen Revercomb's subcommittee was seeking to get at the truth of whether or not subversive aliens were permitted to enter this country by any means. That is the issue.

"If any government official, high or low, knows that foreign termites are entering this country, it is his duty to report that fact to the appropriate officials."

Probe Will Be Pressed

Later, Revercomb told a reporter at Charleston, W. Va., that his subcommittee will press the investigation to the limit.

Revercomb said the Senate group asked Marshall "some time ago" to give the subcommittee access to the files of aliens attached to the United Nations "so we can make our own investigation."

"That request was refused," he said, "and yet the Secretary of State permits a privately-selected committee to study those records and to make a report.

"Certainly if a privately-appointed committee can go into this question, a committee of the Congress of the United States should not be interfered with in making its own investigation."

Marshall's committee acknowledged some "potential danger" from subversive aliens using United Nations credentials in the United States, but their report said the presence of these "relatively few" individuals is "vital to the work of the United Nations and other international organizations."

The committee suggested, however, that the co-ordination of existing safeguards might be tightened. It said recommendations along that line will be made in a separate report.

Month-Long Investigation

Climaxing a month-long investigation, the committee told Marshall:

1. "There is a recognized degree of potential danger to our national security in the admission of aliens to this country who are antagonistic

German Military Governors Confer

BERLIN, Sept. 1 (AP) — The four military governors of Germany held their second top secret conference today aimed at settling the crisis over Soviet-blockaded Berlin.

Restoration of rail traffic between Berlin and Western Germany appeared to be under consideration. In this connection the French-licensed newspaper Der Kurier reported that the "technical difficulties," cited by the Russians as their initial reason for blocking the only rail line from Western Germany to Berlin 70 days ago, had been overcome.

Today's meeting of the four military governors lasted three hours. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the American military governor, said they will meet again tomorrow. Asked if any progress had been made, he replied "it is too early to tell."

Meanwhile, he said, working committees will continue their discussions on transport, finance and trade. Their findings were relayed to the military governors.

The transport committee would deal with technicalities accompanying lifting of the ground blockade that made the Western Powers resort to the gigantic air lift operations to supply their sectors of Berlin.

The importance of that meeting was emphasized by the presence of generals from all four powers. The working committees followed the pattern of secrecy set by their chieftains. Officials said they were "unauthorized to comment."

Communist Chiefs Denied Permission To Tour U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—A federal judge today denied permission to three indicted Communist Party leaders to travel throughout the country.

The three men—among the 12 Communist leaders recently indicted by the government—had asked permission to travel pending trial "to carry on the normal legitimate activities of the Communist Party."

A petition on behalf of the men, William Z. Foster, Communist national chairman; Eugene Dennis, national secretary, and Henry Winston, national organizational secretary, was turned down by Federal Judge John J. Clancy.

MITCH LEAVES JAIL—Actor Robert Mitchum, of the movies, arrested with three others early yesterday in a narcotic raid at Hollywood, leaves the county jail after he was freed on a writ of habeas corpus. He posted $1,000 bail.

Mitchum, Seized In Narcotics Raid, Free Under Bond

Officers Break In On Marijuana Party

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1 (AP) — Handsome Robert Mitchum, screen player, and two attractive actresses, left jail under $1,000 bond each today after their arrest earlier in a narcotics raid on a Laurel Canyon home.

Mitchum, along with Actress Lila Leeds, 20, Dancer Vickie Evans, 25, and Robin Ford, a real estate man, were booked on suspicion of violating state and federal narcotics laws after police said they broke in on a marijuana smoking party in the girls' home. Ford, 31, remained in jail temporarily.

The 31-year-old actor and the two girls were freed after they had posted bond on their petitions for writs of habeas corpus. The writs will be heard in Superior Court September 8.

Giesler To Represent Actor

Two movie studios with a backlog of two of the three unreleased Mitchum pictures, announced tonight they had engaged Jerry Giesler to represent the screen star.

Giesler, one of the West's outstanding criminal lawyers, also has figured in several cases involving movie stars, Charlie Chaplin and Errol Flynn among others.

Det. Sgt. A. M. Barr, of the Los Angeles Narcotics Detail, said that both men were smoking marijuana cigarets when the officers broke into the home after a long vigil during which they made friends with Miss Leed's three boxer dogs.

They said they took from Mitchum a package with 13 of the "reefers" and that the blonde Miss Leeds gave up several more.

Dogs "Bribed" With Food

The officers said Miss Evans was not observed smoking, but was arrested on suspicion of visiting a place where narcotics were used.

Barr said the raiding party viewed proceedings for two and a half hours through a rear bedroom window after "bribing" the dogs with food.

Inflation Curbs Urged In Labor Day Message

President Speaks Out For Higher Minimum Pay, Lauds Workers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — President Truman called for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act in a Labor Day mesage tonight.

He said inflation must be curbed "before it leads us to economic disaster."

He spoke out for higher minimum wages, adequate Social Security for more workers, national health insurance and a strengthened Labor Department.

Lauding workers for a major part "in today's all-time high records in employment, production, income and profits," the President declared that inflation is cutting actual earnings of some despite pay hikes.

"We must act to end this economic dislocation," he said.

Mr. Truman, scheduled to make a major labor political speech in Detroit on Labor Day next Monday, no doubt will touch there on some of the points he mentioned in today's statement as economic needs for the working man.

Doesn't Mention Congress

He did not mention his old target, Congress, whose job it would be to provide the measures he spoke up for today.

He said a heavy vote in November would mean that the outcome "will be the decision of all America" and urged that every eligible voter turn out.

Mr. Truman did not mention the Taft-Hartley law by name. He said:

"There is at present on the statute books a law which unfairly restricts labor unions and their members. It should be repealed.

"Better legislation on labor-management relations is an absolute necesity in the program to increase our economic strength and to improve our national standard of living."

Turning to the Labor Department, he said that all workers lack the services which could be provided "by an integrated Department of Labor provided with adequate staff and adequate funds." It has been the contention of Mr. Truman and labor groups that the Republicans have weakened the department by carving away various functions.

Mr. Truman praised labor for working as a team with agriculture and business, and for its increasing interest in government.

He said our goal now is to continue to increase our production and our standard of living.

Can Improve Way Of Life

"Our American way of life is the best way of life in the world," he said, "but we can and must improve it.

"Some workers lack the protection of a decent minimum wage. We must relieve such injustice and increase the minimum wage level from 40 cents an hour to at least 75 cents an hour," he said.

"Too many workers lack the protection of adequate Social Security and a national health insurance program. We must provide this security for them. x x x

He praised American labor for never wavering in "its support of our bi-partisan effort to win peace by aiding other nations in their effort toward industrial recovery" and added:

Selective Service Sends Out Call For 10,000 Men

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — Selective Service headquarters sent out its first official draft call today for 10,000 men to serve in the Army.

The quotas for states and territories were not reported.

The first draftees are expected to be in uniform in November.

Registration of men 18 through 25 began Monday with the oldest group, the 25 year olds, signing up first. It will be completed September 18 when the 18-year-olds winds up the registration. Men in the 18-year-old group are not subject to service until their next birthday, but must register.

Tomorrow and Friday, all men born in 1924 must register.

Two Speed Records Set At Cleveland Air Races

CLEVELAND, Sept. 1 (AP)—Two new Thompson Trophy records were set today as speed flyers ripped courses apart to write sensational high marks in qualifying trials for the 1948 National Air Races.

Charles E. Brown, 25-year-old Indianapolis test pilot, was the latest qualifier to set a new mark in the Thompson event with a blazing 418.3 miles per hour speed for two laps around a 15-mile course.

Brown shattered the five-hour-old qualifying record of 417.4 miles an hour notched earlier today by Cook Cleland, holder of the 1947 Thompson Trophy.

Brown's speed was the fastest average ever made on a race course with a propeller plane, and his first-lap rate of 420 miles per hour was the greatest one-lap speed ever attained in that class.

A tester for the Allison division of General Motors Corporation at Indianapolis, Brown flew 61 missions for the Royal Air Force during the war before transferring to the United States Air Force for 90 missions. The one-time test pilot for the Wright-Patterson Air Base at Dayton, O., is a "newcomer" to National Air Race competition.

He flew a "souped up" P39Q Cobra II, the same plane which carried Tex Johnston, Buffalo, N. Y., to victory in the 1946 Thompson event. The craft has been equipped with a new, super-charged Allison engine.

Art Chester, Los Angeles, took his new midget plane around the two-mile Goodyear Trophy course at 180 miles an hour to step out in front of entrants in the "flea" class. It was the fastest time ever reported for the 65 horsepower midgets.

Chester entered a plane, but did not fly last year. He is flying his own plane this year, using an improved model.

Long Increases His Lead Over Kennon In La. Race

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1 (AP) — Russell Long, son of the late Huey P. Long, was increasing his lead tonight over Robert Kennon for the United States Senate as returns neared completion.

Long had a lead of 8,202 votes with all but 57 of the state's 1,883 precincts reported. The unofficial count of yesterday's Democratic primary election showed Long 257,637; Kennon 249,435.

Country votes, tabulated late, pushed Long ahead today. Most of the precincts still to be reported were rural.

The race was for the unexpired term of the late Sen. John Overton.

Long said today he hoped to achieve a majority of 9,000.

"I want to thank all my friends and supporters," he said, "especially those good old boys who laid down their cotton sacks, plows and hoes and went to the polls to elect Russell Long United States Senator. I never would have made it without a heavy country vote. But I am most thankful also for my faithful city workers who kept me from being so badly snowed under in the cities that the country vote wouldn't have elected me."

Kennon said he was watching the returns closely and would make no comment on the race until they were all in.

The lead switched four times during a night and day of tabulating returns.

In the other senatorial race, Sen. Allen J. Ellender was conceded victory by his closest opponent. Rep. James Domengeaux extended "congratulations over your re-election." Returns from 1,639 precincts gave Ellender 243,155, Domengeaux 105,570, Charles Gerth 52,001.

Democratic nomination is equivalent to election in Louisiana.

Maryland Prison System Is Mess Commission Says

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1—(AP)—A special commission named to study Maryland's system of prisons, probation and paroles reported today it is a mess.

The main trouble, the commission said, is that the correctional institutions do little correcting. About 76 per cent of the offenders being sent to them have been there before.

This is one reason, the panel said, that the Maryland House of Correction is so overcrowded that there are two prisoners in many of the one-man cells.

The second man sleeps on a little pallet. When he gets up in the morning he shoves it under the other man's cot.

"It is inexcusable," said the commission, "to require inmates to sleep on the floor, either beside or underneath the bed of another, especially in such close quarters as are to be found in prison cells."

The group said the Department of Correction has enough labor and equipment to provide double-deck beds, springs and mattresses.

The commission was more concerned, however, about the high number of "repeaters" now in the state's half-dozen penal institutions.

"More effective correctional treatment" is needed, it said. At present, it is "administrative confusion."

So 22 suggestions, including a proposal for complete reorganization of the Department of Correction, were made. The new setup would have a full-time commissioner appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Judicial Counsel. He would serve a 15-year term and get the pay of a judge. He would have an advisory board made up of the parole commissioner—another new, full-time officer—a judge, a physician and a psychiatrist.

Dewey Promises Red "Cleanup" In Capital

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 1. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said tonight the job of cleaning Communists out of Washington would get under way "as fast as a Republican President can be elected."

The GOP presidential nominee made the statement at a joint news conference with Harold E. Stassen, one of those he defeated for the nomination.

Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, came to Albany tonight for a conference about the campaign speech he will make in Detroit next Tuesday on behalf of the Dewey-Warren ticket.

The speech will be a reply to President Truman, who will open his campaign with a major speech in Detroit on Labor Day, the day before Stassen's appearance.

Amos 'N Andy May Sell Their Program To CBS

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Amos 'n' Andy of radio, Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, were reported today to be negotiating with the Columbia Broadcasting System to sell their program—which they now own—to the network for a sum running into seven figures.

The talk in trade circles was that it would be a capital gains deal under which the pair would sell their "business" to CBS, instead of dealing directly with the sponsor on an annual basis. The network then would lease them—or their program—back to their present sponsors, Lever Brothers.

The trade publication Variety said the deal involved $2,000,000 but another source called that figure "too high." CBS officials declined to comment.

New Plastic Cloth Stops Revolver Bullets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) — Standing 10 feet away, a Washington policeman plunked a .38 revolver bullet into a cloth target today—and blinked at what happened.

The bullet failed to penetrate the material.

Lt. Sheldon R. McKee fired again. Same result.

The bullets went about half way through, then flattened out.

While McKee stared in frank disbelief, a chuckle arose from a nearby spectator. It was Dr. Raymond B. Seymour, of Johnson and Johnson Company, New Brunswick, N. J., who knew the "cloth" target was a new plastic material.

Earlier in the day, Dr. Seymour had told the American Chemical Society that the material is "stronger than steel" on a pound-for-pound basis.

Pilot Believed Drowned Following Plane Crash

HOLLYWOOD, Md., Sept. 1 (AP) — A 23-year-old St. Mary's County pilot was believed drowned and his companion swam almost a mile to shore after their plane crashed into the Patuxent River near here, state police reported today.

They identified the pilot as Harold G. Hills, Lexington Park.

E. E. Clark, 29, California, St. Mary's County, notified authorities after he reached shore last night.

Clark said Hills was making a landing in a small field beside the river, when he noticed that cows were pastured there.

He banked the plane over the river, and it suddenly plummeted into the water.

Relief Payments Go Up October 1

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP)—Marylanders drawing relief payments will find them about 10 per cent larger starting October 1.

J. Milton Patterson, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, said today the increased grants are made possible by larger federal grants.

The boosts may not be made effective in some areas of the state. This is because some of the money comes from local governments, which match state and federal contributions. The new standards merely provide more money to be matched and the local agencies are not necessarily obligated to match it.

Patterson said the increases will put food allowances more closely in line with rising costs and make the various programs "more realistic."

The counties have different scales for relief payments.

A family of five in Baltimore, Allegany, Anne Arundel, Cecil, Montgomery or Prince Georges County can get as much as $121 a month instead of the present $110.

The family of five in Charles, Frederick, Harford, Howard or Washington Counties can get $117 instead of $106. For Calvert, Carroll, Dorchester, Garrett, Wicomico and Worcester it will be $112 instead of $101. For Caroline, Kent, Queen Annes, St. Marys, Somerset and Talbot it will be $110 instead of $99.

MBS Election Results Will Be Sponsored

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Mutual Broadcasting System said today its bulletins on results of this year's presidential election will be sponsored.

MBS said it will be the first time in radio network history that election results will be carried on a sponsored basis.

The Curtis Publishing Company, MBS said, will be the sponsor.

Boy, 8, "Deliberately" Killed Sister With Rifle

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 1 (AP)—A coroner's jury today found that eight-year-old George Lint "deliberately pulled the trigger" in the deer rifle slaying of his 17-year-old sister last Friday.

The jurors recommended the boy "be put into a suitable institution for proper training and discipline as decided by the Juvenile Court."

The tragedy occurred as the sister, Edna, was helping her mother wash supper dishes in their home near the Western Pennsylvania community of Dickerson Run.

Decade-Old Rule Reversed By NLRB

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP) —The National Labor Relations Board ruled unanimously today that workers on strike for higher pay may not vote in collective bargaining elections if their jobs have been filled.

The replacements may vote, instead of the strikers, on the union to represent them, the board decided in reversing a decade-old ruling.

Under the Wagner Labor Act, the board first held that strikers alone were entitled to vote in "economic" strikes, then later ruled that both strikers and replacements were eligible.

Today's ruling was made under the Taft-Hartley Act passed a year ago.

General Counsel Arthur J. Goldberg, of the CIO, promptly challenged the ruling and said the CIO will fight it in court. The decision, he said, "stretches the law even beyond its stated terms."

If the NLRB ruling stands, Goldberg said, "strikebreakers are permitted to vote and to tip the scales in a labor board election against actual employes who by their ballots have demonstrated their confidence in their union and their desire to continue to be represented by it."

The board made two conditions clear: The ruling does not hold unless the jobs of the strikers have been filled by non-strikers; and if the strike is over an unfair labor practice by the employer.

2. But—except for top officials—most of those admitted are subject to prosecution under United States criminal laws for illegal acts outside their official duties.

3. Present regulations are adequate to exclude persons whose presence is inconsistent with United States security.

In three years, the report said, the United States has authorized entry of 970 persons from countries behind the Soviet "iron curtain" to engage in work of the United Nations or other international organizations.

But this is a "calculated risk," the committee said, resulting from the United States' role as host to United Nations headquarters. And the committee found no evidence that the risk is "a matter for great concern."

Improved Md. Facilities For Treating TB Urged

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP) — Maryland's facilities for treating tuberculous patients are so deficient that it will cost from $11,000,000 to $15,000,000 for construction alone to approach adequacy, a report by the committee on medical care of the State Planning Commission stated today.

The report pointed out that the state had one of the highest death rates from the disease in the country—that the Maryland rate was 60.7 per 100,000 population compared with the national average of 39.2.

Among many recommendations were proposals for a new 200-bed hospital on the Eastern Shore; a 300-bed hospital in or near Baltimore, in addition to one of like capacity to be constructed by the city; and a 300-bed addition to the facilities at Mount Wilson.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Father Alex MacDonald, a New Zealander missionary, has one of the loneliest jobs in the world. He has just returned from Auckland to Nukunonu, a tiny Pacific atoll, to resume his work. He will not see a white man again for months. His nearest European neighbors will be Samoa, 300 miles away.

Frail, outrigger canoes are his only means of transport. Only his radio, around which natives still congregate in amazement, keeps him in touch with world events. Once or twice a year a schooner from Apai calls to load the local copra crop. This is the only meeting the islanders have with western civilization. Except for the tinned meat and ship's biscuits brought by the copra schooners, they are self-supporting. Their diet is made up of fish, coconuts and breadfruit. On special occasions they have chicken or pork.

Until recently the islanders ignored eggs as a possible food. Even today they are regarded with suspicion by the older people.

CIO'S Political

Reporters asked Murray about the opposition of some CIO union leaders which turned up at yesterday's meeting of the CIO Executive Board. He replied: "We will carry our case direct to the people—to all the people."

Murray forecast Mr. Truman's election and a victory for a majority of CIO-approved candidates. He said a "reasonable amount" of money would be raised by individual donations from CIO members.

PURE Enjoyment

THAT smile, and McIntyre's Big Boy Bread, retain the same quality. . . . They're both indicative of "Pure Enjoyment". Yes sir! When Sonny's great big eyes center on that beautiful, tempting package of PURENESS that is McIntyre's, . . . his whole body reflects ENJOYMENT, . . . an expression that only those that have been fortunate enough to experience the tantalizing aroma and flavor of Big Boy Bread, can really appreciate.
Just picture Grandma's kitchen on "Bakin' Day" and the sweet aroma of freshly baked bread that wafted from her oven. (McIntyre's receipe is the same Granny used.) Add to that aroma, a white, soft textured goodness, surrounded by a warm, golden crust. Wrap it all in a cellophane covering that helps it to retain its freshness, . . . and you have a package of McIntyres' Big Boy Bread. . . . a name that is synonymous with . . . "PURE ENJOYMENT"!

Maryland Prison System Is Mess Commission Says

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1—(AP)—A special commission named to study Maryland's system of prisons, probation and paroles reported today it is a mess.

The main trouble, the commission said, is that the correctional institutions do little correcting. About 76 per cent of the offenders being sent to them have been there before.

This is one reason, the panel said, that the Maryland House of Correction is so overcrowded that there are two prisoners in many of the one-man cells.

The second man sleeps on a little pallet. When he gets up in the morning he shoves it under the other man's cot.

"It is inexcusable," said the commission, "to require inmates to sleep on the floor, either beside or underneath the bed of another, especially in such close quarters as are to be found in prison cells."

The group said the Department of Correction has enough labor and equipment to provide double-deck beds, springs and mattresses.

The commission was more concerned, however, about the high number of "repeaters" now in the state's half-dozen penal institutions.

"More effective correctional treatment" is needed, it said. At present, it is "administrative confusion."

So 22 suggestions, including a proposal for complete reorganization of the Department of Correction, were made. The new setup would have a full-time commissioner appointed by the Governor with the advice and consent of the Judicial Counsel. He would serve a 15-year term and get the pay of a judge. He would have an advisory board made up of the parole commissioner—another new, full-time officer—a judge, a physician and a psychiatrist.

Dewey Promises Red "Cleanup" In Capital

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 1. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said tonight the job of cleaning Communists out of Washington would get under way "as fast as a Republican President can be elected."

The GOP presidential nominee made the statement at a joint news conference with Harold E. Stassen, one of those he defeated for the nomination.

Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, came to Albany tonight for a conference about the campaign speech he will make in Detroit next Tuesday on behalf of the Dewey-Warren ticket.

The speech will be a reply to President Truman, who will open his campaign with a major speech in Detroit on Labor Day, the day before Stassen's appearance.

Amos 'N Andy May Sell Their Program To CBS

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Amos 'n' Andy of radio, Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, were reported today to be negotiating with the Columbia Broadcasting System to sell their program—which they now own—to the network for a sum running into seven figures.

The talk in trade circles was that it would be a capital gains deal under which the pair would sell their "business" to CBS, instead of dealing directly with the sponsor on an annual basis. The network then would lease them—or their program—back to their present sponsors, Lever Brothers.

The trade publication Variety said the deal involved $2,000,000 but another source called that figure "too high." CBS officials declined to comment.

New Plastic Cloth Stops Revolver Bullets

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—Standing 10 feet away, a Washington policeman plunked a .38 revolver bullet into a cloth target today—and blinked at what happened.

The bullet failed to penetrate the material.

Lt. Sheldon R. McKee fired again. Same result.

The bullets went about half way through, then flattened out.

While McKee stared in frank disbelief, a chuckle arose from a nearby spectator. It was Dr. Raymond B. Seymour, of Johnson and Johnson Company, New Brunswick, N. J., who knew the "cloth" target was a new plastic material.

Earlier in the day, Dr. Seymour had told the American Chemical Society that the material is "stronger than steel" on a pound-for-pound basis.

Pilot Believed Drowned Following Plane Crash

HOLLYWOOD, Md., Sept. 1 (AP)—A 23-year-old St. Mary's County pilot was believed drowned and his companion swam almost a mile to shore after their plane crashed into the Patuxent River near here, state police reported today.

They identified the pilot as Harold G. Hills, Lexington Park.

E. E. Clark, 29, California, St. Mary's County, notified authorities after he reached shore last night.

Clark said Hills was making a landing in a small field beside the river, when he noticed that cows were pastured there.

He banked the plane over the river, and it suddenly plummeted into the water.

Relief Payments Go Up October 1

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP)—Marylanders drawing relief payments will find them about 10 per cent larger starting October 1.

J. Milton Patterson, director of the State Department of Public Welfare, said today the increased grants are made possible by larger federal grants.

The boosts may not be made effective in some areas of the state. This is because some of the money comes from local governments, which match state and federal contributions. The new standards merely provide more money to be matched and the local agencies are not necessarily obligated to match it.

Patterson said the increases will put food allowances more closely in line with rising costs and make the various programs "more realistic."

The counties have different scales for relief payments.

A family of five in Baltimore, Allegany, Anne Arundel, Cecil, Montgomery or Prince Georges County can get as much as $121 a month instead of the present $110.

The family of five in Charles, Frederick, Harford, Howard or Washington Counties can get $117 instead of $106. For Calvert, Carroll, Dorchester, Garrett, Wicomico and Worcester it will be $112 instead of $101. For Caroline, Kent, Queen Annes, St. Marys, Somerset and Talbot it will be $110 instead of $99.

MBS Election Results Will Be Sponsored

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP)—The Mutual Broadcasting System said today its bulletins on results of this year's presidential election will be sponsored.

MBS said it will be the first time in radio network history that election results will be carried on a sponsored basis.

The Curtis Publishing Company, MBS said, will be the sponsor.

Boy, 8, "Deliberately" Killed Sister With Rifle

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Sept. 1 (AP)—A coroner's jury today found that eight-year-old George Lint "deliberately pulled the trigger" in the deer rifle slaying of his 17-year-old sister last Friday.

The jurors recommended the boy "be put into a suitable institution for proper training and discipline as decided by the Juvenile Court."

The tragedy occurred as the sister, Edna, was helping her mother wash supper dishes in their home near the Western Pennsylvania community of Dickerson Run.

Decade-Old Rule Reversed By NLRB

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board ruled unanimously today that workers on strike for higher pay may not vote in collective bargaining elections if their jobs have been filled.

The replacements may vote, instead of the strikers, on the union to represent them, the board decided in reversing a decade-old ruling.

Under the Wagner Labor Act, the board first held that strikers alone were entitled to vote in "economic" strikes, then later ruled that both strikers and replacements were eligible.

Today's ruling was made under the Taft-Hartley Act passed a year ago.

General Counsel Arthur J. Goldberg, of the CIO, promptly challenged the ruling and said the CIO will fight it in court. The decision, he said, "stretches the law even beyond its stated terms."

If the NLRB ruling stands, Goldberg said, "strikebreakers are permitted to vote and to tip the scales in a labor board election against actual employes who by their ballots have demonstrated their confidence in their union and their desire to continue to be represented by it."

The board made two conditions clear: The ruling does not hold unless the jobs of the strikers have been filled by non-strikers; and if the strike is over an unfair labor practice by the employer.

2. But—except for top officials—most of those admitted are subject to prosecution under United States criminal laws for illegal acts outside their official duties.

3. Present regulations are adequate to exclude persons whose presence is inconsistent with United States security.

In three years, the report said, the United States has authorized entry of 970 persons from countries behind the Soviet "iron curtain" to engage in work of the United Nations or other international organizations.

But this is a "calculated risk," the committee said, resulting from the United States' role as host to United Nations headquarters. And the committee found no evidence that the risk is "a matter for great concern."

Improved Md. Facilities For Treating TB Urged

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP)—Maryland's facilities for treating tuberculous patients are so deficient that it will cost from $11,000,000 to $15,000,000 for construction alone to approach adequacy, a report by the committee on medical care of the State Planning Commission stated today.

The report pointed out that the state had one of the highest death rates from the disease in the country—that the Maryland rate was 60.7 per 100,000 population compared with the national average of 39.2.

Among many recommendations were proposals for a new 200-bed hospital on the Eastern Shore; a 300-bed hospital in or near Baltimore, in addition to one of like capacity to be constructed by the city; and a 300-bed addition to the facilities at Mount Wilson.

Proposed Parking Site Too Centrally Located

A plan looking to a solution of the pressing parking and traffic problem which has confounded Cumberland many years has been advanced by Commissioner Keegan. It comes in the wake of comment by this newspaper a day or so ago that the traffic situation was worsening and that the need for space to permit a discontinuance of parking on downtown streets was increasing daily.

Commissioner Keegan has suggested the possibility of a municipal parking lot at Bedford and North Centre streets, on the site which had been considered as a location for a bus terminal but which was abandoned because of the congestion, it was feared, such an undertaking might create. It is good to know, however, that Commissioner Keegan makes his suggestion with reservations.

In the meantime, the committee appointed to negotiate with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for the securing of some railroad property on North George street for a parking lot might seek a new meeting with the railroad company through Robert A. J. Morrison, superintendent of the Cumberland Division. It is the hope of those proposing such a meeting that a compromise may be worked out for leasing the George street site. Unless the railroad Company has found a suitable site for the relocation of its freight depot it is doubtful whether space the company might be willing to lease would be large enough for Cumberland's needs.

We cannot agree with Commissioner Keegan that the site at Bedford and North Centre streets is "ideal," and this newspaper is of the opinion it would be a grave mistake to establish an open-air parking lot in the heart of the downtown section, less than three blocks from the city's main business artery. The proposed site is one which could very well be put to better use by the present or future owners by the erection of a structure that would be more imposing than a parking lot—never an inspiring sight, no matter what care is given it.

While it goes without saying that motorists would find the location most convenient it is quite certain they would readily sacrifice that rather than have this business thoroughfare and topography of City Hall marred by a public parking lot.

A South Centre street site, somewhere between Harrison and Williams streets would be more suitable and still fulfill the desire for a central location by those interesting themselves in the problem.

Of course, Commissioner Keegan points out that the city's credit has been extended "pretty far" through flood control and recreation issue commitments, and that the Bedford-North Centre streets site proposal might have to be abandoned. It is to be hoped that it will. A site less centrally located could, perhaps, make easier the matter of financing the project.

It is refreshing to find, however, that interest in the problem of finding ways to ease the troublesome parking and traffic situation has been rekindled, but it is to be desired that those with authority to correct it will make a determined effort to establish space for automobiles far enough removed from the heart of the business district to avoid placing a blemish on it.

The Truman Trek Will Leave Him A Very Tired Man

Harry Truman has cut out for himself a man-sized job. In his campaigning he is planning to give something like 500 speeches and visit more states than any other candidate. When he is done, one thing will be certain. He will be a very tired man.

Whether the President will make friends and influence a lot of people is another question. Obviously, the reason behind his strenuous trip is that he feels it necessary to take his case personally before as many persons as possible. He wants a big build-up and is determined to see that he gets it.

It is hard to imagine that the President can sell his ideas, such as they are, any better than he has been doing. The ideas themselves are confused and so often contradictory that even he may not understand them. And it is quite possible that the trip may turn out to be more of a liability than an asset. Mr. Truman, when he gets away from set speeches and familiar surroundings, has a habit of saying the wrong thing, even though he makes a better talk off the cuff. Somewhere, on this great swing through the hustings and during the 500 speeches and chats, he may well say something he will later regret.

But the tour should be interesting to friend and foe alike. A number of years ago when a certain First Lady became the nation's greatest tourist, a national magazine printed a map of the United States with North Dakota marked in black. It was labelled "Darkest America" because, up to then, it was the only state Eleanor Roosevelt had never visited. Will some state be similarly slighted at the end of Harry Truman's epic journey? Not if Mr. Truman can help it.

Improved Industrial Relations Under T-H Law

Only the other day Eleanor Roosevelt almost casually announced that Herbert Hoover was not responsible for the depression which began in 1929—and which is known in New Deal campaign books as the Hoover Depression. This admission, although welcome, is somewhat tardy. Which brings us to what seemed to be a companion admission from Mr. Roosevelt's successor; by comparison it was almost trigger-quick.

Accompanying a report from the Council of Economic Advisers which the President sent to the extra session was his own abstract. In the abstract was his statement that "improved industrial relations" in the first half of 1948 contributed to increased industrial production. Of course, the President had prior proof of this in the report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics of his own Administration, which told how strikes were diminishing. But the improvement had been registered under the Taft-Hartley Act which the Democratic convention had denounced shortly before —and which is now one year old.

We can't help wondering if Harry Truman realizes what he was saying when he said it. Anyway it was a plenty.

Coming styles for men will give them the bold look, and display the midriff. The boldest thing about a lot of American men is their midriff.

Vagus Resection

It is estimated that from 5 to 12 per cent of the population of the United States will develop peptic ulcer during their lifetime. Young adults and persons of middle age are the most likely candidates but children and oldsters are not entirely immune. A recent survey showed that 10.5 per cent of the group studied were over 60 years of age.

Dr. Van Dellen

Not every one who is afflicted suffers for the rest of his life. Some have one bout, and after the lesion heals, are never bothered again. Others have a similar experience except that twenty years later, they encounter a second attack. The remainder are indisposed at frequent intervals particularly during the spring and fall. Unless the victim adheres to the diet-medication regimen and avoids fatigue and emotional disturbances, distress is likely to return. Intestinal discomfort may be the only symptom unless complications like hemorrhages, obstruction, or perforation occur. All too often, surgery is needed ultimately especially if conservative management fails to remedy the disorder.

In most peptic ulcer cases, the lesion is located in that part of the small intestine immediately adjacent to the stomach (duodenum). In a smaller percentage, the crater is in the gastric pouch itself. No one knows why ulcers of this nature form but most physicians believe that the acid gastric juice is the greatest offender and the lesions appear in areas where the tissues are unable to resist the digestive action of this chemical.

Emotions also play a role because the movements of the stomach and the acid-secreting glands are under the control of the nervous system. The latter phenomenon has been demonstrated repeatedly in normal individuals; during anxiety, distress, hostility, and anger the proportions of acid increase markedly and the stomach churns vigorously. Conditions are somewhat the same in ulcer victims as many are high-strung and have occupations conducive to stress, strain, and fatigue.

The new operation, vagus resection, takes such reactions into account. By cutting certain nerves, the stomach is no longer affected by extraneous factors. The amount of acid decreases and the contractions become less intense. In the circumstances, a more favorable environment for healing is provided.

All this sounds good but, after the operation, the stomach is sluggish and has a tendency to distend like a balloon. Therefore, it is not always recommended when the crater is located in the stomach. The intestines are also influenced and some patients complain of diarrhea and other irregularities. Consequently, not every one who has the procedure done is entirely satisfied because of these complications. On the other hand, many have been relieved completely and are now staunch supporters of this method of treatment. Included in this group are individuals who had the usual type of ulcer operation before submitting to vagotomy. The first plan failed but relief was noted after the second trip to the operating room. In these instances, credit must be given to the combination of both maneuvers.

There is no need to take vitamin D in this form during the summer months, since a greater amount is derived from the sun. However, infants should use it the year 'round.

It Says Here

Paris, make up your mind.

The latest communique from the fashion center of the world has it that short skirts are back. Of course, the girls aren't kicking, it's we fellows. The sudden change is such a shock to the eyeball.

The gals have already worked out a solution for this quick change in skirt lengths. They've taken to wearing skirts with a pulley. Now all they have to do is grab the string and wait for the nod from Paris. (This sells in your neighborhood department store under the trade name of "Venetian skirts.")

What can be wrong with them over there? Up one month, down the next. I wish they'd stop making designers out of elevator operators.

You just can't trust women's styles these days. In fact, all women's clothes are apt to change suddenly. Why, overnight they're likely to go back to wearing hats that are really hats.

And how long will this new short hair-do be in vogue? A girl will be in a tough spot if they suddenly switch to long hair, and her beautiful tresses are lying trampled on some barber shop floor.

All in all, as I think about it, I see a man is really lucky. How wonderful it is to be able to wear the same suit for ten years.

ISN'T THAT FIRE OUT YET?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Wants No Involvement In Argentine Politics; Turns Deaf Ear To Senora Peron's Wishes For Official Invitation To Visit Here; Greeks Assail U. S.

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen).

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 — Maria Eva Duarte de Peron, beauteous blonde wife of the swashbuckling Argentine dictator, is very eager to visit the U. S.

Last year, the glamorous senora toured Franco Spain, France and Italy, and collected an assortment of decorations, costly gifts, and a few boos. The last were not reported in the iron-censored Argentine press.

Evita, as she is familiarly known in her country, thinks a U. S. junket would enhance her political ambitions. She wants to succeed her husband as president. But so far, Washington has turned a deaf ear to hints for an official invitation.

The U. S. Government has no intention of getting involved in Argentine politics. Also it's chary of possible incidents by hostile demonstrators.

But Evita, apparently, is not giving up hope. She has embarked on a publicity campaign to woo U. S. public opinion.

A few days ago, every press office in Washington received a special delivery letter from the Argentine Embassy announcing that Evita was beaming a special short-wave radio speech to the U. S. on old-age pensions. The talk, it was stated, would be made under the auspices of the "Maria Eva Duarte de Peron Social Assistance Foundation"—of which she is the founder and sole administrative official.

The funds of this foundation are derived from so-called "voluntary" contributions from a wide variety of sources, ranging from the schoolchildren of Cordoba Province to the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange. Everyone who wants to stand in good with the powerful Evita makes a fat donation to her foundation. Its treasury now has about 35,000,000 pesos—approximately $7,000,000.

On occasion, the "Social Assistance" activities of the foundation take an odd twist.

The latest was the presentation of handsome and completely furnished houses to each of Argentina's three Olympic Games gold-medal winners. Evita announced these costly gifts with a great flourish of publicity. At home and abroad it was effusively proclaimed that she personally was bestowing these gifts.

Carefully not mentioned in the hoopla was the fact that they were being paid for with money from Evita's foundation.

Hand-Biter

The Greek Government doesn't like the salaries the U. S. is paying its Greek aid mission officials.

This money comes from U. S. taxpayers, the same as the remainder of the $500,000,000 the U. S. is pouring into Greece for recovery and military purposes. Also, the two toughest problems confronting aid officials are to try to get the Greek Government to impose a just tax on its wealthy classes and to lop off thousands of drones on the Government payroll.

Notwithstanding all this, the Greek National Economy Commission, at a recent meeting, sharply assailed U. S. mission pay scales. The Commission was particularly outraged by one salary for $12,000 a year and another for $10,000. These were held "out of proportion not only in relation to the salaries of local employes but also to those which the U. S. pays its highest officers."

In Dutch

The two chiefs of the Congressional Marshall Plan "watchdog" committee are quietly scanning the large sums Holland is spending in military operations against the newly created Indonesian Republic.

The two probers are Sen. Styles Bridges, (NH), Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, and Rep. John Taber, (NY), chairman of the same committee in the House. These are the items that have aroused their curiosity:

Holland's share of ERP is $400,000,000. In addition, the Dutch got a $195,000,000 World Bank loan last year and are now seeking a $400,000,000 loan from the Export-Import Bank. At the same time, the Dutch are spending over $1,000,000 a day ($365,000,000 a year) to maintain a military and naval blockade of Indonesia.

The latter wants to sell rubber, tin and other strategic raw materials to the U. S. outside the high-priced Dutch cartels. The Dutch are resisting this by armed force.

Bridges and Taber want to know where the Dutch are getting the money for these costly military operations. The Dutch deny they are using ERP and loan funds. But at the same time they are getting these huge handouts on the claim they are broke.

It doesn't add up, to Bridges and Taber.

Note—It also isn't adding up to European Co-operation Administrator Paul Hoffman. He, too, is quietly checking what the Dutch are doing with the large sums they are getting from the U. S.

Best-Seller

The U. S. Government is profiting very handsomely from the diary of the late and unlamented Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister. To date, the publication has netted the Alien Property Custodian over $300,000.

Found by a German in Berlin's rubble, the manuscript was initially traded for 16 cartons of cigarettes. For awhile, it looked like the lucky American publisher would make a big killing from book, magazine and newspaper syndication sales. But Assistant Attorney General David Bazalon stepped in and claimed the work as U. S. property. It's been paying off to the U. S. Treasury since.

Britain's popular Princess Margaret Rose will visit the U. S. next year . . . . So far, Chiang Kai-shek has obtained less than 25 per cent of the $1,000,000 he has asked wealthy Chinese to contribute for the relief of war refugees. At the same time, Chiang is trying to get a new $200,000,000 U. S. loan to back his new currency . . . . The number of ball bearings authorized by the Office of International Trade for export to satellite Czechoslovakia is 7,106,000. Czechoslovakia is now one of Russia's biggest munitions producers . . . The Society For The Prevention Of World War III is vigorously opposing the appointment of Thomas McKittrick as chief ECA financial adviser. It is charged that throughout the war McKittrick was an official of the Bank For International Settlements in Switzerland. The bank is alleged to have had close Nazi ties.

Loss Of Peace Laid To Acts Of Roosevelt With Joe Stalin

By MARK SULLIVAN

In surrent issues of Life Magazine, Mr. Williab C. Bullit writes on "How We Won the War and Lost the Peace." The articles are Mr. Bullit's answer to the question that rises in the mind of every American, harasses his anxious days and restles nights. The quetion might be phraed, "How did we get where we now are?"

Mr. Bullitt's answer states the boundaries of what has been for America an era of tragic disillusion. First, where we were when the war ended: "Three years ago we forced our enemies . . . to surrnder unconditionally. We stood on a summit of power rarely scaled by any nation . . . We seemed to be in a position of unique security."

Then, three years later: "Today our insecurity is such that we may be forced into war this year." If that seems extreme, it is only the timing and the degree of our danger that is doubtful in men's minds. Every American knows the reason for the draft that went into effect as Mr. Bullitt's articles were published.

Many Mistakes Made Earlier

But it is not with the last three years that Mr. Bullitt mainly deals, nor with Mr. Truman as President during that period. He treats mistakes made by Mr. Truman, severely, but says that lack of experience and understanding about foreign relations was the principal reason. But, says Mr. Bullitt, "Many of our mistakes were made before Mr. Truman became President." Not merely many, most of them. Mr. Truman came into office as the inheritor of a status, a situation of which the basis and pattern had been created by actions of President Roosevelt.

For discussion of Roosevelt's actions, Mr. Bullitt is uniquely equipped. He was close to Roosevelt personally and officially. When Roosevelt, early in his Administration, reversed our previous policy, recognized the Communist government and sent an ambassador to Moscow, he chose Mr. Bullitt for the post, largely because Mr. Bullitt was, at that time, sympathetic to Russia. After Mr. Bullitt, by close acquaintance, became disillusioned about the Communist government, Roosevelt made him Ambassador to France. Later he was a kind of ambassador at large and personal representative of Roosevelt.

After Mr. Bullitt became disillusioned about Russia, he steadily urged upon Roosevelt that the purpose of the Communist Soviet government was world dominion, almost passionately advised Roosevelt against the policy Roosevelt was following. But Roosevelt said: "Bill, I don't dispute wour facts . . . your reasoning; I just have a hunch that Stalin is not that kind of man." Roosevelt's attitude toward Stalin was to "Give him eveything I possibly can and ask nothing from him in return."

It was in this attitude that Roosevelt heaped lease-lend aid upon Stalin, without asking in return any promise about post-war arrangements or otherwise. Mr. Bullitt bears strongly on th If Roosevelt had procured such promise he would have been protected from demands which Stalin subsequently made, and steps he took which gave him the leverage, territorial and otherwise, which he now uses against us.

Truman Is Truman Plus Roosevelt

Roosevelt's unwillingness to ask promises in return for lease-lend was only one detail of his attitude toward Stalin and Russia. The whole of that attitude is latent in the present campaign, even though the bi-partisan position on foreign relations may minimize mention of it. In the minds of many voters the Democratic candidate is not merely Truman but Truman plus Roosevelt.

But the effect on one political campaign is minor compared to the historical importance of Roosevelt's conduct of our relations to Russia and to the war generally. What is now taking place, through such accounts as Mr. Bullitt's and many others, is a valuation for history, a gradual unfolding of the pattern of what went on. For such a valuation, the materials are becoming abundant. A remarkable phenomenon is the number of autobiographical books written, so soon after the events, by associates of Roosevelt. Of the ten cabinet posts, occupants of six have written memoirs—Secretaries of State Hull; Treasury, Morgenthau; War, Stimson; Labor, Frances Perkins; Interior, Ickes; Commerce, Wallace; Postmaster General Farley. Others have been written by Mr. James F. Byrnes, who was assistant to Roosevelt and later Secretary of State under Truman; Ambassadors to Russia Davies, and to Poland, Lane; Roosevelt's wife Eleanor and his son Elliott. The private papers of Harry Hopkins, a close aide to Roosevelt throughout his Administration, have been edited by Mr. Robert Sherwood, also a close aide, and are being published. Other memoirs are in preparation. Most of the memoirs are, naturally, favorable to Roosevelt, though some, like Mr. Bullitt's, are strongly critical as will be some future ones.

Hughes' Determinated Purpose Was To Let Office Seek The Man

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—Because Charles Evans Hughes attained an unparalleled eminence in America and really never sought a single public office, the background of his career contains many a lesson worth studying by those who aspire to public service.

Charles Evans Hughes will go down in history as the man who was appointed to the Supreme Court largely to take him out of the way of the presidential nomination because of the antagonisms of party organization men but who later was taken off the bench to serve that same party in a contest for the presidency.

President Theodore Roosevelt in 1908 could have secured for Mr. Hughes the Republican nomination for the presidency, but Hughes, by his independence of politicians, had alienated the Republican organization in New York State. Thus, the late David S. Barry, veteran correspondent, in his book "Forty Years In Washington," writes:

"As was well understood at the time, President Roosevelt and Governor Hughes of New York did not get along very well together. In political matters especially, Mr. Hughes followed an entirely independent course without regard to the wishes and preferences of President Roosevelt. Taking advantage, probably, of this situation of affairs in New York state, George B. Cortelyou (Mr. Roosevelt's secretary of the treasury) and his personal friends got it into their heads that he might secure the presidential nomination . . . Mr. Cortelyou was confident he would get the vote of New York state."

Significant Piece of Evidence

But the most significant piece of evidence comes from Theodore Roosevelt himself. In a letter to Lawrence Abbott in 1912, recounting what happened in 1908, he wrote:

"I could not have nominated an extreme progressive or an extreme conservative but I could by a turn of the hand have thrown the nomination to either Taft or Hughes . . . I chose Taft rather than Hughes."

There was an incident in which Mr. Roosevelt, while President, had endeavored, through the use of patronage in an appointment of Archie Sanders as internal revenue collector, to influence the votes of two assemblymen in the New York state legislature. Even though it was intended to be of help to Governor Hughes, the latter refused the assistance because, while he wanted and needed the votes, he didn't want them that way. The late Henry L. Stoddard, New York newspaper editor, writes of this rebuke of Roosevelt by Hughes in a book entitled "As I Knew Them: Presidents and Politics From Grant to Coolidge":

"I am not prepared to say that except for the Sanders incident Roosevelt would have supported Hughes in 1908, but I am certain that it led Roosevelt to feel that Hughes was almost the last candidate he cared to see nominated as his successor."

Mr. Stoddard tells of the fight inside New York State between the Republican state organization and Governor Hughes in 1910, when William Howard Taft had been President for two years. He writes:

"Hughes went into a struggle for direct state-wide primaries. The party 'organization' opposed the legislation . . . In the midst of it came Taft's offer to Hughes to become Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. The 'organization' rejoiced that Hughes would now be put out of the way, but the Governor outgeneralled them. He accepted the appointment with the proviso that he would not be called upon to take his place on the bench until the legislature had adjourned."

Taft's Maneuvering

To what extent President Taft wanted to get Hughes out of his way to insure his own renomination in 1912 will never be known, but at the time it was generally considered that the appointment to the bench not only helped the Republican organization in New York state but took Hughes out of any future contest for the presidency.

In these dispatches a couple of days ago, the date of the Hughes appointment to the court was erroneously given as 1907 instead of 1910 and it was the effort of the Republican organization in New York state rather than that of Theodore Roosevelt which is generally credited with the initiative that removed Hughes. Henry Stoddard's appraisal of Hughes, written in 1927, is worth reproducing here. He wrote in his book:

"It is commonplace to say of any man that there are none like him, but it is so true of Hughes that I cannot help saying it. You may search the careers of all the men in our public life for a century and a half and you will not find a career like his. He has never sought public office; he has never asked any individual to speak for him; or to work for his advancement . . .

"In a word, Hughes has been Governor, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, presidential nominee and Secretary of State without ever having expended so much as a postage stamp and without ever having uttered, or authorized others to utter, a single word in his behalf. Here is a remarkable record . . . it reveals a determined purpose to let the office seek the man, uninfluenced by personal appeals or manipulation of delegates."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

National Defense

A FUNNY paper is published in New York, calling itself "The New Yorker", which I never buy because it is not funny enough. It suffers from a stereotyped iconoclasm more fitted to the sophomoric mood of the budding intellectual cynicism of the 1930's than to these days.

It now looks like an old man with grey whiskers trying to play at emerging out of youth.

So somebody sends me a clipping from this funny paper and it continues the "Merchants of Death" talk of the Nye Committee and the then emerging Commies who are now burning their correspondence and denying that they ever did anything.

It bawls out General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Chief of Staff of the United States Air Force, for adopting the slogan, "Air Power Is Peace Power."

Well, General Vandenberg may be right or wrong, that not being the subject of the present discussion. This "New Yorker" enters upon a polemic on the subject of national defense. It says:

". . . Air power, like any other sort of fighting power, is victory power, or defeat power. Naturally, the hope of aerial people and non-aerial people alike is that America's air strength will be so great nobody will dare challenge it, and that, in that sense, it will be peace power. They also hope that if challenged it will prevail.

But it is unfortunately true that the mere existence and growth of military power are a sort of provocation to other nations, whose governments feel either the obligation or the desire to outstrip it . . ."

This is an old, old argument which caught this country with its defenses down in 1931 and gave us Pearl Harbor in 1941. The idea is that this country disarms but its potential enemies arm.

Then comes the pay-off and Uncle Sam has two hands tied behind his back. The gentlemen of "The New Yorker" ought, when they can take time off, to study the history of the Nye Committee and the Japanese secret fleet built after the Washington Disarmament Conference.

This time our potential — and present—enemy is Soviet Russia. I have maintained that that country has been our enemy consistently and constantly since 1917 and must be according to the basic tenets of Marxism. On that subject there are differences of opinion, but there can be no difference of opinion that Soviet Russia is utilizing all its potentials to arm against the United States; that that country has reduced the production of consumers' goods to increase its output of war goods; that it has built an enormous fleet of schnorkel submarines which can only be used for war; that it maintains the largest standing army for the conquest of Western Europe and China that any country has ever had in peacetime.

Also, that it has maintained an espionage corps in this country even while we were presumably allied, with the object of stealing the fruits of our inventiveness.

The United States could, of course, adopt a totally isolationist position. We could decide to withdraw all our troops and defenses from all parts of the world and sit back to wait for the Russians to come at us as soon as they have consolidated their position in Europe and Asia.

Does "The New Yorker"—so interventionist during the last war—want us to do that? Is the famous Mr. Ross, its editor, prepared to say now, after the fact, that the conquest of Europe by Hitler was wrong but that it is a virtue when done by Stalin? If that is the thesis, why not say so?

Also, this funny paper takes the view that we ought to go in for "developing the federal world structure." And they are for that sort of thing after watching the United Nations and the Russian use of the veto and all the effort this country has put forth to make it a parliament of man and all the resistance we have met, particularly at the hands of the Russians, who at this moment are pushing us out of Berlin. It begins to look as though some Americans are so doctrinaire that they would pursue their private theories even at the cost of killing the United States.

What I want to see is Uncle Joe on the capitol steps with his hat in his hand. Come to think about the matter a fellow named LaFayette owes us two visits.

Proposed Parking Site Too Centrally Located

A plan looking to a solution of the pressing parking and traffic problem which has confounded Cumberland many years has been advanced by Commissioner Keegan. It comes in the wake of comment by this newspaper a day or so ago that the traffic situation was worsening and that the need for space to permit a discontinuance of parking on downtown streets was increasing daily.

Commissioner Keegan has suggested the possibility of a municipal parking lot at Bedford and North Centre streets, on the site which had been considered as a location for a bus terminal but which was abandoned because of the congestion, it was feared, such an undertaking might create. It is good to know, however, that Commissioner Keegan makes his suggestion with reservations.

In the meantime, the committee appointed to negotiate with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company for the securing of some railroad property on North George street for a parking lot might seek a new meeting with the railroad company through Robert A. J. Morrison, superintendent of the Cumberland Division. It is the hope of those proposing such a meeting that a compromise may be worked out for leasing the George street site. Unless the railroad Company has found a suitable site for the relocation of its freight depot it is doubtful whether space the company might be willing to lease would be large enough for Cumberland's needs.

We cannot agree with Commissioner Keegan that the site at Bedford and North Centre streets is "ideal," and this newspaper is of the opinion it would be a grave mistake to establish an open-air parking lot in the heart of the downtown section, less than three blocks from the city's main business artery. The proposed site is one which could very well be put to better use by the present or future owners by the erection of a structure that would be more imposing than a parking lot—never an inspiring sight, no matter what care is given it.

While it goes without saying that motorists would find the location most convenient it is quite certain they would readily sacrifice that rather than have this business thoroughfare and topography of City Hall marred by a public parking lot.

A South Centre street site, somewhere between Harrison and Williams streets would be more suitable and still fulfill the desire for a central location by those interesting themselves in the problem.

Of course, Commissioner Keegan points out that the city's credit has been extended "pretty far" through flood control and recreation issue commitments, and that the Bedford-North Centre streets site proposal might have to be abandoned. It is to be hoped that it will. A site less centrally located could, perhaps, make easier the matter of financing the project.

It is refreshing to find, however, that interest in the problem of finding ways to ease the troublesome parking and traffic situation has been rekindled, but it is to be desired that those with authority to correct it will make a determined effort to establish space for automobiles far enough removed from the heart of the business district to avoid placing a blemish on it.

The Truman Trek Will Leave Him A Very Tired Man

Harry Truman has cut out for himself a man-sized job. In his campaigning he is planning to give something like 500 speeches and visit more states than any other candidate. When he is done, one thing will be certain. He will be a very tired man.

Whether the President will make friends and influence a lot of people is another question. Obviously, the reason behind his strenuous trip is that he feels it necessary to take his case personally before as many persons as possible. He wants a big build-up and is determined to see that he gets it.

It is hard to imagine that the President can sell his ideas, such as they are, any better than he has been doing. The ideas themselves are confused and so often contradictory that even he may not understand them. And it is quite possible that the trip may turn out to be more of a liability than an asset. Mr. Truman, when he gets away from set speeches and familiar surroundings, has a habit of saying the wrong thing, even though he makes a better talk off the cuff. Somewhere, on this great swing through the hustings and during the 500 speeches and chats, he may well say something he will later regret.

But the tour should be interesting to friend and foe alike. A number of years ago when a certain First Lady became the nation's greatest tourist, a national magazine printed a map of the United States with North Dakota marked in black. It was labelled "Darkest America" because, up to then, it was the only state Eleanor Roosevelt had never visited. Will some state be similarly slighted at the end of Harry Truman's epic journey? Not if Mr. Truman can help it.

Improved Industrial Relations Under T-H Law

Only the other day Eleanor Roosevelt almost casually announced that Herbert Hoover was not responsible for the depression which began in 1929—and which is known in New Deal campaign books as the Hoover Depression. This admission, although welcome, is somewhat tardy. Which brings us to what seemed to be a companion admission from Mr. Roosevelt's successor; by comparison it was almost trigger-quick.

Accompanying a report from the Council of Economic Advisers which the President sent to the extra session was his own abstract. In the abstract was his statement that "improved industrial relations" in the first half of 1948 contributed to increased industrial production. Of course, the President had prior proof of this in the report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics of his own Administration, which told how strikes were diminishing. But the improvement had been registered under the Taft-Hartley Act which the Democratic convention had denounced shortly before —and which is now one year old.

We can't help wondering if Harry Truman realizes what he was saying when he said it. Anyway it was a plenty.

Coming styles for men will give them the bold look, and display the midriff. The boldest thing about a lot of American men is their midriff.

Vagus Resection

It is estimated that from 5 to 12 per cent of the population of the United States will develop peptic ulcer during their lifetime. Young adults and persons of middle age are the most likely candidates but children and oldsters are not entirely immune. A recent survey showed that 10.5 per cent of the group studied were over 60 years of age.

Dr. Van Dellen

Not every one who is afflicted suffers for the rest of his life. Some have one bout, and after the lesion heals, are never bothered again. Others have a similar experience except that twenty years later, they encounter a second attack. The remainder are indisposed at frequent intervals particularly during the spring and fall. Unless the victim adheres to the diet-medication regimen and avoids fatigue and emotional disturbances, distress is likely to return. Intestinal discomfort may be the only symptom unless complications like hemorrhages, obstruction, or perforation occur. All too often, surgery is needed ultimately especially if conservative management fails to remedy the disorder.

In most peptic ulcer cases, the lesion is located in that part of the small intestine immediately adjacent to the stomach (duodenum). In a smaller percentage, the crater is in the gastric pouch itself. No one knows why ulcers of this nature form but most physicians believe that the acid gastric juice is the greatest offender and the lesions appear in areas where the tissues are unable to resist the digestive action of this chemical.

Emotions also play a role because the movements of the stomach and the acid-secreting glands are under the control of the nervous system. The latter phenomenon has been demonstrated repeatedly in normal individuals; during anxiety, distress, hostility, and anger the proportions of acid increase markedly and the stomach churns vigorously. Conditions are somewhat the same in ulcer victims as many are high-strung and have occupations conducive to stress, strain, and fatigue.

The new operation, vagus resection, takes such reactions into account. By cutting certain nerves, the stomach is no longer affected by extraneous factors. The amount of acid decreases and the contractions become less intense. In the circumstances, a more favorable environment for healing is provided.

All this sounds good but, after the operation, the stomach is sluggish and has a tendency to distend like a balloon. Therefore, it is not always recommended when the crater is located in the stomach. The intestines are also influenced and some patients complain of diarrhea and other irregularities. Consequently, not every one who has the procedure done is entirely satisfied because of these complications. On the other hand, many have been relieved completely and are now staunch supporters of this method of treatment. Included in this group are individuals who had the usual type of ulcer operation before submitting to vagotomy. The first plan failed but relief was noted after the second trip to the operating room. In these instances, credit must be given to the combinaion of both maneuvers.

REPLY

There is no need to take vitamin D in this form during the summer months, since a greater amount is derived from the sun. However, infants should use it the year 'round.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Paris, make up your mind.

The latest communique from the fashion center of the world has it that short skirts are back. Of course, the girls aren't kicking, it's we fellows. The sudden change is such a shock to the eyeball.

The gals have already worked out a solution for this quick change in skirt lengths. They've taken to wearing skirts with a pulley. Now all they have to do is grab the string and wait for the nod from Paris. (This sells in your neighborhood department store under the trade name of "Venetian skirts.")

What can be wrong with them over there? Up one month, down the next. I wish they'd stop making designers out of elevator operators.

You just can't trust women's styles these days. In fact, all women's clothes are apt to change suddenly. Why, overnight they're likely to go back to wearing hats that are really hats.

And how long will this new short hair-do be in vogue? A girl will be in a tough spot if they suddenly switch to long hair, and her beautiful tresses are lying trampled on some barber shop floor.

All in all, as I think about it, I see a man is really lucky. How wonderful it is to be able to wear the same suit for ten years.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Wants No Involvement In Argentine Politics; Turns Deaf Ear To Senora Peron's Wishes For Official Invitation To Visit Here; Greeks Assail U. S.

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen).

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1 — Maria Eva Duarte de Peron, beauteous blonde wife of the swashbuckling Argentine dictator, is very eager to visit the U. S.

Last year, the glamorous senora toured Franco Spain, France and Italy, and collected an assortment of decorations, costly gifts, and a few boos. The last were not reported in the iron-censored Argentine press.

Evita, as she is familiarly known in her country, thinks a U. S. junket would enhance her political ambitions. She wants to succeed her husband as president. But so far, Washington has turned a deaf ear to hints for an official invitation.

The U. S. Government has no intention of getting involved in Argentine politics. Also it's chary of possible incidents by hostile demonstrators.

But Evita, apparently, is not giving up hope. She has embarked on a publicity campaign to woo U. S. public opinion.

A few days ago, every press office in Washington received a special delivery letter from the Argentine Embassy announcing that Evita was beaming a special short-wave radio speech to the U. S. on old-age pensions. The talk, it was stated, would be made under the auspices of the "Maria Eva Duarte de Peron Social Assistance Foundation"—of which she is the founder and sole administrative official.

The funds of this foundation are derived from so-called "voluntary" contributions from a wide variety of sources, ranging from the schoolchildren of Cordoba Province to the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange. Everyone who wants to stand in good with the powerful Evita makes a fat donation to her foundation. Its treasury now has about 35,000,000 pesos—approximately $7,000,000.

On occasion, the "Social Assistance" activities of the foundation take an odd twist.

The latest was the presentation of handsome and completely furnished houses to each of Argentina's three Olympic Games gold-medal winners. Evita announced these costly gifts with a great flourish of publicity. At home and abroad it was effusively proclaimed that she personally was bestowing these gifts.

Carefully not mentioned in the hoopla was the fact that they were being paid for with money from Evita's foundation.

Hand-Biter

The Greek Government doesn't like the salaries the U. S. is paying its Greek aid mission officials.

This money comes from U. S. taxpayers, the same as the remainder of the $500,000,000 the U. S. is pouring into Greece for recovery and military purposes. Also, the two toughest problems confronting aid officials are to try to get the Greek Government to impose a just tax on its wealthy classes and to lop off thousands of drones on the Government payroll.

Notwithstanding all this, the Greek National Economy Commission, at a recent meeting, sharply assailed U. S. mission pay scales. The Commission was particularly outraged by one salary for $12,000 a year and another for $10,000. These were held "out of proportion not only in relation to the salaries of local employes but also to those which the U. S. pays its highest officers."

In Dutch

The two chiefs of the Congressional Marshall Plan "watchdog" committee are quietly scanning the large sums Holland is spending in military operations against the newly created Indonesian Republic.

The two probers are Sen. Styles Bridges, (NH), Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, and Rep. John Taber, (NY), chairman of the same committee in the House. These are the items that have aroused their curiosity:

Holland's share of ERP is $400,000,000. In addition, the Dutch got a $195,000,000 World Bank loan last year and are now seeking a $400,000,000 loan from the Export-Import Bank. At the same time, the Dutch are spending over $1,000,000 a day ($365,000,000 a year) to maintain a military and naval blockade of Indonesia.

The latter wants to sell rubber, tin and other strategic raw materials to the U. S. outside the high-priced Dutch cartels. The Dutch are resisting this by armed force.

Bridges and Taber want to know where the Dutch are getting the money for these costly military operations. The Dutch deny they are using ERP and loan funds. But at the same time they are getting these huge handouts on the claim they are broke.

It doesn't add up, to Bridges and Taber.

Note—It also isn't adding up to European Co-operation Administrator Paul Hoffman. He, too, is quietly checking what the Dutch are doing with the large sums they are getting from the U. S.

Best-Seller

The U. S. Government is profiting very handsomely from the diary of the late and unlamented Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister. To date, the publication has netted the Alien Property Custodian over $300,000.

Found by a German in Berlin's rubble, the manuscript was initially traded for 16 cartons of cigarettes. For awhile, it looked like the lucky American publisher would make a big killing from book, magazine and newspaper syndication sales. But Assistant Attorney General David Bazalon stepped in and claimed the work as U. S. property. It's been paying off to the U. S. Treasury since.

Around The World

Britain's popular Princess Margaret Rose will visit the U. S. next year . . . . So far, Chiang Kai-shek has obtained less than 25 per cent of the $1,000,000 he has asked wealthy Chinese to contribute for the relief of war refugees. At the same time, Chiang is trying to get a new $200,000,000 U. S. loan to back his new currency . . . . The number of ball bearings authorized by the Office of International Trade for export to satellite Czechoslovakia is 7,106,000. Czechoslovakia is now one of Russia's biggest munitions producers . . . The Society For The Prevention Of World War III is vigorously opposing the appointment of Thomas McKittrick as chief ECA financial adviser. It is charged that throughout the war McKittrick was an official of the Bank For International Settlements in Switzerland. The bank is alleged to have had close Nazi ties.

Loss Of Peace Laid To Acts Of Roosevelt With Joe Stalin

By MARK SULLIVAN

In surrent issues of Life Magazine, Mr. Williab C. Bullit writes on "How We Won the War and Lost the Peace." The articles are Mr. Bullit's answer to the question that rises in the mind of every American, harasses his anxious days and restles nights. The quetion might be phraed, "How did we get where we now are?"

Mr. Bullitt's answer states the boundaries of what has been for America an era of tragic disillusion. First, where we were when the war ended: "Three years ago we forced our enemies . . . to surrnder unconditionally. We stood on a summit of power rarely scaled by any nation . . . We seemed to be in a position of unique security."

Then, three years later: "Today our insecurity is such that we may be forced into war this year." If that seems extreme, it is only the timing and the degree of our danger that is doubtful in men's minds. Every American knows the reason for the draft that went into effect as Mr. Bullitt's articles were published.

Many Mistakes Made Earlier

But it is not with the last three years that Mr. Bullitt mainly deals, nor with Mr. Truman as President during that period. He treats mistakes made by Mr. Truman, severely, but says that lack of experience and understanding about foreign relations was the principal reason. But, says Mr. Bullitt, "Many of our mistakes were made before Mr. Truman became President." Not merely many, most of them. Mr. Truman came into office as the inheritor of a status, a situation of which the basis and pattern had been created by actions of President Roosevelt.

For discussion of Roosevelt's actions, Mr. Bullitt is uniquely equipped. He was close to Roosevelt personally and officially. When Roosevelt, early in his Administration, reversed our previous policy, recognized the Communist government and sent an ambassador to Moscow, he chose Mr. Bullitt for the post, largely because Mr. Bullitt was, at that time, sympathetic to Russia. After Mr. Bullitt, by close acquaintance, became disillusioned about the Communist government, Roosevelt made him Ambassador to France. Later he was a kind of ambassador at large and personal representative of Roosevelt.

After Mr. Bullitt became disillusioned about Russia, he steadily urged upon Roosevelt that the purpose of the Communist Soviet government was world dominion, almost passionately advised Roosevelt against the policy Roosevelt was following. But Roosevelt said: "Bill, I don't dispute wour facts . . . your reasoning; I just have a hunch that Stalin is not that kind of man." Roosevelt's attitude toward Stalin was to "Give him eveything I possibly can and ask nothing from him in return."

It was in this attitude that Roosevelt heaped lease-lend aid upon Stalin, without asking in return any promise about post-war arrangements or otherwise. Mr. Bullitt bears strongly on th If Roosevelt had procured such promise he would have been protected from demands which Stalin subsequently made, and steps he took which gave him the leverage, territorial and otherwise, which he now uses against us.

Truman Is Truman Plus Roosevelt

Roosevelt's unwillingness to ask promises in return for lease-lend was only one detail of his attitude toward Stalin and Russia. The whole of that attitude is latent in the present campaign, even though the bi-partisan position on foreign relations may minimize mention of it. In the minds of many voters the Democratic candidate is not merely Truman but Truman plus Roosevelt.

But the effect on one political campaign is minor compared to the historical importance of Roosevelt's conduct of our relations to Russia and to the war generally. What is now taking place, through such accounts as Mr. Bullitt's and many others, is a valuation for history, a gradual unfolding of the pattern of what went on. For such a valuation, the materials are becoming abundant. A remarkable phenomenon is the number of autobiographical books written, so soon after the events, by associates of Roosevelt. Of the ten cabinet posts, occupants of six have written memoirs—Secretaries of State Hull; Treasury, Morgenthau; War, Stimson; Labor, Frances Perkins; Interior, Ickes; Commerce, Wallace; Postmaster General Farley. Others have been written by Mr. James F. Byrnes, who was assistant to Roosevelt and later Secretary of State under Truman; Ambassadors to Russia Davies, and to Poland, Lane; Roosevelt's wife Eleanor and his son Elliott. The private papers of Harry Hopkins, a close aide to Roosevelt throughout his Administration, have been edited by Mr. Robert Sherwood, also a close aide, and are being published. Other memoirs are in preparation. Most of the memoirs are, naturally, favorable to Roosevelt, though some, like Mr. Bullitt's, are strongly critical as will be some future ones.

Hughes' Determinated Purpose Was To Let Office Seek The Man

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—Because Charles Evans Hughes attained an unparalleled eminence in America and really never sought a single public office, the background of his career contains many a lesson worth studying by those who aspire to public service.

Charles Evans Hughes will go down in history as the man who was appointed to the Supreme Court largely to take him out of the way of the presidential nomination because of the antagonisms of party organization men but who later was taken off the bench to serve that same party in a contest for the presidency.

President Theodore Roosevelt in 1908 could have secured for Mr. Hughes the Republican nomination for the presidency, but Hughes, by his independence of politicians, had alienated the Republican organization in New York State. Thus, the late David S. Barry, veteran correspondent, in his book "Forty Years In Washington," writes:

"As was well understood at the time, President Roosevelt and Governor Hughes of New York did not get along very well together. In political matters especially, Mr. Hughes followed an entirely independent course without regard to the wishes and preferences of President Roosevelt. Taking advantage, probably, of this situation of affairs in New York state, George B. Cortelyou (Mr. Roosevelt's secretary of the treasury) and his personal friends got it into their heads that he might secure the presidential nomination . . . Mr. Cortelyou was confident he would get the vote of New York state."

Significant Piece of Evidence

But the most significant piece of evidence comes from Theodore Roosevelt himself. In a letter to Lawrence Abbott in 1912, recounting what happened in 1908, he wrote:

"I could not have nominated an extreme progressive or an extreme conservative but I could by a turn of the hand have thrown the nomination to either Taft or Hughes . . . I chose Taft rather than Hughes."

There was an incident in which Mr. Roosevelt, while President, had endeavored, through the use of patronage in an appointment of Archie Sanders as internal revenue collector, to influence the votes of two assemblymen in the New York state legislature. Even though it was intended to be of help to Governor Hughes, the latter refused the assistance because, while he wanted and needed the votes, he didn't want them that way. The late Henry L. Stoddard, New York newspaper editor, writes of this rebuke of Roosevelt by Hughes in a book entitled "As I Knew Them: Presidents and Politics From Grant to Coolidge":

"I am not prepared to say that except for the Sanders incident Roosevelt would have supported Hughes in 1908, but I am certain that it led Roosevelt to feel that Hughes was almost the last candidate he cared to see nominated as his successor."

Mr. Stoddard tells of the fight inside New York State between the Republican state organization and Governor Hughes in 1910, when William Howard Taft had been President for two years. He writes:

"Hughes went into a struggle for direct state-wide primaries. The party 'organization' opposed the legislation . . . In the midst of it came Taft's offer to Hughes to become Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. The 'organization' rejoiced that Hughes would now be put out of the way, but the Governor outgeneralled them. He accepted the appointment with the proviso that he would not be called upon to take his place on the bench until the legislature had adjourned."

Taft's Maneuvering

To what extent President Taft wanted to get Hughes out of his way to insure his own renomination in 1912 will never be known, but at the time it was generally considered that the appointment to the bench not only helped the Republican organization in New York state but took Hughes out of any future contest for the presidency.

In these dispatches a couple of days ago, the date of the Hughes appointment to the court was erroneously given as 1907 instead of 1910 and it was the effort of the Republican organization in New York state rather than that of Theodore Roosevelt which is generally credited with the initiative that removed Hughes. Henry Stoddard's appraisal of Hughes, written in 1927, is worth reproducing here. He wrote in his book:

"It is commonplace to say of any man that there are none like him, but it is so true of Hughes that I cannot help saying it. You may search the careers of all the men in our public life for a century and a half and you will not find a career like his. He has never sought public office; he has never asked any individual to speak for him; or to work for his advancement . . .

"In a word, Hughes has been Governor, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, presidential nominee and Secretary of State without ever having expended so much as a postage stamp and without ever having uttered, or authorized others to utter, a single word in his behalf. Here is a remarkable record . . . it reveals a determined purpose to let the office seek the man, uninfluenced by personal appeals or manipulation of delegates."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

National Defense

A FUNNY paper is published in New York, calling itself "The New Yorker", which I never buy because it is not funny enough. It suffers from a stereotyped iconoclasm more fitted to the sophomoric mood of the budding intellectual cynicism of the 1930's than to these days.

It now looks like an old man with grey whiskers trying to play at emerging out of youth.

So somebody sends me a clipping from this funny paper and it continues the "Merchants of Death" talk of the Nye Committee and the then emerging Commies who are now burning their correspondence and denying that they ever did anything.

It bawls out General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Chief of Staff of the United States Air Force, for adopting the slogan, "Air Power Is Peace Power."

Well, General Vandenberg may be right or wrong, that not being the subject of the present discussion. This "New Yorker" enters upon a polemic on the subject of national defense. It says:

". . . Air power, like any other sort of fighting power, is victory power, or defeat power. Naturally, the hope of aerial people and non-aerial people alike is that America's air strength will be so great nobody will dare challenge it, and that, in that sense, it will be peace power. They also hope that if challenged it will prevail.

But it is unfortunately true that the mere existence and growth of military power are a sort of provocation to other nations, whose governments feel either the obligation or the desire to outstrip it . . ."

This is an old, old argument which caught this country with its defenses down in 1931 and gave us Pearl Harbor in 1941. The idea is that this country disarms but its potential enemies arm.

Then comes the pay-off and Uncle Sam has two hands tied behind his back. The gentlemen of "The New Yorker" ought, when they can take time off, to study the history of the Nye Committee and the Japanese secret fleet built after the Washington Disarmament Conference.

This time our potential — and present—enemy is Soviet Russia. I have maintained that that country has been our enemy consistently and constantly since 1917 and must be according to the basic tenets of Marxism. On that subject there are differences of opinion, but there can be no difference of opinion that Soviet Russia is utilizing all its potentials to arm against the United States; that that country has reduced the production of consumers' goods to increase its output of war goods; that it has built an enormous fleet of schnorkel submarines which can only be used for war; that it maintains the largest standing army for the conquest of Western Europe and China that any country has ever had in peacetime.

Also, that it has maintained an espionage corps in this country even while we were presumably allied, with the object of stealing the fruits of our inventiveness.

The United States could, of course, adopt a totally isolationist position. We could decide to withdraw all our troops and defenses from all parts of the world and sit back to wait for the Russians to come at us as soon as they have consolidated their position in Europe and Asia.

Does "The New Yorker"—so interventionist during the last war—want us to do that? Is the famous Mr. Ross, its editor, prepared to say now, after the fact, that the conquest of Europe by Hitler was wrong but that it is a virtue when done by Stalin? If that is the thesis, why not say so?

Also, this funny paper takes the view that we ought to go in for "developing the federal world structure." And they are for that sort of thing after watching the United Nations and the Russian use of the veto and all the effort this country has put forth to make it a parliament of man and all the resistance we have met, particularly at the hands of the Russians, who at this moment are pushing us out of Berlin. It begins to look as though some Americans are so doctrinaire that they would pursue their private theories even at the cost of killing the United States.

Don't know what Joe Stalin is talking about but he sure can stuff bubble-gum with consonants.

He's pulling the visiting diplomat gimmick used by the great Khans of Tatary. When you have a sucker in the waiting-room keep him waiting.

It makes my soup-stock boil when I read about American ambassadors cooling their bunions on Joe's doorstep. Shicklegruber milked that racket until the cow went dry.

What I want to see is Uncle Joe on the capitol steps with his hat in his hand. Come to think about the matter a fellow named LaFayette owes us two visits.

Cheerfulness

There is medicinal value to cheerfulness. It reacts not only upon the one who gives it, but upon all who come in contact with it. A cheerful home, office, or even a cheerful nation (rare as are such nations these days).

I was ill in a hospital some years ago, and I looked for, or awaited, anxiously for the surgeon who came to visit me each day. I could hear his laugh way down the hall before he reached my room, but that cheerfulness raised the entire morale of the hospital the moment he entered, for no one could mistake that man's entrance. We had a family doctor, in my youth who had this quality, and I recall my Mother's saying that his medicine began to act even before he prescribed it. He was medicine.

It isn't easy to be cheerful in disappointment, failure, loss, or when seriously ill, but I have met cheerful folks during all of these experiences. You see you feed yourself when you are cheerful. Pippa, the little silk worker, in Browning's poem "Pippa Passes" only had one day of vacation a year, but what a day she made of that one! She romped with joy. She saw nothing but goodness and beauty in the world, and she was like a dancing light in a world of evil and darkness.

An old schoolmate of Dr. Johnson's made himself famous by one remark, when he told the old doctor that he, too, had tried to be a philosopher, but that he didn't know how — "cheerfulness was always breaking in!"

Cheerfulness in the first morning hour can key the entire day, and make it both eventful and profitable. Who wouldn't prefer to trade with a cheerful clerk, in preference to one who wore a frozen face! Cheerfulness has monetary value, though it sometimes has to wait in order to draw interest upon it. It's an investment, however, the moment that it breaks out.

I have talked with nurses in hospitals and they have told me that they went out of their way to do things for their cheerful patients, for that cheerfulness became a part of their remuneration. I have known friends of mine whom I knew had sorrow locked within their hearts, and I have known those who suffered daily, and yet carried that cheerful front. Oh, this cheerfulness is a rich thing to own!

Bakery Workers Will Act On Schmidt Offer

Members of Local 246, Bakery Workers Union, AFL, will meet Saturday at 2 p. m. in the union hall to act on a wage and contract offer made by the Schmidt Baking Company, Harold M. Dixon, union president, announced yesterday.

He said a counter wage proposal was made by the firm at a lengthy meeting which opened Tuesday night.

Dixon said negotiations between the union and the Ort, Community and McIntyre Bakeries are continuing on shop-to-shop basis. The union last week set a strike deadline for Saturday at midnight.

Teachers' Meeting Planned Friday

Allegany County high and elementary school teachers will attend a pre-class meeting Friday at Allegany High School, with Dr Hamden L. Forkner, professor of education at Columbia University, scheduled as the principal speaker.

School will open Tuesday, but Dr Charles L. Kopp, school superintendent, said previous plans to open with full sessions have been changed and classes will be dismissed at noon on Tuesday and Wednesday with a full schedule planned for Thursday.

The teachers' meeting will open at 10 a. m. and will also be addressed by Dr. Kopp. The meeting is an annual affair held just prior to the opening of school to discuss education policy.

Yesterday Dr. Kopp issued a statement for parents asking that children be prompt in registering for school. Most school failures result from pupil indifference and poor school attendance, he said.

Just Between Us

Will That Summer Romance Outlast Winter Separation?

By NANCY MOTTRAM

"I've just come back from my summer vacation, and I met someone while I was away whom I think is just marvelous. But I'm going with another fellow in my home town, and I want to break up with him because I prefer the boy I met. Do you think I should?"

Nancy Mottram

That situation is definitely not unusual. You take off for the summer and in nine out of ten cases, you meet a lakeshore version of Guy Madison, and that's that for the boy back home as far as you're concerned. All that sea and shore and sun help to convince you that you've met "the" man of the hour, and you're ready to toss over any other lad in your life.

It can be a mistake though, and before you make up your mind and follow through, think it over carefully. Maybe a "summer romance" is new to you, and at this time, terrifically important. You've made long and complete plans about letter writing, and seeing each other as often as possible during vacations. The interest is there on both sides, and since you've been home, you haven't missed telling anyone all about him. But there's still the home town boy to be considered. What are you going to do about that?

Bear in mind that the tall, tan and terrific lad is going to be living and going to school with his crowd some miles away from your own stamping grounds. You might see him ocasionally as the months roll by until next summer—and you might not. Quite a bit of time is going to elapse between this summer's sojourn and next year, and Saturday date nights in between. He's not going to want to miss out on all these doings when he gets back, and the same thing applies to you.

Those days of swimming and canoeing and picnicing with him during vacation were out of this world. You won't forget them, nor will he. But fall is near and you'll be together with your old gang of fellows and girls from now on. No matter how you might rush home every afternoon, hoping for a letter, it won't quite make up for those nights of sitting home with the radio while all your best pals are out having fun.

That's why a promise to go steady is out of place. You two might have meant it, but time and distance have to be reckoned with too. Eventually, one or both of you might begin to regret it—and it can't be talked over face to face. A few cool, matter of fact letters can ruin everything, and instead of eagerly looking forward to seeing him again next July, you'll grow to dread it.

While it lasted, it was wonderful, but he belongs in that special vacation time and place. And before you voluntarily become a hermit, think over the situation from all angles. Are you sure you're making the wisest decision?

If you have a school, family or friend problem, Nancy can help you. Letters are answered in this column.

Will That Summer Romance Outlast Winter Separation?

By NANCY MOTTRAM

Amvets Lose Ground In Tight Bi-State League Race

Giants Defeat Pirates; End Losing Skein

Pittsburgh Drops Five-Hitter, 3-1

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1 (AP) — Southpaw Monte Kennedy put a temporary chill on Pittsburgh pennant hopes tonight with a five hit performance as the New York Giants defeated the Pirates 3 to 1 to end a seven-game losing streak. The Giants got all three runs off veteran Ernie Bonham in the fifth inning. The game attracted 33,946 fans.

The Giants bunched four singles to score all their runs off Bonham in the fifth inning to give Kennedy his second triumph.

The fast-balling Giant lefty struck out nine, walked six, and lost his shutout on an unearned run in the ninth. Box:

Joe's Crusaders upset the second-place Reed's Electricians at East Side yesterday, scoring a 7-6 decision in eight innings in a game played under protest by the losers.

Ray Cleggett's single with the bases loaded scored the winning run for Joe's in the bottom half of the eighth inning after the Crusaders had rallied for two runs in each the sixth and seventh innings to knot the count at 6-6 and send the game into extra innings.

Reed's protested the game stating that Joe's used an ineligible player—Bill McProuty. A meeting will be held tonight at 8:30 p. m. at Amvets home to air the protest and discuss other important matters concerning the loop.

In other tilts yesterday, the league-leading Amvets continued their winning way, defeating North End by a 5-1 score at Campobello. Astor Cab upset Lacy's 12-5 at Rolling Mill behind the six-hit pitching of Bill Underdonk and Astor Restaurant won a wild and woolly fray over Ballard's, 14-12, at Taylor Field.

Doyle George, Lefty Lee and Tommy Geatz each collected two singles for the Amvets as Allan Sheetz racked up his 25th pitching win of the season against five losses.

Harry Dean and Johnny Cox each pounded homers and collected three hits apiece to pace Astor Cab while "Bee" Orndorff and Hardy had a triple and double respectively for Lacy's.

Manager "Moose" Manges pitched two hit ball the final three innings of the game for Astor Restaurant to win the fray when the Restaurant tossers smashed over nine runs in the fifth inning to edge Ballard's. "Punk" Neal collected four hits for the lossers.

Reed's meet the Amvets in a crucial two game series for first place today and tomorrow, at Campobello. A split will leave the Amvets in first place while a double win for Reed's would deadlock the two teams for the lead. The scores:

Keller's Big Day

You can get an idea of Charlie Keller's type from this incident—when they wanted to give him a "Keller Day," the Yankee outfielder insisted that all receipts taken in be used for a Maryland University scholarship for some needy youth.

That would be Charlie Keller's way. The Yankee outfielder graduated from Maryland 11 years ago, came to Newark in 1937 and reported to the Yankees in 1939. He was not only a great ballplayer at Maryland but also an honor student and one of the most popular fellows on the Maryland campus.

I asked him once where he got that pair of hands—the most powerful looking I'd seen in baseball. "Milking twelve cows every morning," Charlie said with a grin.

"The luckiest thing that ever happened to baseball," Red Barrett said once, "is that Charlie Keller happens to be good natured."

Keller was born in Middletown, Md., in September, 1916, some 32 years ago. He came from the right state as a slugger—the state that gave the game Babe Ruth, Jimmy Foxx and Home-Run Baker. In his first year with the Yankees, Keller hit .334 and followed this with a world series mark of .438. Except for the roughest luck you can imagine, he could have been one of the greatest power men of the game.

He was on his way to lead the American League in all power departments when he broke an ankle. He was heading back when war arrived and took him away from the scene in his prime. Once again he fought his way up, then a spinal injury cut him down. Now he is coming along again in his fourth surge.

Maryland University, under the direction of Curley Byrd, is moving up in both education and athletic ranking. Under coach Jim Tatum's sound guidance and a few better football players, it will be a new football factor this fall, a worthy opponent for any team it meets. It could be said here that Maryland graduates and Maryland students are proud of student Keller and ballplayer Keller, who has never broken a training rule in his career, either via the alcohol or nicotine route.

Keller could have accepted Keller Day with the usual thanks. In place of this, the Yankee hitter insisted that the main benefits to be derived on such a day should be given in the form of a scholarship or scholarships to deserving young men who wanted a college education.

Mr. Harry Watts, a nationally known contractor, also a former Maryland graduate is head of the Maryland Committee. I have an idea the alert Mr. Watts will see that in some way or another, the powerful Mr. Keller gets at least a bag of peanuts or popcorn—in addition to Maryland scholarships.

Elks Top Moose 2-0; Take Series

The Cumberland B. P. O. Elks softball team won the Rocking Chair softball league title yesterday at Community Park by edging the defending champion L. O. O. Moose, 2-0, behind the steady, 4-hit pitching of Jimmy Wilkinson.

The victory enabled the Elks, runners-up last year, to take the best of three series in two straight games. The winners copped the opener Monday by the score of 4 to 3.

Frank Fogtman, home on leave from the army, pitched a sparkling four-hitter to almost match Wilkinson's elbowing, but a homerun ball to Bruce Mackey in the second and two errors and a squeeze bunt which scored Van Roby from third in the fourth proved his downfall.

Pete Lear garnered two of the winners' four bingles while Roby collected a double in addition to Mackey's round-tripper. Frank Williams, Ed Schrader, Fogtman and "Stony" Jackson shared the Moose hits, the latter's being a double.

Bill Spangler starred afield for the winners, handling eight chances at second base without a mishap. The score:

MOOSE ..... 000 000 0—0 4 3
ELKS ..... 010 100 x—2 4 2
Fogtman and Roberts. J. Wilkinson and Garlitz.

Allegany Grove Tops Ellerslie, 8 To 3

Allegany Grove defeated Ellerslie at the latter place yesterday by the score of 8 to 3 in the only Allegany County Softball League played.

LaRue paced the winners' 13-hit attack with three hits in four official trips to the plate. Bennett stopped the home team with two hits. The score:

ALLEGANY GROVE .. 023 012 0—8 13 2

Roe Hurls Second Straight Shutout

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 — (INS) — Brooklyn's pennant-hungry Dodgers stepped up their slim National League lead today by punishing the last-place Chicago Cubs 6 to 0 on the four-hit pitching of Preacher Roe.

Johnny Schmitz became the losing pitcher as early as the first inning, when the Dodgers scored an unearned run, but it remained for an error by Andy Pafko to pave the way to decisive four-run Dodger burst in the third. Gene Hermanski homered in the next inning for Brooklyn's final run. Box:

BRAVES-REDS SPLIT

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Boston Braves lost headway in their battle to regain first place in the National League today as they split a double header with Cincinnati, taking the nightcap 11-1 after the Reds had won the opener 3-1.

The split enabled the front-running Brooklyn Dodgers, who defeated Chicago, to extend their lead over Boston to a half-game.

Johnny Vander Meer pitched five-hit ball for the first game victory but the Braves came back with a 21-hit attack to coast in on the nightcap. It was Vandy's 12th win as against 13 losses. Box:

Brooklyn Gridders Play "Babby-Sitter" To 4-Year-Old Tot

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—Brooklyn's football Dodgers became aerial baby-sitters today as they departed by plane for San Francisco where they meet the 49ers in an All-America Conference game Sunday.

Accompanying them aboard a chartered Trans-World Airlines plane was four-year-old Itienne Bjorkvall-Garde of Oslo, Norway, enroute to join his mother, Mrs. Gosta Edberg, in San Francisco.

The youngster arrived here last week and had been staying with an aunt in Brooklyn. The aunt had expected to send him by air to his mother, who left him in Norway when she went by ship to San Francisco to marry Egberg six weeks ago.

But airline regulations insist that children under eight years old must be accompanied by an adult. The aunt, unable to make the trip herself, was stumped.

That's when the Dodgers stepped in. They heard of the youngster's plight and offered to take him across the country with them.

Jeannette Signs New Baltimore Contract

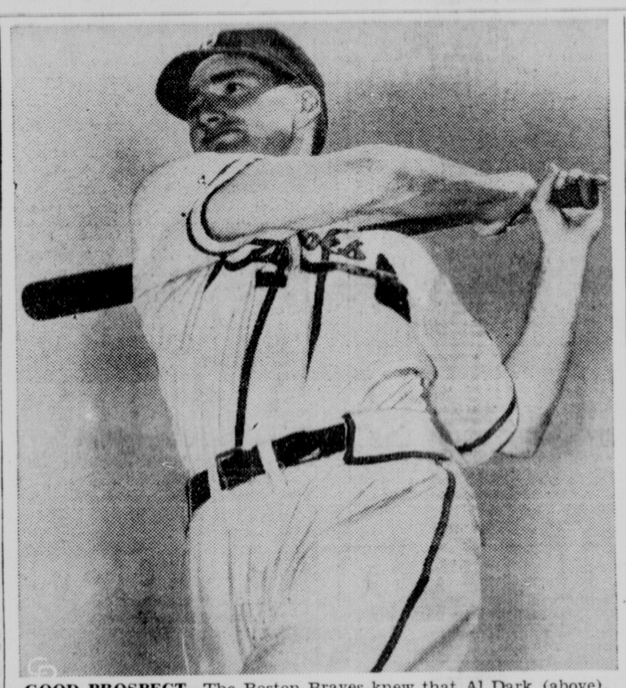
BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP) — The championship Baltimore Bullets of the Basketball Association of America announced today signing of a three-year contract with Buddy Jeannette to continue as player-coach.

At the same time the 31-year-old Jeannette disclosed he had reconsidered his thoughts of retiring as a player. Last season his "clutch" playmaking and shooting was a decisive factor in the Bullets' drive to the championship.

Jeannette coached Baltimore to two successive America league titles in 1946 and 1947 before leading them to the title in the faster BAA last year.

Giants Play Bombers

The Piedmont Giants baseball team will play the Kingwood Bombers at Memorial Park, Westernport, Sunday, Sept. 5 at 2:30 p. m.



GOOD PROSPECT—The Boston Braves knew that Al Dark (above), rookie shortstop, was a good prospect, but they didn't know he was as good as he has shown to be. Dark is hitting .335 and is second in the National League hit parade.

Chandler Remains Mum On New "Housecleaning"

LEGION AND MOOSE MEET IN INTERSTATE LOOP GAME TODAY

The first place Cumberland American Legion team and the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose, occupant of 7th place, will clash in an Interstate Baseball League game today at 5:15 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

Manager Bill Bracey's tossers have won two games thus far and a victory today would enable them to sweep the series.

Jack Kauffman or Lefty Pat Creegan will be on the firing line for the Legion while Clingan, Moler or Perrell will work on the rubber for the Moose.

Tigers Reportedly "Covered" Players

DETROIT, Sept. 1 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler remained mum today on a published report that baseball in general, and particularly the Detroit Tigers, are "heading toward another housecleaning."

Contacted at Versailles, Ky., Chandler said he had "no comment" on a Detroit News report that he was aiming a new blow at the Detroit baseball club's farm system.

The News, in a page one story, said Chandler would crack down early this fall on violations of the rule against so-called gentlemen's agreements and evasions of the bonus rule.

The blast was said to be aimed principally at the Tigers, whose farm system was shattered in 1940 by the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis, then the game's commissioner. The new blow would rival "the great emancipation of 1940," the News said, naming nine minor leaguers the Tigers allegedly "covered up."

Tiger General Manager Billy Evans, however, said he had heard nothing of such an investigation.

"This is the first knowledge I have had of this," Evans declared. "None of these ballplayers was acquired during my time here, and I wouldn't know anything about such deals."

"I haven't had a single word from the commissioner. If this story is true there must have been a leak somewhere in the commissioner's office," Evans said.

Chandler was reported preparing summons for several baseball executives, including officials of the Dallas Rebels, a Texas league club.

It was "undercover" deals between the Tigers and the Rebels, the newspaper said, that first drew Chandler's attention.

The News said Chandler would summon the following men to his headquarters in Cincinnati:

J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas League; Milton E. Price, Texas League secretary and president of the West-Texas-New Mexico League; Richard W. Burnett, owner, and Bobby Goff, business manager of the Dallas club; George and Julius Schepps, who sold the Dallas franchise to Burnett, and Jack Zeller, present chief scout of the Boston Braves.

Zeller was general manager of the Tigers when Landis cracked the whip, freeing 91 Tiger-owned players and fining Zeller for his party in the deals.

Soon after this Zeller began breaking up the Tiger farm system, declaring Detroit could get on without any farm clubs.

Zeller resigned Jan. 1, 1946, to be replaced by George M. Trautman, present czar of the minor leagues. Under Trautman and Evans the Tigers have been rebuilding their farm tieups.

Gene Dahlbender Pulls Two Upsets In Golf Tourney

Defeats Riegel And Harris In Amateur

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 1 (AP)—A chubby, sweet-swinging southerner from Bobby Jones' hometown — Atlanta's Gene Dahlbender — brushed aside two national champions today to establish himself as the "player to beat" in the 48th amateur golf tournament.

The blond bomber from Georgia began his day's work by eliminating defending titlist Robert (Skee) Riegel of Monterey Park, Calif. He followed with a 3 and 2 triumph over Robert Harris of Los Gatos, Calif., the U. S. college king.

This double-barreled achievement as the field was whittled to 16 buoyed Dixie's hopes for its first native winner since Jones won his fifth amateur in 1930.

The road to the championship, however, looms as no easy one for Dahlbender or any of the other aspirants left after three full days of eliminations over the 6,617-yard Memphis Country Club course.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, seeking to add the U. S. to the British and Canadian crowns he already holds, is still around swinging—and getting tougher with each day.

In the running also are Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., the bulldog competitor who won the crown in 1939 and 1941, and Wee Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., the polished stroker who captured the National in 1938 and the British Amateur in 1947.

Stranahan, playing spottily but spurting brilliance in tight places, ousted William Y. Stembler, 40-year-old Miami, Fla., boxing commissioner, 3 and 2, and Richard (Bubba) Smart of Pine Bluff, Ark., 3 and 1.

Ward won over G. M. Trammell, Jr., of Nashville, a promising Vanderbilt University sophomore, 3 and 2, and then took the measure of Albert Stone of Jackson, Tenn., 2 and 1.

Turnesa, playing unspectacularly but with remarkable steadiness, trounced Tyrell Garth of Beaumont, Tex., 2 and 1, and Robert Knowles of Brookline, Mass., 3 and 2.

Maryland's Bob Brownell of Norbeck was eliminated by Clarke Hardwicke, movie actor from Los Angeles, 3 and 2.

Redskins And Rams To Collide Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1 (INS) — A football crowd of 85,000 is expected to turn out in Memorial Coliseum tomorrow night to watch the Los Angeles Rams and the Washington Redskins tangle in a pre-season charity contest.

Main lure of the massive mob will be a promised duel between Slingin' Sammy Baugh, Washington's magnificent passer, and Lt. Glenn Davis, Army's three-time All-American.

Davis, who is slated for an overseas assignment immediately after the game, will be making his professional debut.

Maryland Opens Football Drills

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 1—(AP)—About the only question Coach Jim Tatum had to be decided today as he opened his 1948 fall football practice at the University of Maryland was—"will Lu Gambino play?"

There were 26 lettermen among the 65 candidates reporting and it was just a case of picking up where they left off last winter and spring.

Only three lettermen were missing and of them only end George Simler was a starter. Elmer Wingate, who played as much as Simler last year, stepped into the left end slot and the team which wound up in the 'Gator Bowl was ready to go again.

That is, with the exception of the eligibility question mark hanging over Gambino's head. The Executive Committee of the Southern Conference will decide in Richmond, Va., tomorrow whether he can play.

Until then, Coach Tatum is going along on the assumption the team's high scorer will be in there. If he isn't, Tatum then will ponder what changes in his offensive plans will be necessary.

Red Sox Blast Tigers, 10 To 1, To Hold Margin

Kramer Chalks Up 15th Pitching Win

BOSTON, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox maintained their top-place American League lead today by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 10-1, to give righthander Jack Kramer his 15th pitching win. It was the Tiger's final visit to Fenway Park, where they lost nine of their 11 starts this season.

The Sockers blasted four pitchers for 10 hits and also collected seven bases on balls, three of which forced in runs.

Virgil Trucks opened for Detroit and had a one-hitter going until he started to wilt in the fifth, during which the Sockers scored twice on two-baggers by Billy Goodman and Dom DiMaggio and singles by Birdie Tebbetts and Billy Hitchcock.

Trucks blew sky-high in the sixth, when the Red Sox set off a seven-run rally. Ted Williams launched it with his only hit of the game and the bases became jammed when Stan Spence walked and Goodman hit safely.

Trucks was yanked for Hal White after Tebbetts walked to force in the third Boston run and Hitchcock drove in two more tallies with with a single.

White opened by walking Kramer to repack the bases. When he gave the Sockers their sixth run by passing DiMaggio, Lefty Bill Pierce replaced him. The latter was greeted by Johnny Pesky's three-run triple.

Kramer gave the Tigers eight hits and two bases on balls and trailed, 1-0, after the first of the fifth, during which Trucks was driven in by Johnny Lipon's three bagger. The game, which drew a 22,374 crowd, ended a home stay during which the Red Sox won 12 out of 15 games. Box.

BERRA'S HOMER WINS

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (INS)—Yogi Berra walloped a homer into the right field seats today to give the New York Yankees a 5 to 4 victory over the St. Louis Browns in 12 innings.

Berra's extra-inning blast handed starter Fred Sanford his 17th loss and kept the world champions in the midst of the American League pennant scramble.

The Yankees notched single tallies in the first, sixth, seventh, and ninth, the latter run tying the count at 4 to 4.

Al Zarilla and Les Moss hit homers for the losing Brownies. George Stirnweiss whacked a four-bagger for the Bombers in the seventh.

Rookie Bob Porterfield, who took over in the 10th inning, was credited with the win, his fourth. Box:

Pioneers' Coach Will Settle For Four Grid Wins

Romney Will Play 10; Navy Gets Quarterback

Coach Richard "Dick" McElwee is willing to settle for four wins out of a total of 10 football games on Romney High School's schedule this fall.

The Pioneers of Hampshire county, W. Va., had a successful season in 1947, winning seven and losing three games but McElwee lost three of his four stars who made the all-conference eleven, three other backs through graduation and a back and an end to the navy.

"The player I lost to the navy was my quarterback and the only good passer I've had since I've been here," McElwee laments.

Sid Roach, the only holdover among the four Romney gridders who made the all-conference team a year ago, played center in 1947, and will probably be shifted to fullback this year.

"You can see we're in for a long, rough year," the Blue and Gray mentor commented. "Four wins will be a good year but I'm not counting on that even."

The only thing on the bright side appears to be Romney's freshmen boys. There are five over 150 pounds and if they stay in school, pass their work and grow—look out, McElwee warns.

"I expect they will help us some this year but you know how it is until they get at least one season under their belts."

Forty candidates are out for the team. The squad includes five 1947 regulars, namely, Sid Roach, Bill Deskins, Bob Maphis, Leo Everette and Bob Sirk. Other lettermen are Bill Loy, Don Maphis, Garland Smoot, Harmison Noel, Bill Sirk, Rollin McCleary, Dan Wagoner and Ralph Hickman.

The ten seniors, 14 juniors, nine sophomores and seven freshmen on the squad and their weights are as follows:

Pittsburgh Drops Five-Hitter, 3-1

The Giants bunched four singles to score all their runs off Bonham in the fifth inning to give Kennedy his second triumph.

Joe's Crusaders upset the second-place Reed's Electricians at East Side yesterday, scoring a 7-6 decision in eight innings in a game played under protest by the losers.

Ray Cleggett's single with the bases loaded scored the winning run for Joe's in the bottom half of the eighth inning after the Crusaders had rallied for two runs in each the sixth and seventh innings to knot the count at 6-6 and send the game into extra innings.

Reed's protested the game stating that Joe's used an ineligible player—Bill McProuty. A meeting will be held tonight at 8:30 p. m. at Amvets home to air the protest and discuss other important matters concerning the loop.

In other tilts yesterday, the league-leading Amvets continued their winning way, defeating North End by a 5-1 score at Campobello. Astor Cab upset Lacy's 12-5 at Rolling Mill behind the six-hit pitching of Bill Underdonk and Astor Restaurant won a wild and woolly fray over Ballard's, 14-12, at Taylor Field.

Doyle George, Lefty Lee and Tommy Geatz each collected two singles for the Amvets as Allan Sheetz racked up his 25th pitching win of the season against five losses.

Harry Dean and Johnny Cox each pounded homers and collected three hits apiece to pace Astor Cab while "Bee" Orndorff and Hardy had a triple and double respectively for Lacy's.

Manager "Moose" Manges pitched two hit ball the final three innings of the game for Astor Restaurant to win the fray when the Restaurant tossers smashed over nine runs in the fifth inning to edge Ballard's. "Punk" Neal collected four hits for the lossers.

Reed's meet the Amvets in a special two game series for first place today and tomorrow, at Campobello. A split will leave the Amvets in first place while a double win for Reed's would deadlock the two teams for the lead. The scores:

Keller's Big Day

You can get an idea of Charlie Keller's type from this incident—when they wanted to give him a "Keller Day," the Yankee outfielder insisted that all receipts taken in be used for a Maryland University scholarship for some needy youth.

That would be Charlie Keller's way. The Yankee outfielder graduated from Maryland 11 years ago, came to Newark in 1937 and reported to the Yankees in 1939. He was not only a great ballplayer at Maryland but also an honor student and one of the most popular fellows on the Maryland campus.

I asked him once where he got that pair of hands—the most powerful looking I'd seen in baseball. "Milking twelve cows every morning," Charlie said with a grin.

"The luckiest thing that ever happened to baseball," Red Barrett said once, "is that Charlie Keller happens to be good natured."

Keller was born in Middletown, Md., in September, 1916, some 32 years ago. He came from the right state as a slugger—the state that gave the game Babe Ruth, Jimmy Foxx and Home-Run Baker. In his first year with the Yankees, Keller hit .334 and followed this with a world series mark of .438. Except for the roughest luck you can imagine, he could have been one of the greatest power men of the game.

He was on his way to lead the American League in all power departments when he broke an ankle. He was heading back when war arrived and took him away from the scene in his prime. Once again he fought his way up, then a spinal injury cut him down. Now he is coming along again in his fourth surge.

Maryland University, under the direction of Curley Byrd, is moving up in both education and athletic ranking. Under coach Jim Tatum's sound guidance and a few better football players, it will be a new football factor this fall, a worthy opponent for any team it meets. It could be said here that Maryland graduates and Maryland students are proud of student Keller and ballplayer Keller, who has never broken a training rule in his career, either via the alcohol or nicotine route.

Keller could have accepted Keller Day with the usual thanks. In place of this, the Yankee hitter insisted that the main benefits to be derived on such a day should be given in the form of a scholarship or scholarships to deserving young men who wanted a college education.

Mr. Harry Watts, a nationally known contractor, also a former Maryland graduate is head of the Maryland Committee. I have an idea the alert Mr. Watts will see that in some way or another, the powerful Mr. Keller gets at least a bag of peanuts or popcorn—in addition to Maryland scholarships.

Elks Top Moose 2-0; Take Series

The Cumberland B. P. O. Elks softball team won the Rocking Chair softball league title yesterday at Community Park by edging the defending champion L. O. O. Moose, 2-0, behind the steady, 4-hit pitching of Jimmy Wilkinson.

The victory enabled the Elks, runners-up last year, to take the best of three series in two straight games. The winners copped the opener Monday by the score of 4 to 3.

Frank Fogtman, home on leave from the army, pitched a sparkling four-hitter to almost match Wilkinson's elbowing, but a homerun ball to Bruce Mackey in the second and two errors and a squeeze bunt which scored Van Roby from third in the fourth proved his downfall.

Pete Lear garnered two of the winners' four bingles while Roby collected a double in addition to Mackey's round-tripper. Frank Williams, Ed Schrader, Fogtman and "Stony" Jackson shared the Moose hits, the latter's being a double.

Bill Spangler starred afield for the winners, handling eight chances at second base without a mishap. The score:

Allegany Grove Tops Ellerslie, 8 To 3

Allegany Grove defeated Ellerslie at the latter place yesterday by the score of 8 to 3 in the only Allegany County Softball League played.

LaRue paced the winners' 13-hit attack with three hits in four official trips to the plate. Bennett stopped the home team with two hits. The score:

Roe Hurls Second Straight Shutout

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 — (INS) — Brooklyn's pennant-hungry Dodgers stepped up their slim National League lead today by punishing the last-place Chicago Cubs 6 to 0 on the four-hit pitching of Preacher Roe.

Johnny Schmitz became the losing pitcher as early as the first inning, when the Dodgers scored an unearned run, but it remained for an error by Andy Pafko to pave the way to decisive four-run Dodger burst in the third. Gene Hermanski homered in the next inning for Brooklyn's final run. Box:

BRAVES-REDS SPLIT

CINCINNATI, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Boston Braves lost headway in their battle to regain first place in the National League today as they split a double header with Cincinnati, taking the nightcap 11-1 after the Reds had won the opener 3-1.

The split enabled the front-running Brooklyn Dodgers, who defeated Chicago, to extend their lead over Boston to a half-game.

Johnny Vander Meer pitched five-hit ball for the first game victory but the Braves came back with a 21-hit attack to coast in on the nightcap. It was Vandy's 12th win as against 13 losses. Box:

Brooklyn Gridders Play "Babby-Sitter" To 4-Year-Old Tot

NEW YORK, Sept. 1—(AP)—Brooklyn's football Dodgers became aerial baby-sitters today as they departed by plane for San Francisco where they meet the 49ers in an All-America Conference game Sunday.

Accompanying them aboard a chartered Trans-World Airlines plane was four-year-old Itienne Bjorkvall-Garde of Oslo, Norway, enroute to join his mother, Mrs. Gosta Edberg, in San Francisco.

The youngster arrived here last week and had been staying with an aunt in Brooklyn. The aunt had expected to send him by air to his mother, who left him in Norway when she went by ship to San Francisco to marry Egberg six weeks ago.

But airline regulations insist that children under eight years old must be accompanied by an adult. The aunt, unable to make the trip herself, was stumped.

That's when the Dodgers stepped in. They heard of the youngster's plight and offered to take him across the country with them.

Jeannette Signs New Baltimore Contract

BALTIMORE, Sept. 1 (AP) — The championship Baltimore Bullets of the Basketball Association of America announced today signing of a three-year contract with Buddy Jeannette to continue as player-coach.

At the same time the 31-year-old Jeannette disclosed he had reconsidered his thoughts of retiring as a player. Last season his "clutch" playmaking and shooting was a decisive factor in the Bullets' drive to the championship.

Jeannette coached Baltimore to two successive America league titles in 1946 and 1947 before leading them to the title in the faster BAA last year.

The Piedmont Giants baseball team will play the Kingwood Bombers at Memorial Park, Westernport, Sunday, Sept. 5 at 2:30 p. m.

LEGION AND MOOSE MEET IN INTERSTATE LOOP GAME TODAY

The first place Cumberland American Legion team and the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose, occupant of 7th place, will clash in an Interstate Baseball League game today at 5:15 p. m. at Stitcher Field.

Manager Bill Bracey's tossers have won two games thus far and a victory today would enable them to sweep the series.

Jack Kauffman or Lefty Pat Creegan will be on the firing line for the Legion while Clingan, Moler or Perrell will work on the rubber for the Moose.

Gene Dahlbender Pulls Two Upsets In Golf Tourney

Defeats Riegel And Harris In Amateur

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 1 (AP)—A chubby, sweet-swinging southerner from Bobby Jones' hometown — Atlanta's Gene Dahlbender — brushed aside two national champions today to establish himself as the "player to beat" in the 48th amateur golf tournament.

The blond bomber from Georgia began his day's work by eliminating defending titlist Robert (Skee) Riegel of Monterey Park, Calif. He followed with a 3 and 2 triumph over Robert Harris of Los Gatos, Calif., the U. S. college king.

This double-barreled achievement as the field was whittled to 16 buoyed Dixie's hopes for its first native winner since Jones won his fifth amateur in 1930.

The road to the championship, however, looms as no easy one for Dahlbender or any of the other aspirants left after three full days of eliminations over the 6,617-yard Memphis Country Club course.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, seeking to add the U. S. to the British and Canadian crowns he already holds, is still around swinging—and getting tougher with each day.

In the running also are Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., the bulldog competitor who won the crown in 1939 and 1941, and Wee Willie Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., the polished stroker who captured the National in 1938 and the British Amateur in 1947.

Stranahan, playing spottily but spurting brilliance in tight places, ousted William Y. Stembler, 40-year-old Miami, Fla., boxing commissioner, 3 and 2, and Richard (Bubba) Smart of Pine Bluff, Ark., 3 and 1.

Ward won over G. M. Trammell, Jr., of Nashville, a promising Vanderbilt University sophomore, 3 and 2, and then took the measure of Albert Stone of Jackson, Tenn., 2 and 1.

Turnesa, playing unspectacularly but with remarkable steadiness, trounced Tyrell Garth of Beaumont, Tex., 2 and 1, and Robert Knowles of Brookline, Mass., 3 and 2.

Maryland's Bob Brownell of Norbeck was eliminated by Clarke Hardwicke, movie actor from Los Angeles, 3 and 2.

Redskins And Rams To Collide Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 1 (INS) — A football crowd of 85,000 is expected to turn out in Memorial Coliseum tomorrow night to watch the Los Angeles Rams and the Washington Redskins tangle in a pre-season charity contest.

Main lure of the massive mob will be a promised duel between Slingin' Sammy Baugh, Washington's magnificent passer, and Lt. Glenn Davis, Army's three-time All-American.

Davis, who is slated for an overseas assignment immediately after the game, will be making his professional debut.

Tigers Reportedly "Covered" Players

DETROIT, Sept. 1 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler remained mum today on a published report that baseball in general, and particularly the Detroit Tigers, are "heading toward another housecleaning."

Contacted at Versailles, Ky., Chandler said he had "no comment" on a Detroit News report that he was aiming a new blow at the Detroit baseball club's farm system.

The News, in a page one story, said Chandler would crack down early this fall on violations of the rule against so-called gentlemen's agreements and evasions of the bonus rule.

The blast was said to be aimed principally at the Tigers, whose farm system was shattered in 1940 by the late Kenesaw Mountain Landis, then the game's commissioner. The new blow would rival "the great emancipation of 1940," the News said, naming nine minor leaguers the Tigers allegedly "covered up."

Tiger General Manager Billy Evans, however, said he had heard nothing of such an investigation.

"This is the first knowledge I have had of this," Evans declared. "None of these ballplayers was acquired during my time here, and I wouldn't know anything about such deals."

"I haven't had a single word from the commissioner. If this story is true there must have been a leak somewhere in the commissioner's office," Evans said.

Chandler was reported preparing summons for several baseball executives, including officials of the Dallas Rebels, a Texas league club.

It was "undercover" deals between the Tigers and the Rebels, the newspaper said, that first drew Chandler's attention.

The News said Chandler would summon the following men to his headquarters in Cincinnati:

J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas League; Milton E. Price, Texas League secretary and president of the West-Texas-New Mexico League; Richard W. Burnett, owner, and Bobby Goff, business manager of the Dallas club; George and Julius Schepps, who sold the Dallas franchise to Burnett, and Jack Zeller, present chief scout of the Boston Braves.

Zeller was general manager of the Tigers when Landis cracked the whip, freeing 91 Tiger-owned players and fining Zeller for his party in the deals.

Soon after this Zeller began breaking up the Tiger farm system, declaring Detroit could get on without any farm clubs.

Zeller resigned Jan. 1, 1946, to be replaced by George M. Trautman, present czar of the minor leagues. Under Trautman and Evans the Tigers have been rebuilding their farm tieups.

Maryland Opens Football Drills

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 1—(AP)—About the only question Coach Jim Tatum had to be decided today as he opened his 1948 fall football practice at the University of Maryland was—"will Lu Gambino play?"

There were 26 lettermen among the 65 candidates reporting and it was just a case of picking up where they left off last winter and spring.

Only three lettermen were missing and of them only end George Simler was a starter. Elmer Wingate, who played as much as Simler last year, stepped into the left end slot and the team which wound up in the 'Gator Bowl was ready to go again.

That is, with the exception of the eligibility question mark hanging over Gambino's head. The Executive Committee of the Southern Conference will decide in Richmond, Va., tomorrow whether he can play.

Until then, Coach Tatum is going along on the assumption the team's high scorer will be in there. If he isn't, Tatum then will ponder what changes in his offensive plans will be necessary.

Red Sox Blast Tigers, 10 To 1, To Hold Margin

Kramer Chalks Up 15th Pitching Win

BOSTON, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox maintained their top-place American League lead today by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 10-1, to give righthander Jack Kramer his 15th pitching win. It was the Tiger's final visit to Fenway Park, where they lost nine of their 11 starts this season.

The Sockers blasted four pitchers for 10 hits and also collected seven bases on balls, three of which forced in runs.

Virgil Trucks opened for Detroit and had a one-hitter going until he started to wilt in the fifth, during which the Sockers scored twice on two-baggers by Billy Goodman and Dom DiMaggio and singles by Birdie Tebbetts and Billy Hitchcock.

Trucks blew sky-high in the sixth, when the Red Sox set off a seven-run rally. Ted Williams launched it with his only hit of the game and the bases became jammed when Stan Spence walked and Goodman hit safely.

Trucks was yanked for Hal White after Tebbetts walked to force in the third Boston run and Hitchcock drove in two more tallies with with a single.

White opened by walking Kramer to repack the bases. When he gave the Sockers their sixth run by passing DiMaggio, Lefty Bill Pierce replaced him. The latter was greeted by Johnny Pesky's three-run triple.

Kramer gave the Tigers eight hits and two bases on balls and trailed, 1-0, after the first of the fifth, during which Trucks was driven in by Johnny Lipon's three bagger. The game, which drew a 22,374 crowd, ended a home stay during which the Red Sox won 12 out of 15 games. Box.

Berra's extra-inning blast handed starter Fred Sanford his 17th loss and kept the world champions in the midst of the American League pennant scramble.

The Yankees notched single tallies in the first, sixth, seventh, and ninth, the latter run tying the count at 4 to 4.

Al Zarilla and Les Moss hit homers for the losing Brownies. George Stirnweiss whacked a four-bagger for the Bombers in the seventh.

Rookie Bob Porterfield, who took over in the 10th inning, was credited with the win, his fourth. Box:

Pioneers' Coach Will Settle For Four Grid Wins

Romney Will Play 10; Navy Gets Quarterback

Coach Richard "Dick" McElwee is willing to settle for four wins out of a total of 10 football games on Romney High School's schedule this fall.

The Pioneers of Hampshire county, W. Va., had a successful season in 1947, winning seven and losing three games but McElwee lost three of his four stars who made the all-conference eleven, three other backs through graduation and a back and an end to the navy.

"The player I lost to the navy was my quarterback and the only good passer I've had since I've been here," McElwee laments.

Sid Roach, the only holdover among the four Romney gridders who made the all-conference team a year ago, played center in 1947, and will probably be shifted to fullback this year.

"You can see we're in for a long, rough year," the Blue and Gray mentor commented. "Four wins will be a good year but I'm not counting on that even."

The only thing on the bright side appears to be Romney's freshmen boys. There are five over 150 pounds and if they stay in school, pass their work and grow—look out, McElwee warns.

"I expect they will help us some this year but you know how it is until they get at least one season under their belts."

Forty candidates are out for the team. The squad includes five 1947 regulars, namely, Sid Roach, Bill Deskins, Bob Maphis, Leo Everette and Bob Sirk. Other lettermen are Bill Loy, Don Maphis, Garland Smoot, Harmison Noel, Bill Sirk, Rollin McCleary, Dan Wagoner and Ralph Hickman.

The ten seniors, 14 juniors, nine sophomores and seven freshmen on the squad and their weights are as follows:

526 Men Sign Up In Two Days Of Peacetime Draft

Volunteer Workers Are Still Needed

Selective Service officials here reported yesterday they have received 526 registration cards from Allegany County men who signed up in the first two days of the nation's peace time draft.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk co-ordinator for Allegany and Garrett registration, said the above figure does not include returns from Oldtown, Ellerslie, Frostburg or Eckhart nor any Garrett returns.

More than 245 men in the 25-year-old age group registered Monday on the first day of the poll.

Reports from Tuesday's registration of men born in 1923 included Flintstone, 10; Cresaptown, 26; Pennsylvania Avenue, 37; John Humbird, 23; Johnson Heights, 33; Centre Street, 40; West Side, 34; East Side, 13; Gephart School, 12; Carver High, 7, and LaSalle High, 66 for a total of 301.

Officials reported that yesterday's registration went more smoothly but that volunteer registrars are still needed at John Humbird, Pennsylvania Avenue and Johnson Heights School to lessen the burden on overworked staffs there. Fahey asked that persons willing to aid contact chief registrars at those schools.

Meanwhile, draft officials here scotched a rumor that chief registrars are being paid for supervising the poll and cited the rule that each volunteer worker must sign a waiver of pay before beginning work.

The appeal for volunteer workers is strictly on a patriotic basis and the lengthy period being set aside for registration was planned to make things easier for the men who are signing up.

One registrar, a busy housewife of this city who volunteered to help in the registration, admitted that it was indeed a sacrifice o take time off for the work but said, "I'd be willing to work every day of the time if it would keep one of my boys out of a war."

Today and tomorrow have been set aside for registration of men born in 1924.

Taberna Montium Closed To Public

Taberna Montium, Cumberland's newest night club spot, atop Wills Mountain, was closed "until further notice" Monday night and William P. Roeder, owner, said he is negotiating to sell the business which he began operating in early June.

Roeder said his inexperience in the business and his age caused him to close the white concrete night spot which overlooks the Narrows. He said at least one local man has approached him concerning a lease on the property, but he declined.

There are at least four persons who have contacted the night club owner, he said, regarding an outright sale, and Roeder said he will dispose of the property as soon as he arrives at terms with one of the four parties.

526 Men Sign Up In Two Days Of Peacetime Draft

Volunteer Workers Are Still Needed

Selective Service officials here reported yesterday they have received 526 registration cards from Allegany County men who signed up in the first two days of the nation's peace time draft.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk co-ordinator for Allegany and Garrett registration, said the above figure does not include returns from Oldtown, Ellerslie, Frostburg or Eckhart nor any Garrett returns.

More than 245 men in the 25-year-old age group registered Monday on the first day of the poll.

Reports from Tuesday's registration of men born in 1923 included Flintstone, 10; Cresaptown, 26; Pennsylvania Avenue, 37; John Humbird, 23; Johnson Heights, 33; Centre Street, 40; West Side, 34; East Side, 13; Gephart School, 12; Carver High, 7, and LaSalle High, 66 for a total of 301.

Officials reported that yesterday's registration went more smoothly but that volunteer registrars are still needed at John Humbird, Pennsylvania Avenue and Johnson Heights School to lessen the burden on overworked staffs there. Fahey asked that persons willing to aid contact chief registrars at those schools.

Meanwhile, draft officials here scotched a rumor that chief registrars are being paid for supervising the poll and cited the rule that each volunteer worker must sign a waiver of pay before beginning work.

The appeal for volunteer workers is strictly on a patriotic basis and the lengthy period being set aside for registration was planned to make things easier for the men who are signing up.

One registrar, a busy housewife of this city who volunteered to help in the registration, admitted that it was indeed a sacrifice o take time off for the work but said, "I'd be willing to work every day of the time if it would keep one of my boys out of a war."

Today and tomorrow have been set aside for registration of men born in 1924.

Frostburg To Receive Sewer Pipe Soon

FROSTBURG — City Clerk Alex G. Close stated yesterday he has been informed that corrugated sewer pipe ordered by the city for the Mt. Pleasant and Washington Street sections is scheduled for fabrication and shipment this week.

Street Commissioner W. W. Sluss, Jr., said all necessary engineering work has been completed by City Engineer Philip Hartig and that the work of laying the larger sewer mains in the Mt. Pleasant, Sleeman and Washington Street areas will be started as soon as the pipe is received.

The laying of a larger sewer system in the east section of town has been under discussion for several months. The volume of storm water that periodically floods the Washington and McCulloh Street area results from the lack of storm sewers large enough to carry off water flowing from Mt. Pleasant Street across East Main Street and down Sleeman Street.

Frostburg To Receive Sewer Pipe Soon

FROSTBURG — City Clerk Alex G. Close stated yesterday he has been informed that corrugated sewer pipe ordered by the city for the Mt. Pleasant and Washington Street sections is scheduled for fabrication and shipment this week.

Street Commissioner W. W. Sluss, Jr., said all necessary engineering work has been completed by City Engineer Philip Hartig and that the work of laying the larger sewer mains in the Mt. Pleasant, Sleeman and Washington Street areas will be started as soon as the pipe is received.

The laying of a larger sewer system in the east section of town has been under discussion for several months. The volume of storm water that periodically floods the Washington and McCulloh Street area results from the lack of storm sewers large enough to carry off water flowing from Mt. Pleasant Street across East Main Street and down Sleeman Street.

Radio in Review

CLIFTON FADIMAN

The Winter Replacements

While John Crosby is on vacation, his column is being continued by a number of guest writers. Today's contributor is Goodman Ace, who writes "mr. ace and JANE."

The days grow perceptibly shorter and the summer hiatus in radio comes all too swiftly to a close. All too soon the winter replacements will be back.

My radio, having rested its husky speaker with thirteen weeks of soft, soothing, $2,500 package shows, will start giving out with those big laughs once again when the $25,000 star-studded, superdooper Hoopers get going.

Farewell, Robert Shaw Chorale. So long, R.F.D. America. Goodby, Let's Talk Hollywood. Au revoir, Jane Pickens show. Auf Weidersehn, An Evening with Romberg. R.I.P., Rexall Summer Theater.

The top fifteen will soon be back from their vacations, and we're just dying to know where they've been, and what they did, and how cheap he was doing it. Aren't you? Of course you are.

ANNOUNCER: Well, Bob (Jack, Fred, Edgar, Charlie, Red, Archie, Eddie, Phil, George, Bing, Al, Amos—check your favorite) how did you spend your vacation?"

BOB (JACK, FRED, EDGAR, CHARLIE, RED, ARCHIE, EDDIE, PHIL, GEORGE, BING, AL AMOS: "Well I had a room in a hotel that was so small that—(a) the mice were hunchbacked; (b) the bellboys were midgets; (c) it cost me a nickel every time I tried to get in" . . . Check your favorite.

And my radio will blow a tube with house-shaking belly-laughs; and I will walk busily around my room straightening the pictures on the walls.

Just why the radio moguls decided the people don't want to laugh in the summer time, I don't understand. Also I don't always understand what it is the people in the studios of the winter replacement shows are laughing at.

Last year—toward the end of a certain winter replacement's season—I remember the comedian had just told a joke about a lady with two heads. This got the big laugh it so richly deserves. Then the comedian, who was broadcasting that week from a midwestern town instead of his home base, Hollywood, ad libbed: "Gee, how did we write that joke in there—and George isn't even here with us." This private little quip about his writer not being with him brought an even bigger laugh than the original two-headed woman joke.

During the last war—I beg your pardon, during World War II—Bob Hope once did a broadcast from a camp deep down in Georgia. He called on a soldier in the audience to come up on the platform. As the soldier approached the mike, Bob said, "You look like Barney Dean."

Well! My radio never got over that one. Every once in a while, during Album of Familiar Music, I hear a recurrent chuckle—a hang over from that big laugh the night Bob Hope said the soldier looked like Barney Dean.

Perhaps I should explain. I happen to know Barney Dean. He was once a stooge for Crosby and Hope, but he was a very funny chap, and pretty soon they had him doing odd writing jobs on their pictures. Nice fellow, Barney. But I'm sure that deep down in Georgia they wouldn't know him from one of their governors.

As a matter of fact, I remember, after the laugh had died down—oh, say, about two or three hours later, it seemed—Bob said to the audience, "What are you laughing about? You don't even know Barney Dean."

Well! The laugh that got was not only bigger than the first one. It was bigger than Don Wilson's!

•—•—•

Let me tell you one more. On the Morey Amsterdam show there was a joke the other Saturday evening, and, as radio jokes go, it was pretty good. In it Morey told somebody that when he was a child, his father wanted him to be a pharmacist, and his mother wanted him to be a musician. And when he grew up he pleased them both. So on cue somebody asked him "What did you do?"

And Morey was supposed to reply, "I hung around drug stores and whistled at girls."

But Morey lost his place in the script. Instead he replied, "I hung around CIGAR STORES and whistled at girls."

Well! That didn't bother the audience. They knew the joke was over and how they laughed!

I can't see it. Maybe with television I'll be able to.

Meanwhile, welcome back winter replacements. Where have you been? What have you been doing? What's old?

Sinanthropus Cave Found

MOSCOW (AP)—A cave occupied in the very distant past by the most ancient race of man—Sinanthropus—has been discovered in Central Asia. "Gudok," Soviet railway paper, stated the discovery was made by the Uzbek State University near the railway running between Samarkand and Kitab. The paper indicated that the Soviet Academy of Sciences considered the discovery as of great scientific importance.

RADIO IN REVIEW

CLIFTON FADIMAN

The Winter Replacements

While John Crosby is on vacation, his column is being continued by a number of guest writers. Today's contributor is Goodman Ace, who writes "mr. ace and JANE."

The days grow perceptibly shorter and the summer hiatus in radio comes all too swiftly to a close. All too soon the winter replacements will be back.

My radio, having rested its husky speaker with thirteen weeks of soft, soothing, $2,500 package shows, will start giving out with those big laughs once again when the $25,000 star-studded, superdooper Hoopers get going.

Farewell, Robert Shaw Chorale. So long, R.F.D. America. Goodby, Let's Talk Hollywood. Au revoir, Jane Pickens show. Auf Weidersehn, An Evening with Romberg. R.I.P., Rexall Summer Theater.

The top fifteen will soon be back from their vacations, and we're just dying to know where they've been, and what they did, and how cheap he was doing it. Aren't you? Of course you are.

ANNOUNCER: Well, Bob (Jack, Fred, Edgar, Charlie, Red, Archie, Eddie, Phil, George, Bing, Al, Amos—check your favorite) how did you spend your vacation?"

BOB (JACK, FRED, EDGAR, CHARLIE, RED, ARCHIE, EDDIE, PHIL, GEORGE, BING, AL AMOS: "Well I had a room in a hotel that was so small that—(a) the mice were hunchbacked; (b) the bellboys were midgets; (c) it cost me a nickel every time I tried to get in" . . . Check your favorite.

And my radio will blow a tube with house-shaking belly-laughs; and I will walk busily around my room straightening the pictures on the walls.

Just why the radio moguls decided the people don't want to laugh in the summer time, I don't understand. Also I don't always understand what it is the people in the studios of the winter replacement shows are laughing at.

Last year—toward the end of a certain winter replacement's season—I remember the comedian had just told a joke about a lady with two heads. This got the big laugh it so richly deserves. Then the comedian, who was broadcasting that week from a midwestern town instead of his home base, Hollywood, ad libbed: "Gee, how did we write that joke in there—and George isn't even here with us." This private little quip about his writer not being with him brought an even bigger laugh than the original two-headed woman joke.

During the last war—I beg your pardon, during World War II—Bob Hope once did a broadcast from a camp deep down in Georgia. He called on a soldier in the audience to come up on the platform. As the soldier approached the mike, Bob said, "You look like Barney Dean."

Well! My radio never got over that one. Every once in a while, during Album of Familiar Music, I hear a recurrent chuckle—a hang over from that big laugh the night Bob Hope said the soldier looked like Barney Dean.

Perhaps I should explain. I happen to know Barney Dean. He was once a stooge for Crosby and Hope, but he was a very funny chap, and pretty soon they had him doing odd writing jobs on their pictures. Nice fellow, Barney. But I'm sure that deep down in Georgia they wouldn't know him from one of their governors.

As a matter of fact, I remember, after the laugh had died down—oh, say, about two or three hours later, it seemed—Bob said to the audience, "What are you laughing about? You don't even know Barney Dean."

Well! The laugh that got was not only bigger than the first one. It was bigger than Don Wilson's!

●—●—●

Let me tell you one more. On the Morey Amsterdam show there was a joke the other Saturday evening, and, as radio jokes go, it was pretty good. In it Morey told somebody that when he was a child, his father wanted him to be a pharmacist, and his mother wanted him to be a musician. And when he grew up he pleased them both. So on cue somebody asked him "What did you do?"

And Morey was supposed to reply, "I hung around drug stores and whistled at girls."

But Morey lost his place in the script. Instead he replied, "I hung around CIGAR STORES and whistled at girls."

Well! That didn't bother the audience. They knew the joke was over and how they laughed!

I can't see it. Maybe with television I'll be able to.

Meanwhile, welcome back winter replacements. Where have you been? What have you been doing? What's old?

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 1—(INS)—Charlie Chaplin is guarding the plot of the movie he is preparing as if it were the Hope Diamond. But I have been able to spy out that it has a theatrical background and Charlie himself will be the star.

Louella Parsons

I can also tell you that Chaplin has no intention of going to England or Mexico to make the picture. It will be filmed right here. As I have told you several times before, Charlie has no assurance that he can re-enter this country once he leaves the good old U. S. A.

•—•—•

Linda Darnell wants to go back to her dark hair for "Slattery's Hurricane," which she makes next at 20th Century-Fox, even before she does "Waltz Into Darkness" with Cornel Wilde. Bill Perlberg, the producer, will probably give Linda the go sign to "dye" for her art because he wants Ida Lupino, who is blonde, for the other girl role.

"Slattery's Hurricane" is by Herman Wouk, a thriller about a Navy pilot. The hero they want for the pilot is Dana Andrews. However, Sam Goldwyn has in a previous bid for Dana, so we'll see.

Robert Montgomery is never better on the screen than when he is being gay and romantic, although I doubt if he will like my saying that. He's a boy who likes to go dramatic every now and then in "Night Must Fall," "Ride a Pink Horse" and "Lady in the Lake."

But I'm glad he has decided to make "Come Be My Love," a comedy, for his next Universal-International movie.

Bob has been spending the summer in New England, loafing and catching the summer stock shows in small towns in Connecticut.

Imagine my surprise to pick up the telephone and hear Clara Bow, the "It" girl of the silent screen, say, "hello." She and her husband, Rex Bell, are in Hollywood so Clara can go to the dentist.

The beautiful, brown-eyed screen favorite of 15 years ago, now the mother of two boys, says she is well, happy and glad to be out of the limelight. She and Rex sold their ranch, and are living in Las Vegas, where he bought a spotshop.

Chatter in Hollywood: The latest sequel to the Robert Walker-Barbara Ford break up came today when I learned that Robert Walker was in the Cedars of Lebanon hospital under a doctor's care. He's in a highly nervous state and has been refusing to eat.

Bing Crosby according to a friend of his who visited the Crosby's at their Elko Ranch, has gone 100 per cent rancher. He, Dixie and the kids get up at six every morning. They have taken to farm life like ducks to water.

Bing helps milk the cows, the kids see that the eggs are brought in, and Dixie actually takes over the kitchen. There's no plush life for the Crosbys at Elko. They really live the way a rancher would.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Virginia Hill's brother, Chick, the one who was living with Bugsy Siegel when he was shot, is having marital trouble. His wife, the former Jerry Mason, is on her way to Las Vegas to get her freedom.

Turhan Bey had his first New York date with Leila Hadley, a non-professional.

Celeste Holm is interested in an offer from Elmer Rice for a Broadway play—interested if she can get 20th Century-Fox permission.

David Rose is back in town and Jane Nigh's got him. Yes, it's all off between Jane and John Lindsey, the architect she was supposed to marry.

Edna Cantor, Eddie's daughter, was at Ciro's with Cy Howard. He's always been crazy about Edna, so apparently the talk that he made up with his ex, Nan Wynn, is just talk.

The same night at Ciro's Rita Johnson was with Mike McCausland, good-looking writer.

The Al Lewins just celebrated their 30th anniversary. You see, there are people in Hollywood who stay married.

Ella Raines has made a deal to do a series of greeting cards for one of the big companies, one of her paintings turned the trick.

Arthur Hecht, Los Angeles Examiner office boy, was on the MGM lot to discuss playing a role in Wally Beery's next movie, "The Harp."

Since Monica Lewis went to New York and gave her smiles to Skitch Henderson, Ronald Reagan and Betty Bligh, the pretty model, are a frequent twosome.

That's all today.

In Memoriam

WRIGHT—Mrs. Eliza, Salisbury, Pa. In loving memory of our dear mother, who died 5 years ago today, September 2, 1943.

There is not a day that passes, Mom,
We do not think of you.
Your face is in our memories still,
Your voice, your footsteps too.

Our hearts still ache with grief and pain,
God only knows it's true.
To Him we pray we'll meet again,
We pray to Him for you.

There's many a lonely heartache,
There's many a silent tear,
God only knows how we miss you, Mom,
At the end of the 5th year.

Sadly missed by her children,
Mrs. Thomas Turner,
Charles, Sam, Harry Wright.

In Memoriam

WRIGHT—Mrs. Eliza, Salisbury, Pa. In loving memory of our dear mother, who died 5 years ago today, September 2, 1943.

There is not a day that passes, Mom,
We do not think of you.
Your face is in our memories still,
Your voice, your footsteps too.

Our hearts still ache with grief and pain,
God only knows it's true.
To Him we pray we'll meet again,
We pray to Him for you.

There's many a lonely heartache,
There's many a silent tear,
God only knows how we miss you, Mom,
At the end of the 5th year.

Sadly missed by her children,
Mrs. Thomas Turner,
Charles, Sam, Harry Wright.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors and to the Grantsville American Legion Post No. 214 for their kindness following the death of our son and brother, Pfc. David L. Yommer. We also want to thank all who sent flowers and contributed the use of their automobiles for the funeral service.

Mr. & Mrs. Bruce Yommer and Family.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Buying Revival Lifts Stock Market To Highest Level Since Late July

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP) — A broad-scale buying movement lifted the stock market to the highest average level since late July today.

Volume expanded sharply after a series of sleepy trading days. Turnover of 920,000 shares was topped only once last month when 1,300,000 shares changed hands on August 11. Yesterday's business amounted to a bare 600,000 shares.

The sudden revival in buying power was credited mainly to the more optimistic slant to the news dispatches from Berlin.

Rail shares fought with steel issues for market leadership. Automobile stocks ran a close third. A handful of issues finished at new 1948 peaks, including Santa Fe and Rock Island.

Du Pont stepped far in front of the market with a gain of six points at one time. The issue closed 5½ higher at 172. Du Pont has recently been under pressure, coming within shooting distance of the year's low, which street gossip associated with liquidation of estate holdings.

Francisco Sugar jumped 1⅞ to 15⅜ following news of a boosted dividend.

Other strong spots included Santa Fe 120⅜, Rock Island 41¼, Nickel Plate 87, Atlantic Coast Line 56¼, United States Steel 80½, Republic Steel 30¼, General Motors 63⅜, Chrysler 59⅞, Montgomery Ward 56⅜, Douglas Aircraft 53½, Schenley 29, American Telephone 154½, Consolidated Natural Gas 43½, Anaconda Copper 38, Westinghouse Electric 28½, Allied Chemical 188, International Paper 59⅜, Plymouth Oil 49⅜, Skelly Oil 116½, Paramount Pictures 24, and Transcontinental and Western Air 14⅜.

In the Curb, Babcock and Wilcox moved up 3½ and smaller gains appeared for New Jersey Zinc, Creole Petroleum, Imperial Oil, Cities Service, United Gas and American Gas. Volume of 190,000 shares compared with 150,000 Tuesday.

Demand for bonds revived sharply in today's market. A number of railroad obligations responded with gains ranging to more than two points.

Total sales for the day amounted ot $3,180,000 which was the heaviest trading since August 11. It gave the market a fast start into the new month, after August doldrums during which dealings were the slowest for any month in more than 33 years.

Buying Revival Lifts Stock Market To Highest Level Since Late July

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 (AP) — A broad-scale buying movement lifted the stock market to the highest average level since late July today.

Volume expanded sharply after a series of sleepy trading days. Turnover of 920,000 shares was topped only once last month when 1,300,000 shares changed hands on August 11. Yesterday's business amounted to a bare 600,000 shares.

The sudden revival in buying power was credited mainly to the more optimistic slant to the news dispatches from Berlin.

Rail shares fought with steel issues for market leadership. Automobile stocks ran a close third. A handful of issues finished at new 1948 peaks, including Santa Fe and Rock Island.

Du Pont stepped far in front of the market with a gain of six points at one time. The issue closed 5½ higher at 172. Du Pont has recently been under pressure, coming within shooting distance of the year's low, which street gossip associated with liquidation of estate holdings.

Francisco Sugar jumped 1⅞ to 15⅝ following news of a boosted dividend.

Other strong spots included Santa Fe 120¾, Rock Island 41½, Nickel Plate 87, Atlantic Coast Line 56¼, United States Steel 80½, Republic Steel 30¼, General Motors 63¾, Chrysler 59⅞, Montgomery Ward 56⅞, Douglas Aircraft 53½, Schenley 29, American Telephone 154½, Consolidated Natural Gas 43½, Anaconda Copper 38, Westinghouse Electric 28½, Allied Chemical 188, International Paper 59¾, Plymouth Oil 49¾, Skelly Oil 116½, Paramount Pictures 24, and Transcontinental and Western Air 14¾.

In the Curb, Babcock and Wilcox moved up 3½ and smaller gains appeared for New Jersey Zinc, Creole Petroleum, Imperial Oil, Cities Service, United Gas and American Gas. Volume of 190,000 shares compared with 150,000 Tuesday.

Demand for bonds revived sharply in today's market. A number of railroad obligations responded with gains ranging to more than two points.

Total sales for the day amounted ot $3,180,000 which was the heaviest trading since August 11. It gave the market a fast start into the new month, after August doldrums during which dealings were the slowest for any month in more than 33 years.

Police Capture Jailbreakers In Half Hour

Two Men Chisel Out Of Bedford Jail

Alert Pennsylvania State Police last night ended the freedom of two youthful escapees from Bedford County Jail when they rounded them up within 35 minutes after the break.

Bedford County Deputy Sheriff Pat Rohm identified the men as Joseph Young, about 22, formerly of Hyndman, Pa., and Brooks Ours, about 25, near Bedford.

The prisoners apparently chiseled their way through three thicknesses of bricks in the jail wall and crawled out, Rohm said. The break occurred at 9:15 p. m. and the escapees were apprehended at 9:50.

The young men were being held in a cell block with about five other prisoners at the time of the break, but the others apparently made no attempt to escape, Rohm said.

Young was serving a 30-day sentence for failing to stop after a motor accident and was also being held for Navy authorities.

Ours was sentenced in June to from one to two years in Western Penitentiary for stealing and slaughtering some cows in Cumberland Valley. He was being held in the county jail pending trial of an alleged accomplice this month. Rohm said Ours had previously served a penitentiary sentence for assault and robbery.

The escapees were caught by State Police along the river below Bedford about a mile and a half from the jail, Rohm said, and were apparently heading for the home of Young's father nearby to obtain clothing.

Police reported the escapees were unarmed and offered no resistance when they were accosted by the troopers.

Rohm said the tool used by the prisoners in chiseling the mortar from between the layers of bricks was not found.

Blaze Destroys Car And Garage

A local Celanese employe's car and the garage in which it was kept were damaged beyond repair and two other garages were damaged in a fire of undetermined origin yesterday afternoon.

East Side Firemen, who answered the call at 4:15 p. m., said Samuel R. Nave, 224 Glenn Street, was owner of the 1940 sedan and of the garage.

The blaze apparently started in the Nave garage, firemen said, and then crossed an alley to ignite the garages of Miss Ruth Miller, 211 Fulton Street, and of J. William Neff, 213 Fulton Street.

Damage to the Fulton Street garages was termed slight by firemen.

Central Firemen were also called at 4:17 to aid in extinguishing the blaze. The firemen worked nearly an hour and a half to extinguish the fire.

News Artist's Car Hit By Hit-Run Driver

A hit-and-run driver sideswiped the car of Marvin Zukerman, Times-News artist, last night on West Virginia Route 28, a mile north of Fort Ashby, according to West Virginia State Police, who investigated.

Police said Zukerman reported he was driving south towards Romney, where he lives, when he rounded a sharp bend and the left front portion of his car was struck by the oncoming car, which was heared north.

Authorities estimated damage to Zukerman's car at about $175, and said the artist could not describe the car which struck him, as it was going too fast.

Police said the car probably has a damaged left front fender.

All-American Decision Confirmed By CAB

The Civil Aeronautics Board has confirmed its original decision of February 19, authorizing the system of conventional passenger, mail and property routes in seven eastern states which was awarded to All American Aviation, Inc.

Chamber of Commerce officials were also notified yesterday that the CAB indicated "careful consideration" would be given the company's proposed extensions from Atlantic City to New York and from Pittsburgh to Newark-New York by way of Williamsport, Scranton-Wilkes Barre and other intermediate points.

All American's request to inaugurate service in the Delmarva area prior to a CAB decision in the pending airmail pickup case was denied.

Paper Collection Totals 17 Tons

Seventeen tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday in the section north of Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue.

Today's pickups will be between Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue and Oldtown Road.

The Weather

The eight-day hot spell that gripped Cumberland was only a memory yesterday as the mercury stopped at 74 degrees for the day's high after skidding all the way to a 44 degree low on the previous night. Disgruntled youths wrapped up their bathing suits and stocked them in the cupboard a full week ahead of the first toll of the school bell and milady made her afternoon appearance yesterday in the dark colors that indicate fall is coming. Any hope for a resurge in the thermometer today was blocked by the fortcast of "sunny but moderate temperature" for today.

COMING HERE—Paul D. Bagwell, president of the Junior Association of Commerce of the United States, who will be one of the 11 official judges of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N. J., will be a guest of the Cumberland Jaycees on October 26, it was announced last night at the Jaycee dinner meeting. His visit here will be an official one and part of a tour of Jaycee organizations in Eastern States. Bagwell is chairman of the Department of Speech, Dramatics and Radio at Michigan State College.

Court Asked To Rule On Pay Of Injured Officer

Equity Suit Filed By Walter Crabtree

An equity action was filed in Circuit Court against the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland yesterday by Walter P. Crabtree, a city police officer, through his attorneys, Paul M. Fletcher and Milton Gerson.

The suit is to obtain a court ruling on compensation payments to Officer Crabtree as a result of time lost when he was hurt December 24, 1946, when struck by a taxicab.

According to the petition, Officer Crabtree was on traffic duty at the corner of Baltimore and George Streets when he was struck by one of Johnny's Cabs.

Officer Crabtree was unable to return to duty until April 26, 1947, and lost four months and two days pay or $711.60. He also incurred $75 surgical expense and $70 hospital costs, his attorneys claim.

The suit states Officer Crabtree has never been paid or reimbursed for the time he lost or for his medical expenses, although the City of Cumberland carries compensation on its police and other employes.

The attorneys want the court to rule on Section 38-C Chapter 871 of 1943 Laws of Maryland, which provides "full payment" for time lost by city employes, attorneys explained last night.

They claim the city has offered Officer Crabtree two-thirds pay, as provided under Maryland compensation laws.

Local Eagles Honor Francis H. Schultz

Marking his 18th year as a worthy trustee of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, Francis H. Schultz last night was honored by a class initiation of 33 members at the Eagles' Home, North Mechanic Street.

William C. Baer, past worthy president of the local aerie, was in charge of the ceremonies. Assisting him were Francis T. Twigg, John Harbaugh, Frank Kelley, F. S. Elliott and Robert Rodda.

Following the ceremony Schultz addressed new class members and Baer reported on the 50th annual convention held recently at Seattle, Wash. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Members of the class are:

Leroy Speelman, James M. Somerville, Charles R. Thompson, William D. Trozza, Edward M. Wintermyer, Henry S. Winebrenner, George E. Zimmerman, R. S. Beall and Samuel W. Albright.

Thomas Bryant, Frank L. Bloss, Charles L. Cecil, Jr., Clarence Davies, Roy E. Emerick, Robert L. Golden, Henry J. Getson, Jr., Thomas E. Gilchrist, Jr., Howard E. Grim, Jr., Harold W. Hollis, Palmer Howsare, Richard L. Huff, Richard A. Johnson and William T. Lanan.

Victims Of Minor Accidents Treated

Mrs. Juanita Morrison, 26, 307 Bond Street, was treated at Allegany Hospital yesterday for a laceration of the left leg which she received when hit by a refrigerator door.

Arthur Hoyle, 22, 436 Homer Street, was treated at Memorial Hospital for burns about the face and neck, suffered when an acetylene torch at the B. and O. shops exploded.

Sylva Carpenter, 10, daughter of H. M. Carpenter, Hyndman, Pa., suffered a fractured left arm Tuesday afternoon when she fell from a mule. She was treated at Memorial Hospital and dismissed.

Winchester Drivers Will Consider Offer

Members of Local 543, Teamsters Union, AFL, in the Winchester area will meet in Winchester Sunday, September 12, at 1 p. m. to act on a contract proposal of trucking firms of that area, C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said.

Drivers Sunday turned down a company offer but Stutzman said minor changes in the proposal were made Tuesday at a conference between the firms and the union. He said he had hopes the offer would be accepted.

6,500 Students To Use 99 Buses Going To School

Vehicle Inspection 'Good', Ramey Says

The Board of Education will put 99 buses and eight automobiles on the road this year to transport approximately 6,500 suburban students to elementary and high schools at central points. It represents an increase of six buses and a jump of 300 students over last year.

Sixty-nine of the buses were inspected yesterday by Arthur G. Ramey, director of pupil personnel, who said the vehicles were in "first class" condition and include 13 new buses. The remaining 30 buses are operated by public utility companies, Ramey said, and are not inspected by the Board of Education.

In preparation for the opening of school Tuesday, Ramey has listed 14 rules that must be observed by students riding the buses and he also informed the parents that:

"Transportation of school children in Allegany County exists for only one purpose and that is to make it possible for children who live at great distance from school to get there safely and comfortably without being obliged to walk, especially along dangerous highways. This service is provided at great cost to the taxpayers of the county, the transportation bill for a year being approximately $150,000.

"In order to achieve this end certain definite regulations are set up by the Board of Education," Ramey said, and listed the rules that must be observed by the children.

Among them are regulations of conduct on the bus, the establishment of patrol leaders, respect and obedience to the driver, punctuality at bus stops and safety regulations while riding in the buses.

Ramey told the drivers in a prepared letter that they are "charged with a heavy responsibility for the safety of the children x x x," and added that buses must be kept in comfortable, clean and sanitary condition at all times.

The operator of a bus must drive with extreme care at a speed which insures safety and guarantees perfect control of the bus at all times, Ramey said, adding, "the speed should not exceed 35 miles per hour on hard surface roads.

Yesterday's inspection was conducted under regulations of the State of Maryland, and the commissioner of motor vehicles was advised of the condition of the buses. Ramey said the vehicles examined were in the most satisfactory condition of any vehicles that he can remember.

A few minor defects were corrected on the scene, he said, and in one incident a vehicle inspected was not passed because of a defect for which new equipment has already been ordered but not yet arrived.

The increase in transit pupils is a minor indication of newly developed residential areas in the suburban areas of Allegany County communities, Ramey said.

Jaycees Are Hosts To Miss Maryland

Juanita Lookabaugh, 18-year-old brunet Miss Maryland of 1948, made her official appearance at the dinner meeting of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce last night in preparation for her trip to Atlantic City, which the organization will sponsor.

During the business meeting of the local group, the Barter Theater Committee announced that season tickets will be placed on sale for the 1948-49 theater season at the Music Shop and Little's Jewelry Store during the last two weeks in September.

Marvin Inge, chairman, said tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis.

An indoctrination program for new members was set up by Henry Holzshu, Membership Committee chairman with plans for a special table to be set for new members and their sponsors at the regular dinner meetings.

Placed into effect last night, John Barton, Pinto, was the first member to be introduced under the new plan which calls for the sponsor to present him, giving a brief sketch of personal history.

Committee reports were given by William A. Wilson, fire prevention chairman; William C. Gilchrist and David Kauffman, who atended the national convention in Tulsa, Okla., and Byron Kight, extension committee chairman.

Kight said a meeting will be held in Westernport September 9 to organize a chapter of the Jaycees in that community.

Judiciary List Not Yet Released

At midnight last night neither Governor Lane nor members of the Judiciary Appointment Committee of the Maryland Bar Association had released for publication names of Allegany County lawyers recommended to fill the vacancy on the Fourth Judicial Circuit bench when Chief Judge William A. Huster retires September 12.

It was generally expected, however, that the list will include W. Earle Cobey, Cumberland; Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., Westernport, and Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., and Morgan C. Harris, Cumberland. All four are currently being mentioned as possible appointees.

Because of the absence from the bench of Associate Judge George Henderson, now recovering from accident injuries, members of the local bar association expect the Governor to make the appointment so that the new judge may assume his duties simultaneously with Judge Huster's retirement.

Miss Cozad Reported Improving At Hospital

Miss Nell Cozad, 149 Polk Street, assistant to City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, was reported "getting along fine" yesterday in Memorial Hospital, where she underwent an operation Friday. Miss Cozad has been a patient at Memorial since August 21.

Firm Completes Last Joints For New Water Line

About Two Miles Of Pipe Is Laid

The Lock Joint Pipe Company yesterday completed the manufacture of some 2,600 joints of pipe to be used in laying the new auxiliary water line from Lake Gordon to this city.

Edwin E. Phoenix, plant superintendent, reported early yesterday afternoon that work on the last joints for the line were in the process of completion and that work of dismantling the plant will begin immediately.

Some 2,600 of the 36 inch reinforced concrete water pipes, most of them in 16 foot lengths weighing about four tons, have been made at the Ridgeley plant since manufacturing operations began early in May.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards reported yesterday that about two miles of the line has already been laid and added that work is now progressing beyond Nave's Crossroads.

Phoenix said that it will take about a month to ship machinery and supplies from here. He added that some of the pipe sections will be stored at the present plant area until the Cumberland Contracting Company, which is laying the line, is ready for them.

Virtually all of the pipe can be stored along the right of way for the line with the exception of sections to be laid in Cumberland.

An average of 75 workers have been employed by the pipe firm here during manufacturing operations.

The project is of vital importance to Cumberland since it will double the capacity of the water system here and will give the city an emergency supply in case of a break in the present line.

Jobless Claims Increase In August

Unemployment benefit claims in the Cumberland office were up slightly in August with the bulk of the increase coming from the Georges Creek region and not the city proper, Francis A. Kenney, local manager, said yesterday.

Allegany County claims for August totaled 8,722, according to Kenney, who said it was an increase of 478 claims over July's 8,244 but under June when 9,296 claims were filed.

The number of claims filed by residents of Cumberland showed a marked decline in August, according to Kenney, who added that unemployment has increased in the western part of the county.

He attributed the George's Creek region increase to curtailment of mining operations in the area and the closing of the Berkowitz Pajama Factory in Frostburg.

The increase was noticeable in both the number of claims filed against the State of Maryland and for Servicemen's Readjustment benefits, according to Kenney.

The August claim load also topped figures for the same period in 1947, Kenney said, when 7,430 claims were filed.

The claim load roughly represents four times the number of unemployed persons filing for benefits, the local manager explained, since claims are filled once a week.

Store Clerks To Act On Contract Offer

Members of Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, AFL, employed at the Darling, Taylor and Lerner shops here, will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Teamsters Hall for action on a contract proposal of the firms, C. E. Stutzman, acting business agent for the workers, said.

The Rosenbaum contract was settled some time ago on the basis of a $3 weekly boost for non-commissioned workers and $1.75 for employes on commission. Cumberland Cloak and Suit workers received an automatic boost under a two-year contract signed last year.

Night-Blooming Cereus Blossom s First Time

A night-blooming cereus, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller, 217 Valley Street, flowered for the first time last night. Mrs. Miller's sister brought the slip from Baltimore seven years ago.

The flower bloomed while Mrs. Miller was out of the house. When she returned, she saw a delicate pink blossom centered with a star. These plants reportedly bloom for only a few hours each year.

Annual election of officers of the Allegany County Public Health Lay Council will be held at the first fall meeting, scheduled Tuesday, September 14, at 8 p. m. in City Hall auditorium.

Mrs. Arthur C. Evans, Rawlings, council chairman last year, said last night that she is not seeking re-election.

Mrs. Irving Millenson, The Dingle, has been nominated to succeed Mrs. Evans. Mrs. Grace Wallis, Fayette Street, who completed the unexpired term of Lester Kolb, Flintstone, as treasurer following the latter's resignation in March, has been nominated to continue in that post during the coming year.

The nominating committee, headed by Mrs. Benjamin LaNeve, will present nominations at the September 14 meeting. Officers will be elected at that time and installed at the October meeting.

Assisting Mrs. LaNeve are Mrs. Wallis and Mrs. William Mitchell, LaVale, while Mrs. Evans is serving on the committee in an advisory capacity.

They will return the following day.

The chairman reported that no further action has been taken on tentative plans to institute a city-wide nutrition education program, to be sponsored by the Lay Health Council with the co-operation of the Board of Education, Homemakers clubs and Parent-Teacher groups.

Mother Of Dead Child Sought In Cumberland

Mrs. Martha Wilt Zimmerman is wanted in Jennings—at once.

Her 12-year-old daughter, Mary Ellen, died at 8:30 a. m. yesterday at the home of her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wilt, Jennings.

Relatives say that Mrs. Zimmerman was working in Baltimore, but was reported to have come to Cumberland sometime last week. The child's grandfather was in the city yesterday looking for the child's mother, but was unsuccessful.

Mary Ellen's father, Hobart Zimmerman, also cannot be located.

Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Oakland, Garrett County deputy medical examiner, had the body sent to this city for an autopsy as he had no medical record of any illness the child may have had.

A certificate, signed by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, who made the autopsy, gave a brain tumor as the cause of death.

A funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in Bittinger Lutheran Church with Rev. Runzie, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

John R. King Wins Camera Award Permanently

John R. King, Gephart Drive, gained permanent possession of the Cumberland Camera Club's plaque for best black and white prints last night by winning the monthly club competition for the third consecutive time.

King was awarded first prize this month for his print entitled, "Green Apples," at the Camera Club annual picnic outing last night at Constitution Park. He was also awarded third place for his entry, "Fast Asleep."

Under the club rules, the plaque is presented to the monthly contest winner and the name of each winner is engraved on the emblem. It has been in circulation about 18 months and was presented to the club in the interest of better photography by Harvey's Jewelry Store.

King has been first place winner several times, but is the first member of the club to win three successive times.

Second prize for August went to J. B. Smith for his "Gone To Seed." Smith also won fourth prize with "Gone With The Wind."

George Triplett won fifth place with "Morning Stroll."

R. R. Sisler judged the contest, according to W. T. Price, club president.

The next meeting will be held September 23 at 8 p. m.

Hirsch To Attend Jewish Appeal State Meeting

Will Introduce Main Speaker

Sumner Hirsch, local member of the executive committee of the Maryland State Conference of the United Jewish Appeal, is scheduled to introduce Maj. Gen. John H. Hilldring, former Assistant Secretary of State for Occupied Areas, as speaker at a conference of 250 state Jewish leaders September 19 at the Southern Hotel in Baltimore.

Gen. Hilldring was until recently a member of the American delegation to the United Nations General Assembly.

Other local Jewish leaders planning to attend are Dr. Samuel Jacobson, chairman of the resolutions committee; Robert Kaplon, president of Jewish welfare for Western Maryland, and others.

Gen. Hilldring, who participated last November in winning United Nations approval for the partition of Palestine leading to the establishment of Israel, will be joined on the platform by Harold Katz, Navy veteran who was jailed by the British last winter for serving as a crewman aboard the Hatikvah, an immigrant ship which ran the British Palestine blockade.

Lee L. Dopkin, Maryland regional chairman for the nation-wide $250,000,000 United Jewish Appeal campaign, said the representatives of 25 Maryland cities and towns would discuss plans for mass immigration of European Jews to Israel and study measures for the development of the Jewish Republic in Israel.

The conference will also attempt to formulate a program of aid to distressed Jews in Europe and provide increased assistance for displaced Jews reaching the United States.

The conference will end with the election of a regional cabinet to assist Dopkin and his associate chairman, Mose I. Speert, Baltimore.

News Informs Local Girl That She Won Prize

The Cumberland News gave Miss Mary Ellen Platt, 17, 757 Cleveland Avenue, the first inkling that she was a national prize winner in the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars essay contest.

An Associated Press report said that Miss Platt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Platt, was among winners announced yesterday at the 35th annual convention of the VFW in St. Louis, but she had heard nothing.

A graduate of Allegany High School, she won first prize in the Cumberland contest in the middle of April. On April 27, she was presented a medal in Baltimore for being winner of the state contest.

The essay topic was "Human Rights, the Key to World Peace."

Miss Platt will enter New Jersey College for Women in September, majoring in political science.

398 Marriage Licenses Issued Here In August

A total of 398 marriage licenses was issued in Allegany County by the clerk of court during August, 241 of which were for couples within the new draft age brackets, the majority of these for men around 21 and 22 years of age.

The number of licenses issued was not as high as August 1947, when the total was 460. However, there was a marked difference in age brackets of applicants, clerks said.

Stolen Taxicab Found As Police Seek Assailants

Driver's Condition Is Reported "Good"

A 71 taxicab stolen from Chester "Slim" O'Neal after he was attacked and beaten by three passengers on Bean's Cove Road early yesterday morning, was recovered in a driveway on Monroe Street at 8:30 o'clock last night, according to city police.

Authorities said they were continuing the search for the trio who hired the cab near the intersection of Bowen Street and Lafayette Avenue at 1:40 a. m. yesterday and then attacked O'Neal as he drove along the Bean's Cove Road. Police indicated they had learned the identity of one of the three men.

O'Neal, who suffered lacerations on the right ear and eye and bruises on both eyes, was reported in "good" condition last night in Memorial Hospital, where he was taken after police questioned him.

An employe of the 71 Cab Company said they were notified at 8:30 p. m. that a vehicle answering the description of the one stolen was parked in a driveway near the Naval Armory on Monroe Street. Investigation proved the cab to be the stolen car, he added.

Officers of the company said less than four gallons of gasoline were used from the time the cab was stolen until it was parked in the driveway, and added no damage was done to the machine.

The trio who asked O'Neal to take them to Leary's Tavern on Bean's Cove road were frightened away, police said, when three Cresaptown men, also en route to the tavern in a truck, appeared along the road. Police said the appearance of the truck probably prevented O'Neal from being robbed.

David Shank, one of the Cresaptown men, told police that just after their truck rounded a slight turn in the road, the vehicle's lights illuminated three men alongside the road. Two of the men were beating the third, who was identified as O'Neal, he said.

Shank, who later was unable to identify the exact spot of the attack, told police one of the men ran through brush alongside the road, and the other fled in the cab.

O'Neal listed his missing articles as a wrist watch, a lower denture, a hat and a pair of eye glasses. He said the trio began scuffling with him in the cab shortly after he turned off Route 40 on to Bean's Cove Road at McLuckie's. No money was taken, he added.

Troopers G. M. Rotruck and William McElfish, who investigated, said Shank and his two companions, Randall Beachy and Kenneth Stottlemeyer, took O'Neal to Leary's Tavern where they notified State Police.

Authorities said two men believed to be involved in the attack on O'Neal later appeared at Leary's Tavern but left before police arrived. O'Neal later admitted that he saw the men while he was being given first aid at the tavern but said he was "afraid" to identify the pair for fear they would attack him again.

State Police Investigator William Baker, who was assigned to the case, said last night that authorities in Pennsylvania and West Virginia have been alerted to watch for the trio.

Route 40 Will Remain Open

Plans to close Route 40 between the Six Mile House and Clarysville were cancelled last night, at least temporarily, and present traffic conditions will remain in effect until next Tuesday, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, said.

Chaires said plans to close the road were cancelled at a meeting last night when the contractor announced that a project to cut through at the top of Red Hill would be delayed several days.

While the State Roads Commission recommends that traffic detour over the Mt. Savage Road, travel will be possible on the highway from the Six Mile House to Clarysville and then over the Vale Summit Road for the present, Chaires added.

The State Roads Commission had announced earlier yesterday that the road would be closed to all traffic beginning today and continuing about 10 days.

The delay will permit through traffic to use the highway at least until next Tuesday unless further work plans develop, the district engineer said.

Laborers Union Will Hold Picnic Sunday

The annual picnic of Laborers Local 616, AFL, will be held Sunday beginning at 10 a. m. at Smouse's Beach, R. C. Simmons, business manager, announced yesterday.

Transportation will be available throughout the day from union headquarters at Allegany Trades Council Hall, he said. Refreshments and entertainment are planned for the event held in observance of Labor Day. The Cumberland Laborers union now has about 300 members.

2 Army Veterans Included Among 78 Student Nurses Enrolled Here

Two veterans of World War II are among the 78 student nurses who will begin their studies today at the two local schools of nursing.

The veterans, both of whom are enrolled at Allegany Hospital School of Nursing, are John G. Burke, Shenandoah, Pa., and Ralph E. Eberly, York, Pa.

Seven of the 28 students in that school of nursing are attending on scholarships, most of which were offered for the first time this year.

Funds for the scholarships were contributed by the Sisters of Charity; local physicians; Rev. Lawrence Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church; Beta Sigma Phi Sorority; Catholic Daughters of America; Allegany Hospital Alumnae Association and District No. 1 of the Maryland State Nurses Association.

Burke, who served three years in the Infantry and Medical Corps prior to receiving his honorable discharge in 1946, is a graduate of Mahanoy Township High School, Mahanoy City, Pa.

Eberly, a veteran of 34 months of Army service, including 18 months overseas, was graduated from William Penn High School, York, and studied for one year at York Junior College. He is married and has one son.

Allegany Hospital graduated a male nurse last June, Joseph L. Clark, 25-year-old Lonaconing Army veteran. He was the second male nurse to receive a diploma from the hospital's school of nursing in 29 years.

Meanwhile, Memorial Hospital reported that the 50 students who have enrolled for the three-year course there comprise the largest class in the history of the institution.

Both directors of nurses, Sister Mary Bernard at Allegany and Miss Frances Loftus at Memorial, said increased enrollment in the September classes was largely due to a recent area student nurse recruiting campaign directed by Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing.

Students from both schools of nursing will take college class work at Frostburg State Teachers' College. The Frostburg facilities have been used by the Memorial nurses for two years, while this semester will mark the first time Allegany Hospital has sent their students there.

Police Capture Jailbreakers In Half Hour

Two Men Chisel Out Of Bedford Jail

Alert Pennsylvania State Police last night ended the freedom of two youthful escapees from Bedford County Jail when they rounded them up within 35 minutes after the break.

Bedford County Deputy Sheriff Pat Rohm identified the men as Joseph Young, about 22, formerly of Hyndman, Pa., and Brooks Ours, about 25, near Bedford.

The prisoners apparently chiseled their way through three thicknesses of bricks in the jail wall and crawled out, Rohm said. The break occurred at 9:15 p. m. and the escapees were apprehended at 9:50.

The young men were being held in a cell block with about five other prisoners at the time of the break, but the others apparently made no attempt to escape, Rohm said.

Young was serving a 30-day sentence for failing to stop after a motor accident and was also being held for Navy authorities.

Ours was sentenced in June to from one to two years in Western Penitentiary for stealing and slaughtering some cows in Cumberland Valley. He was being held in the county jail pending trial of an alleged accomplice this month. Rohm said Ours had previously served a penitentiary sentence for assault and robbery.

The escapees were caught by State Police along the river below Bedford about a mile and a half from the jail, Rohm said, and were apparently heading for the home of Young's father nearby to obtain clothing.

Police reported the escapees were unarmed and offered no resistance when they were accosted by the troopers.

Rohm said the tool used by the prisoners in chiseling the mortar from between the layers of bricks was not found.

Blaze Destroys Car And Garage

A local Celanese employe's car and the garage in which it was kept were damaged beyond repair and two other garages were damaged in a fire of undetermined origin yesterday afternoon.

East Side Firemen, who answered the call at 4:15 p. m., said Samuel R. Nave, 224 Glenn Street, was owner of the 1940 sedan and of the garage.

The blaze apparently started in the Nave garage, firemen said, and then crossed an alley to ignite the garages of Miss Ruth Miller, 211 Fulton Street, and of J. William Neff, 213 Fulton Street.

Damage to the Fulton Street garages was termed slight by firemen.

Central Firemen were also called at 4:17 to aid in extinguishing the blaze. The firemen worked nearly an hour and a half to extinguish the fire.

News Artist's Car Hit By Hit-Run Driver

A hit-and-run driver sideswiped the car of Marvin Zukerman, Times-News artist, last night on West Virginia Route 28, a mile north of Fort Ashby, according to West Virginia State Police, who investigated.

Police said Zukerman reported he was driving south towards Romney, where he lives, when he rounded a sharp bend and the left front portion of his car was struck by the oncoming car, which was heared north.

Authorities estimated damage to Zukerman's car at about $175, and said the artist could not describe the car which struck him, as it was going too fast.

Police said the car probably has a damaged left front fender.

All-American Decision Confirmed By CAB

The Civil Aeronautics Board has confirmed its original decision of February 19, authorizing the system of conventional passenger, mail and property routes in seven eastern states which was awarded to All American Aviation, Inc.

Chamber of Commerce officials were also notified yesterday that the CAB indicated "careful consideration" would be given the company's proposed extensions from Atlantic City to New York and from Pittsburgh to Newark-New York by way of Williamsport, Scranton-Wilkes Barre and other intermediate points.

All American's request to inaugurate service in the Delmarva area prior to a CAB decision in the pending airmail pickup case was denied.

Paper Collection Totals 17 Tons

Seventeen tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday in the section north of Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue.

Today's pickups will be between Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue and Oldtown Road.

The Weather

The eight-day hot spell that gripped Cumberland was only a memory yesterday as the mercury stopped at 74 degrees for the day's high after skidding all the way to a 44 degree low on the previous night. Disgruntled youths wrapped up their bathing suits and stocked them in the cupboard a full week ahead of the first toll of the school bell and milady made her afternoon appearance yesterday in the dark colors that indicate fall is coming. Any hope for a resurge in the thermometer today was blocked by the fortcast of "sunny but moderate temperature" for today.

COMING HERE—Paul D. Bagwell, president of the Junior Association of Commerce of the United States, who will be one of the 11 official judges of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N. J., will be a guest of the Cumberland Jaycees on October 26, it was announced last night at the Jaycee dinner meeting. His visit here will be an official one and part of a tour of Jaycee organizations in Eastern States. Bagwell is chairman of the Department of Speech, Dramatics and Radio at Michigan State College.

Court Asked To Rule On Pay Of Injured Officer

Equity Suit Filed By Walter Crabtree

An equity action was filed in Circuit Court against the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland yesterday by Walter P. Crabtree, a city police officer, through his attorneys, Paul M. Fletcher and Milton Gerson.

The suit is to obtain a court ruling on compensation payments to Officer Crabtree as a result of time lost when he was hurt December 24, 1946, when struck by a taxicab.

According to the petition, Officer Crabtree was on traffic duty at the corner of Baltimore and George Streets when he was struck by one of Johnny's Cabs.

Officer Crabtree was unable to return to duty until April 26, 1947, and lost four months and two days pay or $711.60. He also incurred $75 surgical expense and $70 hospital costs, his attorneys claim.

The suit states Officer Crabtree has never been paid or reimbursed for the time he lost or for his medical expenses, although the City of Cumberland carries compensation on its police and other employes.

The attorneys want the court to rule on Section 38-C Chapter 871 of 1943 Laws of Maryland, which provides "full payment" for time lost by city employes, attorneys explained last night.

They claim the city has offered Officer Crabtree two-thirds pay, as provided under Maryland compensation laws.

Winchester Drivers Will Consider Offer

Members of Local 543, Teamsters Union, AFL, in the Winchester area will meet in Winchester Sunday, September 12, at 1 p. m. to act on a contract proposal of trucking firms of that area, C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said.

Drivers Sunday turned down a company offer but Stutzman said minor changes in the proposal were made Tuesday at a conference between the firms and the union. He said he had hopes the offer would be accepted.

6,500 Students To Use 99 Buses Going To School

Vehicle Inspection 'Good', Ramey Says

The Board of Education will put 99 buses and eight automobiles on the road this year to transport approximately 6,500 suburban students to elementary and high schools at central points. It represents an increase of six buses and a jump of 300 students over last year.

Sixty-nine of the buses were inspected yesterday by Arthur G. Ramey, director of pupil personnel, who said the vehicles were in "first class" condition and include 13 new buses. The remaining 30 buses are operated by public utility companies, Ramey said, and are not inspected by the Board of Education.

In preparation for the opening of school Tuesday, Ramey has listed 14 rules that must be observed by students riding the buses and he also informed the parents that:

"Transportation of school children in Allegany County exists for only one purpose and that is to make it possible for children who live at great distance from school to get there safely and comfortably without being obliged to walk, especially along dangerous highways. This service is provided at great cost to the taxpayers of the county, the transportation bill for a year being approximately $150,000.

"In order to achieve this end certain definite regulations are set up by the Board of Education," Ramey said, and listed the rules that must be observed by the children.

Among them are regulations of conduct on the bus, the establishment of patrol leaders, respect and obedience to the driver, punctuality at bus stops and safety regulations while riding in the buses.

Ramey told the drivers in a prepared letter that they are "charged with a heavy responsibility for the safety of the children x x x," and added that buses must be kept in comfortable, clean and sanitary condition at all times.

The operator of a bus must drive with extreme care at a speed which insures safety and guarantees perfect control of the bus at all times, Ramey said, adding, "the speed should not exceed 35 miles per hour on hard surface roads.

Yesterday's inspection was conducted under regulations of the State of Maryland, and the commissioner of motor vehicles was advised of the condition of the buses. Ramey said the vehicles examined were in the most satisfactory condition of any vehicles that he can remember.

A few minor defects were corrected on the scene, he said, and in one incident a vehicle inspected was not passed because of a defect for which new equipment has already been ordered but not yet arrived.

The increase in transit pupils is a minor indication of newly developed residential areas in the suburban areas of Allegany County communities, Ramey said.

Jaycees Are Hosts To Miss Maryland

Juanita Lookabaugh, 18-year-old brunet Miss Maryland of 1948, made her official appearance at the dinner meeting of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce last night in preparation for her trip to Atlantic City, which the organization will sponsor.

During the business meeting of the local group, the Barter Theater Committee announced that season tickets will be placed on sale for the 1948-49 theater season at the Music Shop and Little's Jewelry Store during the last two weeks in September.

Marvin Inge, chairman, said tickets will be sold on a first come, first served basis.

An indoctrination program for new members was set up by Henry Holzshu, Membership Committee chairman with plans for a special table to be set for new members and their sponsors at the regular dinner meetings.

Placed into effect last night, John Barton, Pinto, was the first member to be introduced under the new plan which calls for the sponsor to present him, giving a brief sketch of personal history.

Committee reports were given by William A. Wilson, fire prevention chairman; William C. Gilchrist and David Kauffman, who atended the national convention in Tulsa, Okla., and Byron Kight, extension committee chairman.

Kight said a meeting will be held in Westernport September 9 to organize a chapter of the Jaycees in that community.

Judiciary List Not Yet Released

At midnight last night neither Governor Lane nor members of the Judiciary Appointment Committee of the Maryland Bar Association had released for publication names of Allegany County lawyers recommended to fill the vacancy on the Fourth Judicial Circuit bench when Chief Judge William A. Huster retires September 12.

It was generally expected, however, that the list will include W. Earle Cobey, Cumberland; Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., Westernport, and Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., and Morgan C. Harris, Cumberland. All four are currently being mentioned as possible appointees.

Because of the absence from the bench of Associate Judge George Henderson, now recovering from accident injuries, members of the local bar association expect the Governor to make the appointment so that the new judge may assume his duties simultaneously with Judge Huster's retirement.

Miss Cozad Reported Improving At Hospital

Miss Nell Cozad, 149 Polk Street, assistant to City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, was reported "getting along fine" yesterday in Memorial Hospital, where she underwent an operation Friday. Miss Cozad has been a patient at Memorial since August 21.

Firm Completes Last Joints For New Water Line

About Two Miles Of Pipe Is Laid

The Lock Joint Pipe Company yesterday completed the manufacture of some 2,600 joints of pipe to be used in laying the new auxiliary water line from Lake Gordon to this city.

Edwin E. Phoenix, plant superintendent, reported early yesterday afternoon that work on the last joints for the line were in the process of completion and that work of dismantling the plant will begin immediately.

Some 2,600 of the 36 inch reinforced concrete water pipes, most of them in 16 foot lengths weighing about four tons, have been made at the Ridgeley plant since manufacturing operations began early in May.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards reported yesterday that about two miles of the line has already been laid and added that work is now progressing beyond Nave's Crossroads.

Phoenix said that it will take about a month to ship machinery and supplies from here. He added that some of the pipe sections will be stored at the present plant area until the Cumberland Contracting Company, which is laying the line, is ready for them.

Virtually all of the pipe can be stored along the right of way for the line with the exception of sections to be laid in Cumberland.

An average of 75 workers have been employed by the pipe firm here during manufacturing operations.

The project is of vital importance to Cumberland since it will double the capacity of the water system here and will give the city an emergency supply in case of a break in the present line.

Jobless Claims Increase In August

Unemployment benefit claims in the Cumberland office were up slightly in August with the bulk of the increase coming from the Georges Creek region and not the city proper, Francis A. Kenney, local manager, said yesterday.

Allegany County claims for August totaled 8,722, according to Kenney, who said it was an increase of 478 claims over July's 8,244 but under June when 9,296 claims were filed.

The number of claims filed by residents of Cumberland showed a marked decline in August, according to Kenney, who added that unemployment has increased in the western part of the county.

He attributed the George's Creek region increase to curtailment of mining operations in the area and the closing of the Berkowitz Pajama Factory in Frostburg.

The increase was noticeable in both the number of claims filed against the State of Maryland and for Servicemen's Readjustment benefits, according to Kenney.

The August claim load also topped figures for the same period in 1947, Kenney said, when 7,430 claims were filed.

The claim load roughly represents four times the number of unemployed persons filing for benefits, the local manager explained, since claims are filled once a week.

Store Clerks To Act On Contract Offer

Members of Local 654, Retail Clerks Union, AFL, employed at the Darling, Taylor and Lerner shops here, will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Teamsters Hall for action on a contract proposal of the firms, C. E. Stutzman, acting business agent for the workers, said.

The Rosenbaum contract was settled some time ago on the basis of a $3 weekly boost for non-commissioned workers and $1.75 for employes on commission. Cumberland Cloak and Suit workers received an automatic boost under a two-year contract signed last year.

Mother Of Dead Child Sought In Cumberland

Mrs. Martha Wilt Zimmerman is wanted in Jennings—at once.

Her 12-year-old daughter, Mary Ellen, died at 8:30 a. m. yesterday at the home of her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wilt, Jennings.

Relatives say that Mrs. Zimmerman was working in Baltimore, but was reported to have come to Cumberland sometime last week. The child's grandfather was in the city yesterday looking for the child's mother, but was unsuccessful.

Mary Ellen's father, Hobart Zimmerman, also cannot be located.

Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Oakland, Garrett County deputy medical examiner, had the body sent to this city for an autopsy as he had no medical record of any illness the child may have had.

A certificate, signed by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, who made the autopsy, gave a brain tumor as the cause of death.

A funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Friday in Bittinger Lutheran Church with Rev. Runzie, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

John R. King Wins Camera Award Permanently

John R. King, Gephart Drive, gained permanent possession of the Cumberland Camera Club's plaque for best black and white prints last night by winning the monthly club competition for the third consecutive time.

King was awarded first prize this month for his print entitled, "Green Apples," at the Camera Club annual picnic outing last night at Constitution Park. He was also awarded third place for his entry, "Fast Asleep."

Under the club rules, the plaque is presented to the monthly contest winner and the name of each winner is engraved on the emblem. It has been in circulation about 18 months and was presented to the club in the interest of better photography by Harvey's Jewelry Store.

King has been first place winner several times, but is the first member of the club to win three successive times.

Second prize for August went to J. B. Smith for his "Gone To Seed." Smith also won fourth prize with "Gone With The Wind."

George Triplett won fifth place with "Morning Stroll."

R. R. Sisler judged the contest, according to W. T. Price, club president.

The next meeting will be held September 23 at 8 p. m.

2 Army Veterans Included Among 78 Student Nurses Enrolled Here

Two veterans of World War II are among the 78 student nurses who will begin their studies today at the two local schools of nursing.

The veterans, both of whom are enrolled at Allegany Hospital School of Nursing, are John G. Burke, Shenandoah, Pa., and Ralph E. Eberly, York, Pa.

Seven of the 28 students in that school of nursing are attending on scholarships, most of which were offered for the first time this year.

Funds for the scholarships were contributed by the Sisters of Charity; local physicians; Rev. Lawrence Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church; Beta Sigma Phi Sorority; Catholic Daughters of America; Allegany Hospital Alumnae Association and District No. 1 of the Maryland State Nurses Association.

Burke, who served three years in the Infantry and Medical Corps prior to receiving his honorable discharge in 1946, is a graduate of Mahanoy Township High School, Mahanoy City, Pa.

Eberly, a veteran of 34 months of Army service, including 18 months overseas, was graduated from William Penn High School, York, and studied for one year at York Junior College. He is married and has one son.

Allegany Hospital graduated a male nurse last June, Joseph L. Clark, 25-year-old Lonaconing Army veteran. He was the second male nurse to receive a diploma from the hospital's school of nursing in 29 years.

Meanwhile, Memorial Hospital reported that the 50 students who have enrolled for the three-year course there comprise the largest class in the history of the institution.

Both directors of nurses, Sister Mary Bernard at Allegany and Miss Frances Loftus at Memorial, said increased enrollment in the September classes was largely due to a recent area student nurse recruiting campaign directed by Miss Anne Sloan, Lonaconing.

Students from both schools of nursing will take college class work at Frostburg State Teachers' College. The Frostburg facilities have been used by the Memorial nurses for two years, while this semester will mark the first time Allegany Hospital has sent their students there.

Hirsch To Attend Jewish Appeal State Meeting

Will Introduce Main Speaker

Sumner Hirsch, local member of the executive committee of the Maryland State Conference of the United Jewish Appeal, is scheduled to introduce Maj. Gen. John H. Hilldring, former Assistant Secretary of State for Occupied Areas, as speaker at a conference of 250 state Jewish leaders September 19 at the Southern Hotel in Baltimore.

Gen. Hilldring was until recently a member of the American delegation to the United Nations General Assembly.

Other local Jewish leaders planning to attend are Dr. Samuel Jacobson, chairman of the resolutions committee; Robert Kaplon, president of Jewish welfare for Western Maryland, and others.

Gen. Hilldring, who participated last November in winning United Nations approval for the partition of Palestine leading to the establishment of Israel, will be joined on the platform by Harold Katz, Navy veteran who was jailed by the British last winter for serving as a crewman aboard the Hatikvah, an immigrant ship which ran the British Palestine blockade.

Lee L. Dopkin, Maryland regional chairman for the nation-wide $250,000,000 United Jewish Appeal campaign, said the representatives of 25 Maryland cities and towns would discuss plans for mass immigration of European Jews to Israel and study measures for the development of the Jewish Republic in Israel.

The conference will also attempt to formulate a program of aid to distressed Jews in Europe and provide increased assistance for displaced Jews reaching the United States.

The conference will end with the election of a regional cabinet to assist Dopkin and his associate chairman, Mose I. Speert, Baltimore.

An Associated Press report said that Miss Platt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Platt, was among winners announced yesterday at the 35th annual convention of the VFW in St. Louis, but she had heard nothing.

A graduate of Allegany High School, she won first prize in the Cumberland contest in the middle of April. On April 27, she was presented a medal in Baltimore for being winner of the state contest.

The essay topic was "Human Rights, the Key to World Peace."

Miss Platt will enter New Jersey College for Women in September, majoring in political science.

The number of licenses issued was not as high as August 1947, when the total was 460. However, there was a marked difference in age brackets of applicants, clerks said.

Stolen Taxicab Found As Police Seek Assailants

Driver's Condition Is Reported "Good"

A 71 taxicab stolen from Chester "Slim" O'Neal after he was attacked and beaten by three passengers on Bean's Cove Road early yesterday morning, was recovered in a driveway on Monroe Street at 8:30 o'clock last night, according to city police.

Authorities said they were continuing the search for the trio who hired the cab near the intersection of Bowen Street and Lafayette Avenue at 1:40 a. m. yesterday and then attacked O'Neal as he drove along the Bean's Cove Road. Police indicated they had learned the identity of one of the three men.

O'Neal, who suffered lacerations on the right ear and eye and bruises on both eyes, was reported in "good" condition last night in Memorial Hospital, where he was taken after police questioned him.

An employe of the 71 Cab Company said they were notified at 8:30 p. m. that a vehicle answering the description of the one stolen was parked in a driveway near the Naval Armory on Monroe Street. Investigation proved the cab to be the stolen car, he added.

Officers of the company said less than four gallons of gasoline were used from the time the cab was stolen until it was parked in the driveway, and added no damage was done to the machine.

The trio who asked O'Neal to take them to Leary's Tavern on Bean's Cove road were frightened away, police said, when three Cresaptown men, also en route to the tavern in a truck, appeared along the road. Police said the appearance of the truck probably prevented O'Neal from being robbed.

David Shank, one of the Cresaptown men, told police that just after their truck rounded a slight turn in the road, the vehicle's lights illuminated three men alongside the road. Two of the men were beating the third, who was identified as O'Neal, he said.

Shank, who later was unable to identify the exact spot of the attack, told police one of the men ran through brush alongside the road, and the other fled in the cab.

O'Neal listed his missing articles as a wrist watch, a lower denture, a hat and a pair of eye glasses. He said the trio began scuffling with him in the cab shortly after he turned off Route 40 on to Bean's Cove Road at McLuckie's. No money was taken, he added.

Troopers G. M. Rotruck and William McElfish, who investigated, said Shank and his two companions, Randall Beachy and Kenneth Stottlemeyer, took O'Neal to Leary's Tavern where they notified State Police.

Authorities said two men believed to be involved in the attack on O'Neal later appeared at Leary's Tavern but left before police arrived. O'Neal later admitted that he saw the men while he was being given first aid at the tavern but said he was "afraid" to identify the pair for fear they would attack him again.

State Police Investigator William Baker, who was assigned to the case, said last night that authorities in Pennsylvania and West Virginia have been alerted to watch for the trio.

Route 40 Will Remain Open

Plans to close Route 40 between the Six Mile House and Clarysville were cancelled last night, at least temporarily, and present traffic conditions will remain in effect until next Tuesday, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, said.

Chaires said plans to close the road were cancelled at a meeting last night when the contractor announced that a project to cut through at the top of Red Hill would be delayed several days.

While the State Roads Commission recommends that traffic detour over the Mt. Savage Road, travel will be possible on the highway from the Six Mile House to Clarysville and then over the Vale Summit Road for the present, Chaires added.

The State Roads Commission had announced earlier yesterday that the road would be closed to all traffic beginning today and continuing about 10 days.

The delay will permit through traffic to use the highway at least until next Tuesday unless further work plans develop, the district engineer said.
